Tariff Bog Snares Budget-Balancing Legislation.

HOOVER SHOWS KEEN INTEREST

Intent to Send Special Message, However, Is Firmly Denied.

By J. B. McDONNELL.

The billion dollar tax bill, designed to balance the Federal budget in the next year, bogged down yesterday in the tariff morass.

Leaders on both sides fought to free the measure of the clogs which threatened to postpone its passage indefinitely. There were reports that President Hoover was preparing another message to Congress demanding prompt enactment of essential budget-balancing legislation.

Republican leaders of the Senate were reported to have besought the Chief Executive to give them a little while more to work out the situation. At the White House it was stated emphatically the President was not preparing a message designed to speed the slowing consideration of the tax bill. The tax bill was a legislative matter and Congress must have the freedom of its decision and accept responsibility for its decision. That was said to be the position of the President.

Keen Interest Shown.

But the keen interest of the President in the situation was shown by the appearance at the Capitol of some of those known to be close to him. The President wants enacted a budget-balancing bill before the advent of the next fiscal year. He is not alone in that desire. Almost all of the members of the Senate have placed themselves under the budget-balancing banner. The difficulties lie in the answers to question, "How?"

Senator David A. Reed (Republican), of Pennsylvania, who has come to be accepted as reflecting the President's views, visited the White House yesterday and after conferring with the President said that Congress should meet in day and night session, without recess for the national conventions of the Republican and Democratic parties, until it had disposed of the tax bill.

The senator's statement was indicative of the state of mind of an administration leader and supporter in the Senate. It might have been a mirror, as well, of the mind of anti-administration senators.

Varied Elements Involved.

The elements involved in the fight over the tax bill range from the most selfish and inconsiderate to the most patriotically exalted. They range from demagogic proposals to "soak the rich," proposals of the richest men in the Senate to increase taxes on the rich, to proposals of other

OWEN D. YOUNG HEADS PROJECT

Leaders Will Cooperate in Work Started by Reserve System.

New York, May 19 (A.P.).—Twelve leaders of industry and finance, headed by Owen D. Young, have locked arms with officials of the Federal Reserve System, in their aggressive campaign to pump that powerful elixir, credit, into the veins of business.

George L. Harrison, governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, announced tonight that he had called together a committee, comprising six leading bankers and six leading industrialists, to consider means of putting idle dollars to work, to make jobs for idle hands.

Since the Federal Reserve began its credit expansion program in February, idle reserves of member banks have reached the huge volume of $300,000,000, forming the basis for a theoretical maximum of $3,000,000,000 in bank credit.

Initial Session Held.

The committee of twelve, under the chairmanship of Mr. Young, held its first meeting in the offices of the New York Federal Reserve Bank today.

While detailed information as to what means were under consideration to divert idle funds into their normal channels was unavailable, it was pointed out that the twelve leaders themselves head banking and industrial enterprises listing aggregate resources and assets in excess of $15,000,000,000, one of the most powerful groups that could be assembled.

It was suggested in banking quarters that these executives might immediately cooperate to revivify the bond market, which would in itself facilitate the financing of such a $2,000,000,000 public works program as has recently been suggested in Washington, and indorsed by Young and other leaders.

Scope Is Nation-wide.

While the group is primarily a New York group, formed to cooperate with the Reserve Bank in this district, bankers explained that idle funds have been piling up here, in the country's financial capital, more

Petition Is Filed For Bonus Vote

Asks Discharge of Rules Committee on Move for Early Action.

(Associated Press.)

A petition to discharge the rules committee of a resolution for special consideration of the bill for full payment of the bonus was filed in the House yesterday by Representative Patman (Democrat), Texas.

The resolution, which has been pending before the rules committee more than a week, would give a preferred legislative status to the Patman bonus redemption plan which the ways and means committee rejected.

Chairman Pou, of the rules committee, said yesterday his group probably would act on the Patman resolution next Monday. Should this committee's action be unfavorable, a vote on the Patman discharge petition would not be possible before June 13 even if the required 145 signatures are obtained without delay.

BIG POOL NETS $5,000,000 IN 7 DAYS OF TRADE

MYSTERIOUS $92,000 TO NONPARTICIPANTS

Chief Broker Witness Eludes Subpena in Quick Dash to Europe.

(Associated Press.)

Stories rivaling fiction of how America's finance giants "got richer quick" on the New York market were told yesterday to the Senate banking committee.

Amazed senators heard of a pool operation in which John J. Raskob and others made $5,000,000 in seven days; that this pool paid $92,000 to nonparticipants, including Joseph P. Tumulty, secretary to the late President Wilson, and that the only man who can explain it sailed for Europe Wednesday night; and how a "free lance trader" with three associates made more than $1,000,000 in five weeks without putting up a cent.

The investigating committee also uncovered the first of the much publicized "bear raids," reports of which inspired it to start the inquiry into the market operations more than a month ago.

Further, the committee learned that a big pool in general asphalt lost money when the market crashed in 1929, despite that members of the company's board of directors participated and started paying dividends after the syndicate was formed.

Secret Investigation.

The amazing story was told by William A. Gray, counsel for the committee, who has been conducting a secret inquiry into stock manipulations for the past three weeks, under the committee's direction.

James McConnochie, member of the firm of M. J. Meehan & Co., which organized the pool, said only M. J. Meehan, senior member of the firm, could tell why the money was paid to the nonparticipants and then testified that Mr. Meehan had sailed for Europe Wednesday night after the committee had vainly sought to subpena him.

Members of the committee listened eagerly as Mr. Gray told the story which he said was revealed by the books of Meehan & Co.; W. E. Hutton, and Block, Maloney & Co.

Mr. Gray said Mr. Raskob invested $1,000,000 in the pool and made a profit of $291,000. Others who had the same investment and profits included: W. F. Kenny, New York contractor; Nicholas F. Brady, Mrs. M. J. Meehan, and Thomas F. Regan.

Lawrence P. Fisher, $187,500; $72,-

House Body Backs Open Pay Records

Bill Will Be Brought Up in Chamber Today; Due to Win Approval.

(Associated Press.)

The Warren resolution to keep open for inspection the pay roll records of the House of Representatives was unanimously approved yesterday by the accounts committee.

Chairman Warren said he would bring it before the House today for action. Speaker Garner and Representative Snell, of New York, the Republican leader, are reported to be in favor of the measure.

Its purpose is to make available at all times the names of relatives of members of the House who are on the pay roll. It was introduced by Warren, a North Carolina Democrat.

Colorado River Flood Threatens Hoover Dam

Las Vegas, Nev., May 19 (U.P.).—Flood waters sweeping down the Colorado River are due to strike Black Canyon and the incompleted Hoover Dam some time tonight or early Friday.

Veteran desert men here expressed concern over the situation. There was much speculation as to the extent of damage which might be caused at the huge Federal reconstruction project.

Canada and Russia Launch Plan for Trade Agreement

Negotiations Follow Closely on Heels of Turkish-Moscow Deal; Latest Figures Show U. S. Exports to Soviets Down 90 Per Cent.

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN.

Negotiations for a trade agreement between Canada and Soviet Russia have been inaugurated, with auspicious indications that the definitive step will be taken by the two governments before the forthcoming imperial conference meets in Ottawa, it was learned here yesterday. The Canadian government took the initiative with the idea of encouraging Soviet purchases of aluminum and Canadian manufactured products. The Moscow government has indicated its readiness to enter into such an agreement provided that reciprocal trade opportunities are made available in Canadian markets for Soviet raw materials.

The Canadian trade agreement will be the second important understanding of this kind that has been made by the Stalin government this year. Only two weeks ago a $20,000,000 commercial trade agreement was made by the Turkish government and the Soviets.

This action of the Soviets followed the visit here last year of the Turkish finance minister, Sukru Bey Saracosulu, who had come with the idea of creating an American market for Turkish exports. Both the minister and the Turkish Ambassador, Ahmet Muhtar, who had been working for this economic cooperation for the last twelve months, had received authoritative assurances of every official encouragement to the proposal, but in the general uncertainty of the American money market any kind of a trade agreement was impossible.

Soon after that the finance minister returned to Angora and the negotiations for the Turkish-Soviet agreement were begun immediately and consummated with little delay.

Meanwhile, trade relations between Soviet Russia and the United States have diminished almost to the vanishing point. In the first quarter of this year, American exports to the

DO-X and Woman Solo Flier End Sea Hop Leg

Giant Seaplane, With Crew of 14, Safe in Newfoundland; Amelia Earhart, Also Bound for Europe, Lands at St. John.

New York, May 19 (A.P.).—The giant seaplane DO-X and Amelia Earhart Putnam's trim little crimson, gold-striped monoplane completed tonight the first leg of projected flights to Europe.

Starting from the vicinity of New York 10 hours and 11 minutes apart, the two planes were set down 90 minutes apart, but with the huge airliner several hundred miles farther toward their mutual preparatory destination, Harbor Grace, Newfoundland. The DO-X was at Dildo, Trinity Bay, Newfoundland, and Miss Earhart at St. John, New Brunswick. The pilots of both ships hope to reach Harbor Grace tomorrow to await favorable weather reports before starting the long and dangerous flight across the Atlantic toward Europe. The DO-X will head from Harbor Grace for the Azores but Mrs. Putnam, the first woman ever to fly the Atlantic and now seeking to be the first to fly it alone, will nose her plane toward the East for a point she has not announced.

Accompanied by Bernt Balchen, pilot for Commander Richard Byrd in his flight across the South Pole, and by Eddie Goraki, mechanic, who will check her plane's performance thoroughly at Harbor Grace, Mrs. Putnam left Teterboro Airport at Hasbrouck Heights, N. J., at 2:16 p. m. (E. S. T.). Her plane put down at St. John, N. B., 3 hours and 30 minutes later, at 5:46 p. m.

The DO-X, which rose from the waters of Long Island Sound at 4:05 a. m., alighted at Dildo Bay at 4:16 p. m.

The airliner, which is capable of carrying 100 persons, but had aboard only a crew of 14, was brought down at Dildo because of fuel shortage about 40 miles from its objective, Holyrood on Chapels Cove at the head of Conception Bay.

The ship's course was changed twice on the northward flight. Heading originally for Harbor Grace, the DO-X was reported later to have shifted her destination to Holyrood, on Chapels Cove at the head of Conception Bay, because of a heavy ocean swell, but finally swung overland and glided into the sheltered waters at Dildo.

M'LEAN TRUST SUIT TESTIMONY CLOSED

(Associated Press.)

A quick and tame conclusion to trial of the suit seeking the ouster of Edward B. McLean as cotrustee of the millions left by his father yesterday left a judge deliberating his verdict.

Justice Jennings Bailey in the District of Columbia Supreme Court took the case under advisement after plainly indicating there was doubt in his mind as to whether Mr. McLean should be removed.

Nelson T. Hartson, attorney for Mr. McLean's three minor children, who filed the ouster suit through their mother, Mrs. Evalyn Walsh McLean, said the evidence showed Mr. McLean had neglected his duties as publisher of The Washington Post.

It is one of the principal assets of the estate and it was Mr. Hartson's view that inattention to his duties on the paper showed inattention to his duties as trustee.

Mr. McLean is in Europe and has been absent from Washington most of the last year. Justice Bailey commented, however, that apparently the late John R. McLean wished his son to have a controlling voice in administration of the estate.

Summing up, he said the circumstances would make a "court slow to remove him."

23 More Are Dead In Bombay Rioting

Week's Casualties Mount to 122 Slain and 1,043 Wounded in Fights.

Bombay, India, May 19 (A.P.).—Twenty-three more persons were killed and 95 injured today in continued communal rioting between Hindus and Moslems. The week's casualties total 122 dead and 1043 wounded.

Today's trouble started when Hindu mill-workers attacked Moslem pedestrians. The police fired upon the rioters. Forty mills were closed and more than 50 workers arrested.

Meanwhile, Miss Madeline Slade, disciple of Mahatma Gandhi, was free from jail after serving a term for participating in Nationalist activities against the British government, but another woman was sentenced to five years at Allahabad. Their cases had no connection with the rioting.

BILL JAM MAY MEAN CONGRESS HOLDOVER

By EDWARD T. FOLLIARD.

The legislative jam in Congress, one of the worst in the country's history, was discussed at the White House yesterday.

Senator David A. Reed (Republican), of Pennsylvania, told President Hoover that Congress should stay on the job until the billion-dollar tax bill and the remaining appropriation bills are passed, even if this should keep Congress here during the Republican and Democratic national conventions.

In a joint statement the day before, Speaker John N. Garner and Representative Bertrand H. Snell, of New York, the Republican leader, threatened to keep the Senate here during the conventions unless the tax, economy and appropriation bills are passed.

A large number of members are insisting that, in addition to these bills, Congress enact a bill for unemployment relief before the gavel falls, or else come back here for a summer session.

The Republican national convention opens in Chicago June 14, and the Democratic convention in the same city June 27. Thus only 18 working days remain before the convening of the Republican convention. Never has Congress remained in

Parachute Jumper Drops 24,000 Feet

Smaranda Braescu Claims World's Record for Women.

Oakland, Calif., May 19 (A.P.).—Smaranda Braescu, Roumanian woman parachute jumper, claimed a world's record for her sex with a leap from an altitude of 24,000 feet above sea level today.

The jump was made from a plane piloted by Harry Booshardt, who said the altimeter registered 24,000 feet just before Miss Braescu dropped. She landed near Tudor, Calif., and surprised residents there by walking into the general store and announcing she had just broken the record.

Unable to follow the parachute down, Booshardt became alarmed over Miss Braescu's safety and landed at Sacramento, where he prepared to make a search. He said the parachute did not open in the first 8,000 feet of the girl's fall and that she outdistanced the plane.

House Votes Increases In Army Supply Measure

(Associated Press.)

In the name of National Defense, the House yesterday for the first time this session brushed aside its appropriations committee and passed the War Department supply bill carrying $5,791,785 more than the committee had suggested.

Final action on the $392,585,646 measure concluded a never-relenting assault led by Republicans and joined by Tammany and a group of insurgent Democrats.

The changes would permit the holding of reserve officers training corps and citizens military training camps next fiscal year. They likewise would let reserve officers draw pay even though they are on active duty less than the time the bill originally had specified.

The completed bill, however, would force the retirement of 2,000 old officers.

Representative Barbour (Republican), California, led the attack on the bill as reported by a subcommittee headed by Representative Collins (Democrat), Mississippi. Barbour quoted President Hoover as saying the national defense should not be weakened and insisted the committee proposals would "break down the very heart of our national defense."

The changes in the committee bill

CITIZENS GROUP CALLS DISTRICT TAXES HIGHEST

Chairman Colladay Gives Statistical Analysis to Senate Body.

60-40 CONTRIBUTION BASIS IS AGAIN URGED

Washington Memorial Parkway Law Is Attacked as Grudge Act.

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

An exhaustive study of municipal tax levies, showing the per capita property assessment in Washington to be the highest in the United States, last night was laid before the Senate District appropriations subcommittee by the citizens joint committee on fiscal relations between the United States and the District.

Edward F. Colladay, chairman of the committee, presented the analysis. It was based on statistics of the Census Bureau and tax data of the Detroit Bureau of Municipal Research, located in the home town of George Lord, tax expert, for the House Mapes fiscal relations committee.

Opposing repeal of the 60-40 Federal-District fiscal relationship, Mr. Colladay directed a withering fire at the Mapes report, charged statistics the House used as basis were "untrue," and asked the Senate for a substantial increase in the Federal "lump sum" over the $6,500,000 allotted by the lower chamber.

Copy of Report Denied.

Disclosure that Chairman Hiram Bingham, of the Senate appropriations subcommittee, and Chairman Arthur Capper, of the Senate District committee, vainly sought copies of Mr. Lord's confidential report to the Mapes committee, was a highlight of the hearing.

Senator Bingham said he had twice sought a copy of the confidential report and had been refused.

"I had the same experience about two months ago," Senator Capper added.

In lieu of the report, which Mr. Lord is reputed to have changed to conform with instructions of the Mapes committee, Senator Bingham indicated he may call the Detroit tax authority before his subcommittee.

Mapes Bills Attacked.

Mr. Colladay, backed up by a substantial following of local bankers, business men and civic leaders, charged the "ultimate aim of the Mapes committee is to make the District carry the entire cost of the Capital of this Nation."

The Mapes bills, passed by the House, and now tied up in the Senate

U.S. Chamber to Conduct Dry Issue Referendum

San Francisco, May 19 (A.P.).—Prohibition will be placed before member organizations of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States for a referendum vote, it was announced by directors of the national body at the twentieth annual convention here today.

The announcement said the new president of the chamber, who will be chosen tomorrow, will appoint a committee of nine to study prohibition and prepare the questions to be submitted to 1,800 member organizations.

Red Hordes Peril Americans As Chinese Face Civil War

Ravaging Communist Armies Capture City 12 Miles From Amoy; Unpaid Nationalist Troops Deserting to Take Part in Plundering Towns.

Shanghai, May 19 (A.P.).—Chinese Communist hordes ravaging wide areas in central China endangered the safety of Americans today and threatened the Nanking government with civil war.

Apprehension was acute among 60 Americans, most of them missionaries, at Pengpu in northern Anhwei Province, where 20,000 Communists had surrounded a force of 7,000 Nanking troops.

Amoy dispatches said a Communist army had occupied Shihma, 12 miles from that city, and had started seizing river craft with the intention of attacking Amoy.

Other Communists, ravaging villages 10 miles north of Hankow, were bombed by government airplanes.

The government, experiencing its greatest financial stringency, has been unable to pay its armies. Many soldiers were said in dispatches to have deserted to the Communists to obtain a living by plundering.

It was feared at Nanking that civil war would break out, owing to a reluctance of the unpaid forces to fight and the likelihood of further defections to the outlaws.

Foreigners in the International Settlement on Kulangsu Island opposite the city of Amoy feared the island would be overrun by Chinese if an attack developed there, although it was believed foreign naval forces now at Amoy could handle any trouble.

The Chinese government rushed troops to Pengpu last Monday on the request of the American Legation. Foreigners and Chinese alike began to flee from Anhwei, Honan and other provinces in central China, but one, H. S. Ferguson, a Canadian attached to the China Inland Mission, was captured and taken to Chengyangkuan, 60 miles southwest of Pengpu.

W. W. Moore, an American member of the same mission, arrived today at Yingchowfu, 75 miles northwest of Chengyangkuan after having vainly tried to assist his Canadian colleague.

TEACHER'S LINK WITH 'JAFSIE' IS OBJECT OF QUIZ

Rosner Tells Of Gang Drive To Find Baby

New York, May 19 (A.P.).—Underworld hostilities were forgotten, Morris Rosner told the World-Telegram today, and every organized mob and gang in the country cooperated, at his request, in the hunt for the kidnaped Lindbergh baby.

In a copyrighted article, an amazing story is told of the gangsters' search.

The high points of Rosner's story, as related by the World-Telegram, are:

Thousands of dollars were spent by the underworld in the futile effort to solve the great mystery.

Airplanes were chartered.

Investigators were organized and sent throughout the United States and into Canada following the underworld's own peculiar clew.

"The first thing I did was to go to all the mob leaders and ask them to help," Rosner was quoted as saying. "Every one of them did.

$2,100,000,000 IDLE AID URGED BY GARNER

(Associated Press.)

A $2,100,000,000 relief program was proposed yesterday by Speaker Garner and all indications are the Democratic House plans to lay it before the Senate within a short time.

Designed to help lift the country out of the economic slump, furnish employment to the idle and direct relief to those without food and clothing, the Garner program immediately met approval on both Democratic and Republican sides of the House.

Without requiring the setting up of any additional governmental machinery to handle the huge sum, the Texas Democrat's program briefly provides:

Increasing from $2,000,000,000 to $3,000,000,000 the capitalization of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to make loans to States, counties and cities and the broadening of its

Lindbergh Tramps Estate With Police

Traversed Course Covered by Kidnapers, It Is Believed.

Hopewell, N. J., May 19 (A.P.).—For a full hour and a half Col. Charles A. Lindbergh tramped about the grounds of his estate late today in company with police officials.

A variety of interpretations sprang from the incident. It was apparent from the flier's stern demeanor that he did not undertake the walk for recreation.

The general belief was that the party had traversed the probable course of the kidnapers and murderers immediately after they snatched his baby son from the Lindbergh nursery the night of March 1.

It was recalled that an official police bulletin early in the search said that footprints from the ladder found at the nursery window had been followed for approximately 2 miles.

Woman Admits She Sought Cash From Flier's Agent.

WANTED MONEY FOR DAUGHTER

To Finance Film Career; Negotiator Will Face Grand Jury Today.

Hopewell, N. J., May 19 (A.P.).—A possible link between a Brooklyn school teacher and "Jafsie" bobbed in and out of the Lindbergh murder hunt today as police exhibited eagerness to learn more about the activities of Dean H. Dobson-Peacock, associate of John Hughes Curtis, hoax negotiator.

Behind the closed doors of the Brooklyn district attorney's office, officials questioned Mrs. Mary G. Ford for several hours about a report she had communicated several weeks ago with Dr. John F. Condon who handled the $50,000 ransom payment for Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

In another room other officers interrogated the teacher's daughter, Miss Gertrude Ford, whom they located in a Riverside Drive apartment.

Both Are Released.

Both told substantially the same story of their contact with the aged "Jafsie," and later were released.

District Attorney W. F. X. Geoghan said he neither believed nor disbelieved their explanation, but would continue an investigation.

Mrs. Ford told her questioners a story of being in financial straits, thinking "Jafsie" might be able to aid her, and appealing to him in vain for $2,500.

Information supplied by public school officials started detectives off on this new tangent. They had heard Mrs. Ford talk to Dr. Condon by telephone, they said, and knew she was absent from her duties between February 29, through March 1, day of the kidnaping.

When they asked her about her conversation with "Jafsie," they told officials, she denied it was Dr. Condon she had spoken to and said it was her daughter's physician.

Woman's Story.

Under questioning, Mrs. Ford said she first thought of Dr. Condon when a private detective called on her about another matter and started discussing the Lindbergh case.

Her story of what followed was this:

She wrote to Dr. Condon asking an appointment about a personal matter, and adding she would like to be of service in the Lindbergh case. He replied by letter, asking for her telephone number. She sent him the school number.

Dr. Condon called her and she asked him for $2,500—$1,700 to settle an account and $800 for her daughter, who had motion picture ambitions.

Dr. Condon told her to write to him. Instead she called him several days later, and some one at his home said he could do nothing for her.

Explanation of Absence.

She explained her absence from school from February 25 through March 1 by saying she and her daughter had been ill. She gave the name of the physician she said treated them. Authorities said they would check that part of the story.

Geoghan said he would ask Dr. Condon to come to his office tomorrow with the letter Mrs. Ford wrote him.

The aged educator also has a date to appear before the Bronx County (New York City) grand jury.

There he will tell the complete

BAKER SAYS FOLLOW HOOVER AT PRESENT

Lawyers' Club Told Duty of Nation Is to Support Chosen Leader.

New York, May 19 (A.P.).—Some 700 lawyers today applauded the advice of Newton D. Baker that the leadership of President Hoover be followed in the present economic situation.

Mr. Baker spoke at the Lawyers Club as the guest of the Alumni Association of the Law School of Columbia University. He was introduced by James A. O'Gorman, president of the club and former Democratic senator from New York. John W. Davis, once Democratic candidate for President, also was on the platform.

"In these troubled and difficult times," said Mr. Baker, "if we were all uniformly in recognition, first, of the gravity of the situation; second, of the fact that a leader's voice is needed to help us solve it and, third, that under the constitutional processes of this country we have a leader, who is our leader as long as he is there, and follow the leader came to be the common advice of the lawyers of this country to the troubled and perplexed and distraught people of the country, then we would soon find a way out of this situation.

Voice of Leadership.

"Often in our past there have been periods of grave uncertainty; there has been this same spirit of mystification and inability to coordinate and cooperate; the same division into blocs of opinion, based either upon interest or political philosophy, and every now and then into such a situation as that there has come the clear voice of authentic leadership.

"That is what gives courage to representatives. That is what gives courage to people.

"And even if the particular remedy selected by the constituted leader at the moment does not seem to be the most perfect to you, the question of following any kind of leader is the lesson the American bar can teach to the American people."

Pitiless Publicity Blamed.

Mr. Baker spoke of the difficulties of Congress solving the situation "in an atmosphere of pitiless publicity and incessant opportunity," and suggested that if Congress could be taken down the Potomac and guarded by Marines, its uncertainties would quickly disappear.

"Can any Congress of the United States really respond effectively to the kind of an emergency we are in at the moment?" he asked.

"There is no lack of good ideas. I suspect nine-tenths of the members of either House in Washington, if he could have his way, would at least have produced something better than they have all together been able to produce so far. There is, in my judgment, no lack of wisdom in the Congress, and certainly no lack of patriotism. The lack is a lack of courage, and the reason for the lack of courage is the situation in which that courage must be exercised."

Specialist Bee May Bite King's Physician in U. S.

By JOHN J. DALY

SIR JOHN FRASER, personal physician to King George V of England, began an American lecture at Yale University and chided Americans for rushing off to specialists, when ill, instead of consulting their family physicians.

Why, Sir John, you don't know the half of it.

In England, the doctor says, the average man, when showing symptoms of those ills to which all flesh is heir, makes a bee-line for the family physician.

In England, that may be the practice, but in America, no!

England, after all, is England, and America is America.

The good doctor has not been in this country quite long enough. Some things he will learn with travel, as he goes flying about on his tour. First amongst these is the fact that there are no family physicians in this country. They went out of style along with kerosene lamps, bustles, the horse-and-buggy, and ear-muffs.

* * * *

IN fact, it may almost be truly said that we have no family life in America. That was given up, as a relic of the past, shortly after the advent of the automobile; or, more properly, the flivver. Where there is no famly life there can be no family physician, the one dependent upon the other.

With the coming of good roads, hot dog stands, bar-b-ques, and other such filling stations along the right of way, there was no need for home, sweet home—as John Howard Payne sighed for it—and so the old family physician took down his shingle as America went on wheels. With the passing of the family from the old homestead to the tourist camp, the little black bag, with all the little pills and powders in it, disappeared. Twas then that the family physician became a specialist, obeying the first law of nature—self-preservation.

In some medical schools there is a half-hearted attempt to give courses in general medicine; but there is little hope of America developing general practitioners. The boys in the clinics are too wise. This is old stuff. As background, the young hopefuls are lectured along lines laid down by Hippocrates of Cos, and they still take the Hippocratic oath; but after a few remarks about the good old days of medicine the professors turn the interns loose and they, in turn, become specialists.

* * * *

AN age of specialists, it is every man for himself. If there are not enough specialties to go around, the smart young medicos invent new ones. Each young graduate tries to make a fresh disease popular. There is then work for all in the medical marts.

Hospitals are built at the same rate that apartment houses and hotels start skyward. A mighty poor medical man who can not think up something new to intrigue the nerve-ridden masses in America. Thus start the specialtists.

By his own category, the personal physician at Buckingham Palace is a family physician; but if King George wants to keep the man's services he had better order Sir John back to the royal bedside, call of the American lecture tour, and get the good doctor out of the danger zone. This, before it is too late. Sir John will hardly get across the Rockies before he is bitten by the bacillus that turns family physicians into specialists.

BANKING AND CREDIT OUTLOOK IMPROVES

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

Notable improvement in American banking and credit during April and the first weeks in May was reported officially yesterday in the monthly Bulletin of the Federal Reserve Board.

A continued return of money from hoarding is regarded as indicating the restoration of public confidence in banks everywhere. Operating simultaneously, the vast open market purchases of the reserve system already have checked the unwarranted contraction of commercial credits. Finally, the first practical application of the emergency reserve provisions of the Glass-Steagall bill—now revealed as having been determined upon as long ago as May 5—has expanded further the credit resources of the entire national banking system.

World Aspect Cited.

Of equal importance with all of these purely domestic aspects of the improved credit situation is the fact that the regulations promulgated by the Federal Reserve Board for the application of the new reserve law, now have given the entire world factual evidence, over a period of more than two weeks, that nothing in the emergency measures ever contemplated in any manner or degree, an abandonment of the gold standard.

"Banking conditions, which had begun to improve in February, showed further progress in April for the third consecutive month," the Federal Reserve Bulletin stated. "The number of bank failures continued to be relatively small and there was a further return of currency from hoarding to the banks.

More Purchases of Securities.

"Additional purchases of United States Government securities by the Federal Reserve banks were reflected in a decrease throughout the country of member bank indebtedness; in addition, reserve balances of member banks showed a considerable growth, and after the middle of April there was a substantial amount of excess reserves to the credit of member banks, particularly in New York City."

These increased credit reserves already were a fact before the Glass-Steagall bill was applied practically to the problem of releasing excessive gold reserves of the Government.

"An important factor in easing the money market during the recent weeks, in addition to the continued inflow of currency from circulation," the Federal Reserve review continues, "was the purchase by the reserve banks of Government securities in the open market. During the four weeks from April 6 to May 4 these purchases amounted to $400,000,000, bringing the increase in the system's holdings since February 24 to $550,000,000 and the total holdings of the system to approximately $1,300,000,000, by far the largest that the reserve banks have ever had.

Banks Reduce Indebtedness.

"The immediate effect of these open-market operations has been to enable member banks to reduce their indebtedness at the reserve banks and to accumulate excess reserves."

Although Government financial experts have been reluctant to make the open charge that the easier money made available through the recent Federal Reserve operations has not been passed along in the normal channels of commercial credit, there were indications yesterday that leaders in the banking world were themselves taking steps to break the present financial stagnation through a bold appeal for more generous lending.

A hint of such action was given last Tuesday, when the Federal Reserve governors, meeting here, determined to continue the policy of purchasing Government securities at whatever rate may be determined by the legitimate credit needs of business.

As forecast in New York Wednesday, yesterday's weekly bank statement of the Federal Reserve system indicated a smaller volume of bond purchases for the week ended May 18. At the same time, however, it was revealed that excess bank reserves throughout the country now aggregate close to $250,000,000.

Next Step in Program.

The next step in the program to stimulate the sorely needed expansion of commercial credits is to get this vast reservoir of funds actually to work at the vital task of pulling business out of its slough of despond.

Government officials remain hopeful that the banking community may provide the necessary leadership in the work of breaking the credit jam. In some quarters, however, plans already are under consideration for further pressure upon timid bankers who continue to accumulate excessive reserves.

Obscene Magazine Sale Is Laid to Man

Alleged Vendor, 75, Taken Into Custody in Drive Ordered by Rover.

The first case in the renewed drive ordered by United States Attorney A. Leo Rover against four publications held by his office to be indecent was made last night. The arrest was made by a Sixth Precinct policeman on the complaint of a woman that the magazines were being sold at a shop at 625 Kennedy street northwest.

Arthur Thene, 75 years old, was charged with selling an obscene publication. He was arrested by Private M. T. Creel, who changed to plain-clothes to make the case.

The policeman said he walked into the place and called for the magazine, which was sold to him. He then arrested Thene.

SHORT SALE MARGIN IS SET AT 10 POINTS

Stock Exchange Rule Aimed at Bear Raids; Price of Issues Disregarded.

New York, May 19 (A.P.).—The New York Stock Exchange has notified members that margin requirements on short sales are to be at least ten points, regardless of a security's price. This ruling, it was pointed out, means that traders short of issues selling under $10 a share must maintain margins larger than market quotations. Hence some further curtailment of short operations was regarded as a logical result.

Reports current for several days that the stock exchange was tightening up its restrictions on short selling were confirmed in authoritative quarters late Wednesday.

While no formal announcement was made by the exchange, it was learned that every member firm handling speculative accounts was advised by the business conduct committee that it must demand and maintain a margin of ten points a share on all short accounts regardless of price of the stock. Moreover, the members were ordered to compute such margin separately in the case of a customer having both a long and short position.

Under this ruling an excess margin in a long account can not be used as margin against a short position.

Interests close to the exchange described the ruling as an "interpretation" of the position taken by the exchange on short selling last fall.

In some brokerage circles, however, the exchange's pronouncement was regarded as a far more drastic move to discourage bear selling than any of the warnings and orders issued previously on this much discussed phase of stock exchange operations.

In practical operation, the new rule means that a trader wishing to sell short a stock selling at say $5 a share will have to put up as margin a full $10 a share, or 100 per cent more than the value of the stock sold. The May 1 bulletin of the stock exchange showed that on that date the average price off all listed stocks was $15.34 a share.

Another recent compilation revealed that 16 per cent of all stocks listed are selling at $2 a share, 20 per cent from $2 to $5 and 20 per cent from $5 to $10, making a total of 56 per cent of all stocks now selling at $10 a share or less.

BIRTH CONTROL BILL IS URGED AT HEARING

Noted Friends and Foes of Pending Measure Appear Before Committee.

(Associated Press.)

Bills to permit dissemination of birth control information by physicians were urged and opposed yesterday before committees of both Houses of Congress.

Mrs. Margaret Sanger, internationally known birth control advocate, was among those who advocated passage of a bill, introduced by Representative Hancock (Democrat), North Carolina, at a House hearing.

Dr. William Gerry Morgan, past president of the American Medical Association; William F. Montavon, director of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, and others assailed a birth control bill sponsored by Senator Hatfield (Republican), West Virginia, at the Senate hearing. Hatfield also is a physician.

The House hearing, the first of its kind there since 1873, brought scores of women spectators and a scattering of men. It brought also woman member of congress, Representative Mary Norton, of New Jersey, as a leader in opposition to the Sanger cause.

Sets Out Reasons for Birth Control.

Expounding her points zealously, Mrs. Sanger listed as reasons for the spread of birth control knowledge that it would aid economic emergency relief programs, would permit couples not to have more children than they could decently provide for and would be a means of marital adjustment.

On the latter point, she was quested by Representative McCormack (Democrat), Massachusette, as to whether by "marital adjustment" she meant "trial marriage." She answered "No, permanent marriage."

At the Senate hearing Montavon urged rejection of the Hatfield bill on the grounds that it would "endanger the morals of youth and threaten the family and home with total disintegration."

Dr. Howard Kelly, professor emeritus of Johns Hopkins University, said birth control would "pollute life at its very source."

Scents Communist Threat.

H. Ralph Burton, for the National Patriotic League, told the judiciary committee the Hatfield bill would make it possible to "flood the United States with literature designed to promulgate the Communist doctrine of free love."

On the other hand, the Rev. Francis Potter, founder of the First Humanist Society, New York, cited Japan before the House ways and means committee as an instance of overpopulation causing war.

Others who appeared in support of the Hancock bill were Rabbi Sidney E. Goldstein, New York; Mrs. Charlotte Perkins Gilman, 72-year-old sociologist; Dr. Elizabeth Kittredge, National Woman's Medical Association; Dr. W. F. Shallenberger, Atlanta; Prof. L. Foster Wood, Federal Council of Churches in America, and Mrs. George A. Dunning, secretary of the Pennsylvania Birth Control League.

Dr. Shallenberger, a gynecologist, told the committee 700,000 abortions were performed annually in this country, causing the death of 15,000 women.

VETERANS' COUNSEL WILL RESIGN POST

(Associated Press.)

Chairman McSwain, of the House military affairs committee, told the House yesterday that the resignation of William Wolff Smith, for nine years general counsel of the Veterans' Bureau, would go into effect at the conclusion of Mr. Smith's accrued leave.

Mr. McSwain said he was quoting Frank T. Hines, veterans' administrator, who had been requested by the military affairs committee to demand Mr. Smith's resignation, following extensive hearings on the Blanton resolution attacking Smith and demanding repeal of the disabled emergency officers retirement act.

Under the legislation, passed over the President's veto in 1928, Mr. Smith drew $187.50 a month retirement pay as a disabled officer on a presumptive basis, as well as his $9,000 annual salary. Representative Blanton (Democrat) Texas, listed in his 35-page resolution several hundred other Federal employes receiving like double benefits.

Inukai Laid to Rest As Leaders Confer

Slain Japanese Premier Is Eulogized; Coalition Cabinet Looms.

Tokyo, May 19 (A.P.).—Political leaders turned from the cabinet crisis for a while today to eulogize the late Premier Suyoshi Inukai, victim of assassins, at a simple Buddhist funeral.

Then, closely guarded, Prince Saionji, last of the elder statesman, arrived from his Okitsu villa, and began a series of conferences at his home here preparatory to advising Emperor Hirohito on the selection of a new premier. The railway station was heavily guarded by police when the aged prince arrived.

The army, which has demanded tax relief for farmers and other economic reforms in a nonpartisan program, was expected to accept a cabinet made up chiefly of Seiyukai party members, but containing some others.

Gen. Sadao Araki, Nationalist leader, will again be minister of war, newspaper commentators predicted. The requirement that the war minister be a general permitted army authorities to dictate terms for the new government.

Hawaii May Invite Congressional Quiz

Britten, Who Urges Rule by Military, Suggested as One of Group.

Honolulu, May 18 (A.P.).—Aroused by criticism of Hawaii's government by some Washington officials, a joint legislative committee may ask Congress to send a committee of investigation to Hawaii.

The legislative committee sought public opinion today concerning proposals of Assistant Attorney General Seth W. Richardson for changes in law enforcement and other administrative affairs of the islands. Richardson made his suggestions after an investigation following the attacks upon Mrs. Thalia Massie and other women, and cases connected with those crimes.

Roy A. Vitousek, speaker of the house and chairman of the legislative committee, said he would make the suggestion to the committee to invite a congressional committee here and would specify that its membership include Representative Britten, of Illinois, who yesterday proposed a military government for Hawaii.

Jugoslav Office Denies Disorders in Belgrade

The Jugoslav Legation issued the following statement yesterday:

"The Jugoslav Legation is authorized to declare that the United Press dispatch from Rome to the effect that reports from Zara stated that on account of disorders in Belgrade the Jugoslav frontier had been closed and that numerous attempts on the life of M. Marinkovitch, the prime minister, had been made, are untrue. The legation is further authorized to declare that these reports are entirely imaginary and are being systematically spread from certain sources."

White House Naval Aid Nears End of Duty There

(Associated Press.)

Capt. C. Russell Train, naval aid to President Hoover for the past two years, is about to end his term of duty at the White House. Capt. Train's assignment in the Capital expires on June 30 and he will shift at once to the Naval War College at Newport before receiving a new one.

The aid has handled several major duties for Mr. Hoover while at the White House. He was in command of the U. S. S. Utah when Mr. Hoover returned aboard that battleship from his good will tour to South America as President-elect.

PENNSYLVANIA POST TO ROOSEVELT MAN

Foe of New York Governor Ousted as Democratic State Chairman.

Harrisburg, Pa., May 19 (A.P.).—Franklin D. Roosevelt's candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination was shoved into high gear in Pennsylvania today through the election of Warren Van Dyke, Harrisburg, as Democratic State chairman for the next two years.

Van Dyke, president of the Roosevelt-for-President League of Pennsylvania, defeated State Chairman John R. Collins, Coudersport, by a vote of 65 to 46. Collins, who was aligned with the anti-Roosevelt movement in Pennsylvania, has been chairman for four years.

The State committee unanimously adopted a resolution urging Congress to repeal the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act. It asks as a substitute a law providing for local option in the various States on the prohibition question.

Bitter Contest.

The resolution was introduced by David Lawrence, Pittsburgh, who urged the committee to adopt it and take a definite stand on the prohibition question instead of reserving action as "the Republican State committee did last week in Philadelphia."

Bitterness between the Roosevelt and organization forces which marked the recent primary election campaign in Pennsylvania was evidenced in the nominating and seconding speeches in behalf of Van Dyke and Collins.

Speakers for Van Dyke alluded to Gov. Roosevelt as the outstanding leader in the Democratic party and urged that the State committee officers favorable to him be chosen because he had won the Democratic presidential preferential contest over Alfred E. Smith in the recent primary.

Collins supporters criticized the Van Dyke speakers for alluding to a presidential candidate, saying that "this is an election of a State chairman," not a presidential nominee. They also spoke of Collins' administration during the last four years and urged his reelection on the basis of "his fairness, his courage and his record.

Woman Declines Post.

Mrs. Kathryn S. Flohr, Allentown, was nominated for reelection as vice chairwoman, but declined. She said "politics makes strange bedfellows, and I will not accept the nomination."

Mrs. Robert A. Henderson, Altoona, was elected vice chairwoman.

National committeeman Sedgwick Kistler, Lock Haven, was reelected without opposition. The Roosevelt faction placed no candidate in the field against him and seconded his nomination.

Mrs. Emma Guffey Miller, Pittsburgh, sister of former National Committeeman Joseph Guffey, also of Mrs. Anna O'Dea Murphy, Scranton, Pittsburgh, defeated the incumbent, by a viva voce vote of 60 to 48 for the post of national committeewoman.

Mrs. Miller was called to the rostrum and asserted that "I am a wet," and predicted the defeat of President Hoover by the Democratic candidate next November.

ROOSEVELT VOTES MAY GROW TODAY

(Associated Press.)

Managers of the campaign of Franklin D. Roosevelt for the Democratic presidential nomination looked to Oregon and Tennessee today to increase the New York Governor's delegate strength from 428 to 462.

Party leaders in the Pacific Northwest State predicted Roosevelt would win handily over Gov. "Alfalfa Bill" Murray, of Oklahoma, in the primary there. Ten convention votes will go to the winner of the preference contest, with the decision binding on the delegation.

The Southern State will select 24 in convention. They have been counted in Roosevelt's bag for weeks by his supporters.

President Hoover, who long since has passed the 578 needed to nominate a Republican presidential candidate, if his claimed total of 423 is included in his delegate list, stood today to win sufficient votes to exceed the required majority in pledged delegates alone.

He needs only six to reach this goal. Thirteen Republican delegates will be chosen in the Oregon primary. While Joseph I. France, of Maryland, is the only entrant for the preference honors, the voters will be permitted to write in the President's name.

The 920 Democratic delegates so far selected are divided as follows:

Roosevelt—Instructed, pledged and claimed, 428.

Lewis—Pledged, 58.

Garner—Pledged, 44.

Reed—Instructed, 36.

Murray—Instructed and pledged, 23.

Ritchie—Pledged, 16.

In doubt, *169.

(*Includes 76 from Pennsylvania and 92 from New York, of which Roosevelt managers claim about 100, but which will not be definitely aligned until caucuses at Chicago.)

Norris—Pledged, 11.

In doubt, *12.

(*France disputes 207 out of these totals.)

E. F. Fisher, no deposit; profit $29,171.

J. A. Stillman, $100,000; $29,171.

Mr. Gray said that the $92,000 had been distributed in addition to Tumulty, as follows:

Eddie Dowling, the actor, $19,000.

Dr. Ash (otherwise unidentified), $10,000.

I. E. Lambert, $15,000.

A. McConnochie, $20,000.

F. J. Thiel, member of the Meehan firm, $10,000.

K. Woelfle $10,000.

A Cotter, another employe of the firm, $5,000.

J. McNamee, $2,000.

Mr. Gray asked Mr. McConnochie why Mr. Thiel a member of the firm, was paid $10,000, but the witness replied:

"The only person who could tell you is Mr. Meehan, and, as you know, he is a very sick man. He sailed for Europe the other night."

Meehan Reported Ill.

"When did he sail?" Mr. Gray asked.

"Last night," Mr. McConnochie replied, amid laughter from members of the committee.

The witness said three of the leading physicians in New York had advised Mr. Meehan to go abroad.

"Were these doctors members of the firm" Senator Brookhart (Republican), Iowa, asked. Before the witness could reply Mr. Gray said he had seen Mr. Meehan two weeks ago and he was not well then, but he had since tried to serve a subpena on him and did not know before that he was sailing for Europe.

The pool, Mr. Gray said, operated from March 12 to 20, 1929. The exact profits to participants was $4,924,078, exclusive of the $92,000 paid to nonparticipants.

He placed in the record the circular advertising the syndicate sent out by Meehan & Co. saying it would be limited to operations of 1,000,000 shares on the long or short side of the market.

During the seven days," Mr. Gray said, "they bought 1,493,400 shares, for which they paid $141,424,328."

Mr. Gray gave the detailed operations for each day, showing the pool managers were buying and selling every day the pool was in existence.

The stock started at 77¾ on March 5, rose to 91¾ on March 12, went up to 109¼ on March 16, and then dropped back to 94 on March 20.

Second Probe Under Way.

Mr. Gray announced he was investigating a second radio pool that carried the stock from 85 to 113, but was not ready to present it.

John L. Weeks, of Luke, Banks and Weeks, members of the stock exchange was then called to the stand.

He said he was a director of General Asphalt. Questioned by Mr. Gray, he said his firm had sent out a circular in 1929 organizing a syndicate to operate on both the long and short sides of General Asphalt stock.

The witness said he personally formed the pool. It operated for two years, he said, and among the participants were M. J. Meehan & Co., Jessup & Lamont and J. G. Mayer, members of the exchange.

J. P. Morgan Co.

Horatio G. Lloyd, of Philadelphia, chairman of the executive committee of the Asphalt company, had 20,000 shares in the pool, Mr. Weeks said.

Other participants, Mr. Weeks said, included Thomas Cochran, a partner in J. P. Morgan Co., 35,000 shares; S. R. Guggenheim, 10,000; Bonbright & Co., 5,000, and Robert C. Reed, 5,000.

The pool operated from May 17, 1929, to May 15, 1931, and dealt in 500,000 shares, although only 413,000 are outstanding.

The original investment was $6,000,000, he added, to which $1,369,292 was added because of losses.

The stock was bought originally at about 80, he continued, but the average purchase price was 55. But before the market crash in 1929, Mr. Gray developed, the price went up to 94¾.

During the pool operations, Mr. Gray said, pointing out that some of the participants were directors of the company, dividends were paid to the pool of $613,000.

During 1930, Mr. Gray continued, the company paid dividends of $1,549,000 though it made ony $1,000,000. Of this, $448,000 went in dividends to the pool members, Gray said.

Mr. Weeks testified that he was a member of the board of the Simms Petroleum and was a participant in a pool on the stock of that company.

George F. Breen Testifies.

George F. Breen, a stock dealer, said that he obtained an option from Rudolph Spreckels, chairman of the board of the Kolster Radio Corporation, to sell 150,000 shares of that stock in 1928. He later took an option to sell an additional 100,000 shares.

Associated with him in handling the stock, he said, were Arthur W. Cutten, Chicago grain dealer; Oscar Alexander and L. P. Fisher, one of the Fisher brothers.

Mr. Breen said he made an average of 3 points on the 250,000 shares and Mr. Spreckels received $19,000,000.

The witness said he made $1,351,000 out of the transaction.

rapidly than elsewhere, and that the organization headed by these executives, including American Telephone, General Motors, General Electric, American Radiator, and Standard of New Jersey, reach out throughout the country, so that their activity might well be considered Nation-wide in scope.

The Federal Reserve System began in February a persistent program of buying United States Government securities in the open market. Tha program was facilitated by the Glass-Steagall act, permitting the use of these securities as backing for currency. Between February 10 and May 18, the system bought $725,000,000.

This permitted member banks of the system to pay off their borrowing at the Reserve, and has finally resulted in the piling up of some $300,000,000 of excess or unused reserve of members on deposit with the Federal Reserve Banks.

Huge Excess Reserve.

Today, the New York banks alone had excess reserve on deposit with the New York Federal Reserve Bank of $180,000,000.

The chief problem now, as Reserve officials see it, is to stimulate the use of these idle funds. This problem was discussed at a meeting of the system's open market committee in Washington Tuesday, and the calling together of the New York committee today was regarded as an offshoot of that meeting. Officials here were doubtful if it would be found necessary to organize similar committees in the other Reserve districts.

The selection of Owen D. Young as chairman of the committee, within a few days after his emphatic assertion that he was not to be considered as a possible Democratic presidential candidate, aroused some comment in Wall street, in view of recent rumors that Young might play a prominent part in an important nonpartisan program to deal with the economic situation. Young, however, has long served as a director of the Federal Reserve Bank, and has been regarded as an important adviser in its activities.

Light Transmits Sound From Dirigible in Test

Schenectady, N. Y., May 19 (A.P.).—The dirigible Los Angeles, observing eye of the Navy, "whispered" down a beam of light to the ground what she saw from the air as she cruised over this city tonight. The experiment with this new secretive system of communication—transmission of the voice over a beam of light—was conducted by officers of the Navy dirigible and engineers of the General Electric laboratories.

The voices from the air, fading occasionally as the ray of light projected from the mirror picking it up on the ground, were picked up by Radio Station WGY and broadcast over a national chain.

$10,000 Kidnap Plot Laid to Pennsylvanian

Lebanon, Pa., May 19 (A.P.).—Robert P. Arndt, 40, of Annville, Pa., accused of threatening to kidnap Catherine Mills, 16-year-old high school sophomore and daughter of Alfred K. Mills, former Lebanon County prothonotary, was under arrest today charged with extortion.

Mills notified police he had received a letter mailed in Philadelphia demanding that $10,000 be placed in a traveling bag and left at a specified spot last night. The letter threatened that the girl would be kidnaped unless the demand was met. The money was obtained, marked and placed at the designated location. Police watched the bag and arrested Arndt, they said, when he appeared near the place.

INCREASES IN ARMY SUPPLY BILL VOTED

already had been approved. But Collins had hoped roll call votes on the amendments before the bill finally was sent to the Senate would change the result. They did not.

The House took out of the bill, 244 to 141, the proposal to suspend the C. M. T. C. for one year; 236 to 151, the suggested suspension of R. O. T. C. camps for a like period, and 218 to 165, the committee's idea of paying reserve officers only if they were on active service fifteen days.

Restoration of the C. M. T. C. added $2,603,624 to the bill; continuation of R. O. T. C. camps added $1,080,773; continuing the pay to reserves increased the total $2,109,768.

The committee, however, was sustained when the House voted, 201 to 182, against a motion to strike out the provision to require the retirement of 2,000 officers.

$18,000,000 Under Budget.

Despite the increases, the bill remained $18,000,000 under budget estimates. With it out of the way, the House now, before adournment, has to act on only one major regular supply bill—the second deficiency. So far, all its appropriations are $180,000,000 under budget estimates.

Some Republicans, in their effort to carry out President Hoover's desire to keep the bill $24,000,000 under budget estimates, unsuccessfully attempted yesterday to decrease the rivers and harbors and the Mississippi River flood control allocations.

An amendment by Representative Taber (Republican), New York, to reduce the former $3,000,000 from its $60,000,000 failed, as did one by McGugin (Republican), Kansas, to decrease the $32,000,000 Mississippi flood control item by $5,000,000.

ACCUSED MINISTER IS HELD 'BUSYBODY'

Counsel Tells British Court Kissing Tendencies Were Without Impropriety.

London, May 19 (A.P.).—The Rev. H. F. Davidson, 62-year-old defendant in a church trial, was described by his counsel today as "a troublesome busybody" who habitually kissed women, but without impropriety.

Barbara Harris, one of the principal witnesses for the prosecution in the minister's trial on a charge of immorality, is the only one of "a legion of girls" he has befriended and has "turned and bit the hand that fed her," R. F. Levy, the clergyman's counsel, told a consistory court.

"He kisses his landlady, he kisses his landlady's daughter, he kisses the maid, he kisses all sorts of people," Mr. Levy said of Mr. Davidson, who formerly was vicar of Stiffkey (pronounced Stewkey).

"But it is not in a sensual way. It's a kiss on the cheek or the forehead."

His attorney said it was not unusual for the clergyman to give his bed to girls whom he had found in difficulties and himself walk the streets all night.

His associations with hundreds of young women were always laudable and not improper, his counsel said. The attorney protested against what he said was an atmosphere of prejudice created by the prosecution out of the testimony of Miss Harris, from whom he said had come the only evidence of immorality.

The charges against Mr. Davidson were made by the Bishop of Norwich. After the trial by the consistory court, sitting at Church House, Westminster, a report will be made to the bishop.

Stand Near Lindbergh Baby Grave Protested

Princeton, N. J., May 19 (A.P.).—The hot dog stand established near the improvised grave of the murdered Lindbergh baby by an opportunist who saw a chance to enrich himself on the hunger of morbid sight-seers, is to be removed. Dr. John Grier Hibben, retired president of Princeton University, telephoned today to Gov. A. Harry Moore and asked that the stand be taken away. Gov. Moore promised swift action.

It was Dr. Hibben who protested soon after the baby was kidnaped against barnstormers who started an aerial hack business over the Lindbergh home. That was stopped, too.

TEACHER'S LINK WITH JAFSIE INVESTIGATED IN KIDNAP QUIZ

story of his negotiations with the gang that got the ransom—negotiations carried on by newspaper advertisements, notes placed under rocks, letters delivered by taxi drivers and such strange signals as waving flags and raised window shades.

Dr. Condon was told of the interrogation of Mrs. Ford as he came from a mysterious visit to the United States Military Academy at West Point, N. Y.

"I have never even seen her," he said.

"Did you ever talk to her on the telephone?" he was asked.

The aged educator smiled, stuck out his tongue, and said:

"That's my answer."

Visits West Point.

Although State police said Dr. Condon's daughter had told them by telephone her father had been advised by his physician to rest for several days, "Jafsie" made the unannounced trip to West Point during the afternoon.

Dr. Condon munched sandwiches and pored over maps as he was driven upstate by "Al" Reich, former prizefighter. Two New York City detectives trailed him in another car.

Reich has been his bodyguard throughout the negotiations which culminated when Dr. Condon threw $50,000 of Col. Lindbergh's money over a cemetery wall to a man he accepted as one of the kidnaping gang.

When they arrived at the Military Academy Dr. Condon engaged in a whispered conversation with the two detectives. They appeared to be consulting the maps.

Then "Jafsie" hailed a passing motorcycle with a side car, and he and one of the detectives rode in it to the home of Col. R. G. Alexander, head of the academy's department of map drawing, who is understood to have a large collection of maps of the Eastern seaboard.

Jafsie Cooperating.

Earlier in the day Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, State police head, said Dr. Condon had been "most cooperative with police" and had offered to come to Hopewell for questioning or go anywhere else with the investigators.

State police have indicated they will continue their questioning of him after that.

"As soon as Dr. Condon is rested we will continue taking him around," Schwarzkopf said.

A conference was being arranged at Trenton to discuss whether any possible grounds for criminal procedure existed in Dean Dobson-Peacock's request that Col. Lindbergh supply $25,000 for ransom purposes.

The clergyman flew to Hopewell March 28 to ask the colonel to deposit the money in a Norfolk bank.

His own explanation is that the $25,000 was to be deposited in the names of all three intermediaries (himself, Curtis and Rear Admiral Guy H. Burrage, retired), and was not to be withdrawn until after the baby was returned, and then only on the signatures of all three.

Refuses to Go to Hopewell.

Col. Schwarzkopf, head of the State police, expressed disappointment over Dean Dobson-Peacock's refusal to come to Hopewell for questioning.

"Under these circumstances," he said, "it will not be possible to confront Mr. Curtis with Mr. Peacock, which at this time we are anxious to do." He added there was no legal way the clergyman could be forced to make the trip.

But the dean's offer to undergo questioning in his home town made it appear likely an official explanation of what part he played in the bizarre hoax would be obtained. Gov. A. Harry Moore said he favored "sending some one to Norfolk to see what he has to say."

He indicated some one would be named by Schwarzkopf to make the trip.

Police bulletins from the Lindbergh estate made it clear Curtis was under no suspicion of having had anything to do with the kidnaping itself or the collection of the $50,000 ransom paid by Dr. Condon in a New York City cemetery April 2.

A queer letter, which had received little attention until the Lindberghs' firstborn was found a week ago, was made public by William Walter, Trenton police chief.

Mystery Letter Bared.

He received the unsigned missive ten days after the kidnaping. It came from Buffalo, N. Y., and purported to have been written by a member of the kidnap gang.

"Follow the Linberg telephone wire and you will find the baby and three fellers," it said.

The child's body was found more than two months later within 75 feet of telephone lines stretched along the ground to the Lindbergh estate.

The letter was signed "thank you" and did not bear the name of the sender.

"I got cold feet and the fellow knows it," the man wrote. "I promised not to squeal and they gave me money and I'm going home.

"Maybe I won't get caught. We all thought we could make easy money. We got a place near Elizabeth, N. J., and one of the fellows who is pretty smart runs a wire to this place and listens to everything the Linbergs say. * * *

Says Kidnapers Nervous.

"When he hangs up the receiver he always says, 'I never knew I was so smart.' * * *

"I quit the fellers because they don't agree. * * *

"The fellers are pretty nervous. If I didn't like the baby I wouldn't write this, but if you want the baby and the fellers you must keep this secret. * * *

"If you catch the baby and the fellers will you let me go free?"

The printing of the letter was similar to that on the postcard mailed from Newark a day or two after the kidnaping.

Col. Schwarzkopf in one of his bulletins, said:

"No significance is based on the fact that Curtis in his confession spells Col. Lindberg's name 'Linberg.'"

He also said handwriting experts "all generally agree" that the notes to Dr. Condon were written by a man.

This serves to spike a published report that experts had agreed both the "Jafsie" notes and the original ransom demand had been written by a woman.

QUIZZING OF CLERIC FINISHED IN NORFOLK

No Evidence of Virginia Law Violation by Curtis Is Revealed in Probe.

Norfolk, Va., May 19 (A.P.).—John M. Arnold, Commonwealth's attorney, announced today after a conference with Dean H. Dobson-Peacock, "intermediary" in the Lindbergh case, that he had obtained no evidence that any Virginia law had been violated by John Hughes Curtis in faked negotiations.

Mr. Arnold stated nothing new was developed in his talk with Dean Dobson-Peacock, whose information, he said, was in thorough accord with that given by Rear Admiral Guy H. Burrage, retired, the third "intermediary," and Capt. F. H. Lackmann, skipper of the yacht used by Curtis in his make-believe search for a kidnapers' boat.

Dean Dobson-Peacock spoke freely and unhesitatingly, the Commonwealth's attorney said. He added that the minister was apparently convinced of the sincerity of Curtis and was acting in good faith.

Upheld by Church Leaders.

Mr. Arnold announced that he would keep the matter of his investigation open, but said he knew of no pending developments that might cause him to continue his probe of the case.

In the meantime, vestrymen of Christ Episcopal Church rallied to the defense of Dean Dobson-Peacock as their minister continued to be the center of interest here in the backwash of charges, denials and police inquiry coming after the confession of Curtis that he faked his Lindbergh kidnaping "negotiations."

Robert M. Hughes, jr., registrar of Christ Episcopal Church, who said he was speaking for himself and unofficially for the entire vestry, asserted in a formal statement that only "the grand army of gossipers and scandal-mongers" questions the course pursued by Dean Dobson-Peacock and Rear Admiral Guy H. Burrage, retired, as members of the trio of Norfolk "intermediaries."

Resents Call to Jersey.

Hughes characterized as "arrant impertinence" the request made by Superintendent H. Norman Schwarzkopf, of New Jersey police, for the minister to go to Hopewell for questioning. "No lawyer," he said, "would advise him to go and no sane person would expect him to go." Hughes added that vestrymen had advised him not to go. Admiral Burrage is one of the vestrymen in the church.

Dean Peacock, who asserts his participation in the Curtis faked "negotiations" was with full belief in their authenticity, has advised New Jersey authorities he is willing to answer all questions put to him here.

Meanwhile, police authorities pressed their far-reaching investigation into every phase of the case. The director of public safety, Charles D. Borland, announced that Curtis arrived in New York at 10 o'clock the morning of April 2, the day the "Jafsie" tossed a $50,000 ransom payment over a Bronx Cemetery wall to a supposed kidnaper.

Tells of New York Trip.

Curtis was in New York for the next four days, he said, but he declined to say what significance, if any, police attached to the finding.

Dean Dobson-Peacock, it was learned, has given detailed information to agents of the Federal Department of Justice relative to his hurried trip to New York to see two unidentified gangsters, who, the dean said, made him an offer to return the kidnaped child for $500 cash and $50,000 ransom. The minister would not discuss the matter, contending that the information must come from Federal authorities.

Chief of Police S. W. Ironmonger has expressed the opinion that Curtis has not told a complete story in his confession. The investigator said he believes "something important" has been withheld and that further revelations of a startling nature may come.

ROSNER BARES GANG DRIVE TO REGAIN LINDBERGH BABY

"They started off by suspecting anybody who was missing from the usual places. That included lamsters or fugitives from justice and other felons who were hiding out because they thought they were on the spot in some feud.

"Every one of them was hunted out and questioned. Each one had to convince his questioner he was hiding for some other reason before he was released from suspicion that he knew about the kidnaping.

"I can't give names and cases, of course, but this is the way it was done:

"If a fellow was missing, word was sent out through the grapevine route that we wanted to talk to him. Pretty soon one of his friends would come in and say that absolutely this fellow knew nothing.

Gangland Rendezvous.

"We would demand to hear that from his own lips. So a meeting place would be arranged in some secret spot. We went to scores of meetings like that.

"The agreement was always made that if anything went wrong none of us would come away alive.

"You see what it meant. One mob might have the mark on a man. He would be hiding. We'd go to the other mob and get in touch with him. But we would never break confidence with anybody.

"I guess we talked to a hundred men like that who were hiding out for one reason or another. And all of them were willing to help. Some of them were taking their lives in their hands to come out of hiding.

"In one case there was a report a Detroit mob knew something. And what happened? Both here and Chicago the mobs chartered planes and sent delegations to find out.

"Delegations were sent out like that to dozens of towns, and that meant expense. You know how those fellows travel—always in squads of four.

"There was another case where one mob thought they could lay hands on the baby. They were jumpy about it and demanded that I give myself up as hostage to insure their protection.

"I was taken to their place near New York, and I stayed with them 24 hours. In the end, after all the trouble, the thing petered out."

Though all this work came to naught, Rosner explained he had been of some service to the Lindbergs anyway.

Service to Lindbergs.

"They didn't have to deal with mitts," he said. "We handled all the chiselers ourself and cooled them. I guess we busted up a dozen attempts to chisel in and hoist the ransom."

Rosner said he was recommended to Col. Lindbergh by "three different sources—a former Cabinet member, a congressman from New York, and a very reputable law firm."

He said his help was sought because for more than ten years he had been an arbitrator of gang feuds.

"I am not a 'mobster,'" he said emphatically. "I'm a business man. I've been in the real estate business for years, but it's all gone to pieces during this case."

He said he had made his contacts in Washington because of a number of delicate jobs for the Government.

He went into the Lindbergh case, he explained, on condition he would not have to report to or work with police or official investigators.

SLIDE BARS RESCUE OF 42 TUNNEL MEN

800 Strive to Save Trapped Crew in Rail-Shaft Beneath Andes.

Las Raices Tunnel, Chile, May 19 (U.P.).—A 36-hour battle to save 42 men entombed in the Las Raices Tunnel was interrupted tonight when a cave-in blocked rescue parties which had sunk a shaft to within a dozen feet of the trapped men.

The cave-in greatly diminished hopes that the victims could be rescued alive, although it was believed some of them were still holding out in the crumbled tunnel. A new shaft was begun but officials said it could not be completed before midnight.

The men have been in the tunnel—tortured by intense cold and rising water—since early yesterday. An avalanche of mud and rocks swept down on them while they were at work. Recent rains had loosened the earth.

Hope for rescue was spurred by the fact that occasionally the rescue parties—consisting of more than 800 men working in relays—could hear the sound of tapping. Again they observed that the valves in the compressed-air pipes were occasionally opened or closed.

They said they presumed the trapped men were working the valves to keep the air supply fresh.

The fact that cold water was dripping steadily into the tunnel made the rescue work a race from the start. The first effort was concentrated on digging through the debris which choked the tunnel, but this was abandoned late yesterday when water hampered the rescue workers.

Hope was virtually abandoned until the shaft was put down to the point where the victims were entombed.

The families of the trapped men and many spectators gathered around the tunnel, which is a part of the new Trans-Andean Railroad. The women and children were comparatively calm.

FAWCETT RESCUE BODY FACES PERIL

By HORACIO FUSONI.
(Copyright, 1932, by the United Press.)

Porto Velho, Matto Grosso State, Brazil, May 11 (via runner to Diamantino) (U.P.).—The Stephen Rattin expedition to rescue the British explorer, Col. P. H. Fawcett, believed held captive by Indinas in the Brazilian jungle, arrived here today and camped on the shores of the Arenos River. Our next advance will be into the land of unfriendly Indians.

We are building canoes from tree bark to navigate passage up river as soon as possible, en route to Pouzo Alegre.

We arrived here after weeks of travel on foot through the jungles. In the last three days we covered about 45 miles, crossing plains, woods and virtually unexplored territory. Rattin said it was unlikely we would encounter any hostile Indian tribes until we have proceeded several days from Porto Velho.

This place is a "city of the dead," having been evacuated after the collapse of the rubber boom. Our headquarters are in the ruins of the palatial house of a former resident.

The expedition, headed by Stephen Rattin, is attempting to find the famous British explorer, Col. Fawcett, who disappeared in the Brazilian jungles half a dozen years ago with his son and another young Englishman. A few weeks ago Rattin arrived at Sao Paulo with a story of having seen an aged white-haired man in the jungles, who said he was Fawcett, that he was held captive by Indians, and asked Rattin to notify British authorities.

The officials at Sao Paulo and Rio de Janeiro were impressed by his story. Without delay Rattin, an experienced trapper with fourteen years record in the interior of Brazil, started back into the jungles in an effort to rescue Fawcett.

Hearing of Means Reset for June 6

(Associated Press.)

The trial of Gaston B. Means on charges of larceny after trust and embezzlement of $104,000 in an alleged Lindbergh ransom fraud was set yesterday for June 6.

The former Department of Justice agent is accused of obtaining the money from Mrs. Edward B. McLean, wife of the Washington publisher, on false representations that he could recover the Lindbergh baby from his kidnapers.

Justice James M. Proctor decided on the date after Leo A. Rover, United States attorney, asked for trial on the day previously set—next Monday—and after Means' lawyer urged June 20. Means was not in court. He is at liberty on $50,000 bail.

ney, said The Post had been a non-revenue producer since 1924 and the fact that during much of the time Mr. McLean had been in Washington attending to business showed the paper's troubles were not his fault.

It was Maj. Peyser's contention that lack of capital made The Post unproductive and that $500,000 would make it a success.

The case is one of a long series of court actions in which Mr. McLean has been involved, several of them being actions growing out of attempts he made to get a divorce from Mrs. McLean in Mexico and Latvia.

There were many prominent names on the list of witnesses scheduled to appear, but Justice Bailey rigidly ruled out testimony he regarded unnecessary.

RITCHIE'S IDLE PLAN ASKS 30-HOUR WEEK

Maryland Governor Appeals to Democrats for Leaders in Nation's Behalf.

Baltimore, May 19 (A.P.).—Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, in a national radio address tonight, proposed a 30-hour week of five days as a means of alleviating unemployment throughout the Nation.

The four-time Maryland executive and presidential candidate suggested a six-hour day, five days a week, as a means to afford more employment on the work outlined by American industry.

"I am glad to see," he said, "that there seems to be agreement in Congress with the proposal for shorter days and shorter work hours. A 30-hour week, say five days of six hours each, will spread the available work among the available workers in a way which will make the most material contribution toward unemployment relief."

The Federal budget and unemployment relief were discussed by Gov. Ritchie as two of the momentous questions now facing the Government, and he declared that "Every day's delay in meeting these problems adds to the loss of confidence and the fear that throttles American business."

The Maryland governor called upon the party to provide "in this period of depression and distress, sane, resolute, determined leadership which will inspire sane, resolute, determined action for the national good."

"The people of this country have been turning in hosts away from the Republican party precisely because the Republican national administration has failed to supply leadership and action in this crisis. But the Democratic party can not expect the people to turn to it, unless it shows that it can supply the leadership and the action which the Republican administration has not and which the country needs and the people demand."

$2,100,000,000 IDLE AID URGED BY GARNER

base to permit the organization to exercise its judgment in making loans without restriction.

A $1,000,000,000 bond issue for a governmental building program, based largely on existing laws, with a tax of one-third of one cent a gallon on gasoline to provide a sinking fund and interest in order not to disturb the Federal budget operations.

Passage of the Huddleston bill to place $100,000,000 in the hands of President Hoover to relieve extreme suffering in any section of the country.

Expressing confidence in the proper administration of the funds by President Hoover and the Reconstruction Corporation, Mr. Garner said:

"Surely we can trust the President to use the $100,000,000 patriotically and wisely for the purpose intended * * *.

"We surely can trust the present board to wisely administer the additional duties as they are administering the present limited duties."

The Texas Democrat, prominently mentioned as a possible candidate for the presidency, announced his plan in a formal statement after conferring for several days with various Democratic and Republican groups.

"Ever since Congress met in December, it has been discussing and undertaking to pass legislation that would be helpful in relieving the present distressing economic conditions," Mr. Garner said.

"Some far-reaching legislation has been placed upon the statute books. I have been hopeful that these legislative efforts would tend to bring about better conditions, but the facts are that the unemployment and distress of the people are greater now than when Congress was organized last December.

"I am unalterably opposed to the dole, but it must be apparent that before Congress adjourns some real effort must be made toward taking care of the unemployment situation as well as the people who are in physical distress as a result of lack of food and rainment."

Must Consider Direct Action.

Mr. Garner said it was evident the situation could not be remedied by international negotiations to remove barriers and restrictions upon international commerce because of administration opposition and that "we must consider what, if anything, can be done to improve the situation by direct action of the Government."

Immediately after the statement was made public, Representative La Guardia, of New York, Republican Independent leader, had it inserted in the Congressional Record.

"The whole country is going to follow the leadership of Garner," Mr. La Guardia said. "It is a statesmanlike, constructive statement."

Representative Snell, of New York, the Republican leader, regarded the Garner program favorably.

"Perhaps something can be worked out which will be of benefit to the country as a whole," Mr. Snell said. "We all are interested in working out legislation to meet the situation and I'll be glad to see it done."

Representative Rainey, of Illinois, the Democratic floor leader, said he would support the Garner program. He thought, however, the tax for the interest and sinking fund of the public works bond issue should be put on corporations.

Ready to Push Measure.

In addition to Mr. LaGuardia, Representative Mead (Democrat), of New York, and Kelly (Republican), Pennsylvania, members of the so-called relief committee formed by independents of both parties, said they favored the Garner plan.

Various groups in both parties appeared anxious to get the program before the House. Although Mr. Garner did not discuss the plans for expediting action, it was ascertained that machinery was ready to push it through quickly.

Meanwhile Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, expressed confidence in an early solution of the relief problem under contemplation by the Senate Democrats.

The special Democratic committee headed by Senator Wagner, of New York, has been seeking a common ground between previous proposals and the compromise offer of President Hoover.

CITIZENS GROUP HITS CAPITAL TAXES AS HIGHEST IN NATION

District committee, would force District residents to pay $4,000,000 additional in estate, income, gasoline and automobile weight taxes.

As spokesman for the citizens' joint committee on fiscal relations, Mr. Colladay charged that the Mapes report was honeycombed with incorrect statements. He took sharp issue with assertions in the report that taxes here are lower than anywhere else in the country, and challenged Mr. Lord to cite the source of figures used in his studies.

While recognizing a Nation-wide rebellion against the rising tide of taxes, the Mapes committee proceeded to use tax figures taken from the States as a basis for their report, he charged.

"If they recognize tax rates in the States as unfair and prohibitive, why should they wish to jack ours up to meet them?" asked Mr. Colladay.

Backs Per Capita Method.

He discounted the Mapes claim that a per capita basis is a "false test," and proceeded to set up the per capita methods as "the only true test."

He declared Washington one of the two "most economically operated cities in the United States," and presented statistics to substantiate his claim. Milwaukee, he said, ranks first in economy of operation.

Then Mr. Colladay took George Lord's own figures used in the Mapes report and showed that Washington had the highest per capita realty assessment of any cities cited by Lord. In eleven of the cities the total per capita tax was higher, and in the remaining eleven, lower than Washington, offering an "even balance," he said.

Then using his committee's own figures, he presented a table of 64 cities of 125,000 population or more, and showed that only three of them had a higher per capita total tax, when per capita interest and State taxes were deducted. None had a higher per capita property assessment.

Thirteen Tables Presented.

Thirteen comparative tables were presented for the perusal of the committee, concluding with an analysis of taxes paid in Washington and the two other American cities of nearest comparative size, Minneapolis and New Orleans.

This showed that while Washington's population only slightly exceeded that of Minneapolis and New Orleans, Washington's realty assessment and total property assessment were greater than those of the two other cities combined, its total tax levy was greater with or without the deduction of interest payments; its total tax collections and assessments far in excess of the other two cities, and its total revenue collections, less grants, subventions, donations, gifts and assessments, far higher than either of the two.

Senator John B. Kendrick (Democrat), Wyoming, remarked he thought a clear case was made that Congress should settle this "perennial problem" by taxing both Federal and private property, and adjusting the Federal payments on "a basis of perfect equity."

Capper-Cramton Act Hit.

The Capper-Cramton act, saddling $16,000,000 of George Washington Memorial Parkway cost on District taxpayers, was passed by the House to "get even with the District," Chairman Bingham charged at hearings yesterday.

He said the act was passed by a House disgruntled after losing its battle with the Senate to slice the District lump-sum. Stipulation was made that every cent of the cost comes from District revenues.

Senator L. J. Dickinson (Republican), Iowa, said he was opposed to the gigantic parkway. He declared it an "insane idea" presenting prohibitive maintenance problems once the territory is acquired.

Grant's Request Opens Issue.

The remarks were provoked by request from Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d, director of Public Buildings and Public Parks, that a House amendment forbidding further acquisition of land under the act be eliminated from the District bill.

Col. Grant said the amendment virtually nullifies provisions of the act and prevents the District from going ahead with condemnation projects that now are needed.

Senator Bingham read a letter from former Representative Louis C. Cramton, author of the act, urging repeal of the amendment so the park project could go forward. Here the District subcommittee chairman arraigned motives behind the act.

"The senator seems to speak feelingly," remarked Senator Royal S. Copeland (Democrat), New York.

District Must Pay All.

"I repeat, this act was passed on the specious plea that it would give the District a great parkway, when, as a matter of fact, District residents would have to pay for every cent of it," Senator Bingham responded.

"It was done by the same group in the House that never has given the District more than could be wrung out of them by the Senate."

Under the Capper-Cramton act, land was to be acquired for the George Washington Memorial Parkway out of Federal funds, the District to reimburse the Government for that portion of the park in the District by payments of $1,000,000 a year for sixteen years.

Maj. Daniel J. Donovan, District auditor, declared the plan in reality would cost District taxpayers $17,000,000. The District was directly charged with $1,000,000 for park lands in 1931, the year preceding initial repayment of the first $1,000,000 on the Capper-Cramton parkway, Mr. Donovan stated.

Says Upkeep Too Small.

Earlier Col. Grant testified that the $165 an acre allowed the District for care of park lands is insufficient to keep shrubs and lawns from dying; that is, it is $60 below the amount allowed 20 years ago. He said at least $200 an acre is needed to properly maintain the parks.

Senator Dickinson interjected:

"Here you talk about not having enough money to maintain the parks you have, and at the same time ask for continuance of a $16,000,000 park program."

Senator Copeland remarked that Memorial parkway is "self liquidating" and entails no additional Federal expenses, as the District must repay every cent spent.

The current District supply bill appropriates the first $1,000,000 of the $16,000,000 repayment to the Federal Treasury.

Dr. William A. Fowler, District health officer, asked the committee to appropriate $8,000, over and above the $36,000, allowed by the House for enlarging quarters and expanding the staff of the social hygiene and tubercular clinics maintained by the city.

Additional Estimates Directed.

Senator Bingham directed Maj. Donovan to ask the Budget Bureau for supplemental estimates covering the additional funds.

Both Senator Copeland and Dr. Fowler testified that present quarters are badly overcrowded and the medical staff inadequate. The additional funds would permit outfitting of new quarters at 301 C street northwest for the tubercular clinic and improvement of the present social hygiene clinic equipment.

George S. Wilson, director of Public Welfare, asked the committee to remove a House restriction prohibiting payment of more than $75 a month for home care of needy families. He asked for funds to employ an additional relief worker.

Mr. Wilson told the committee the President's plan of enforced furloughs for Federal and District workers could not work in welfare institutions which operated 24 hours a day and seven days a week. Senator Bingham said an 8 1-3 per cent pay cut could be applied instead.

DAIL VOTES TO DROP BRITISH CROWN OATH

De Valera's Bill Passed in House; Opposition Seen in Irish Senate.

Dublin, Irish Free State, May 19 (A.P.).—Eamon de Valera, ceaseless battler for a free Ireland, passed another milestone toward his goal today when the Dail Eireann passed intact his bill to abolish the oath to the English crown.

Bolstered by the Laborites, the Republicans of the lanky president rebuffed every effort t draw the teeth of this latest gesture toward absolute equality in the British commonwealth. But party lines held firm and every vote was 77 to 69, with the Conservatives failing to muster enough strength to batter down the coalition.

There was deliberate, even debate on both sides, marked by the appearance of De Valera himself to champion abolition.

"Other nations in the British commonwealth can remove this oath if they wish," he told the Dail in his quiet voice. "We have the same right and we are going to remove the oath. It is in our interest to do so. The people want it removed and we will give effect to their will. We are doing it without any violation of the treaty."

Another Hurdle Ahead.

Final removal of the oath, however, has yet another formidable hurdle ahead of it. The Irish Senate, where De Valera's plans have already been assailed, must pass on the Dail's action and the opposition was already massing for the attack. The Senate meets Wednesday.

(The Irish Senate, however, can not exercise a final veto. It may refuse to pass the measure for an eighteen-month period of time. If this should come about, the Dail may again pass the bill. If the Senate fails the second time to act within 60 days, the measure would become effective.)

William Cosgrave's Conservatives under the floor leadership of Patrick McGilligan, a member of the former Cosgrave ministry, launched two fierce attacks by offering amendments to the abolition bill. The first came when they offered an amendment declaring the Anglo-Irish treaty of 1921 a superior instrument beyond the power of the Dail. This treaty, which created the free state, is the one which contains the oath to the king. The amendment was voted down.

Conservatives Offer Amendment.

Next, the Conservatives offered an amendment seeking to preserve for civil servants transferred from Great Britain after the treaty was signed, the right to take the oath. It, too, went down.

The bill as passed provides for three other constitutional changes besides abolition of the oath. One would repeal that part of the constitution providing that anything in it repugnant to the terms of the Anglo-Irish treaty shall be null and void. Another strikes out references to the terms of the treaty of 1921 and the last contains formal and informal titles for the oath bill itself as a part of the constitution.

RIFT IN LABOR GROUP STIRS ELECTION ROW

Dispute Over McCurdy Is Laid to District's Plan of Secession.

Baltimore, May 19 (A.P.).—The proposal for the separation of the District of Columbia labor organization from the Maryland State and District of Columbia Federation of Labor was blamed today by Henry Broening, president of the Baltimore federation, as the cause of the dispute concerning the election of Joseph P. McCurdy, of Baltimore, as president of the State organization at Cumberland convention yesterday.

The legality of McCurdy's election has been brought up in the Baltimore body and has been referred to a meeting Wednesday night at which all locals have been requested to be represented. Broening, who was president of the State group before the election, contended today that it was illegal to nominate the candidates from the convention floor, as it was against a decision made two years ago by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor.

Broening said he was named at a caucus to succeed himself, receiving 40 votes against 14 for McCurdy. When the election came up, however, the western Maryland delegates proposed a resolution to nominate from the floor. Broening and McCurdy were among those whose names were proposed for the presidency, but the former withdrew, declaring such an election would be illegal.

"The whole matter," Broening said today, "goes back to efforts which have been made to separate the District of Columbia labor body from the Maryland labor body. There is no more reason why the District of Columbia should be attached to us than to Virginia or any other State.

"Efforts to make that separation began two years ago. It was referred to the executive council of the American Federation of Labor and that body passed it on to William Green, the president. His solution was that the president of the State body should be named in caucus rather than from the floor of the convention and that the District of Columbia delegates should have no vote on the presidency or the secretary, but should vote on two vice presidents and treasurer."

Advertisers Optimistic, Bristol Tells Convention

Cincinnati, May 19 (A.P.).—Leading advertisers are actuated now by optimism, Lee H. Bristol, of New York, president of the Association of National Advertisers, said at the opening of the annual meeting of the organization here today. Advertising now is given more attention than ever before, he said.

"The Association of National Advertisers has some 350 members, who spend about $30,000,000 annually in advertising, and they are being actuated today by an undercurrent of substantial optimism." The association acts as a clearing house for advertising ideas and data.

Memel Territory Governor Chosen

Lithuanian Consul General at London Appointed Government Head.

Kaunas, Lithuania, May 19 (A.P.).—V. Gylys, consul general at London, was appointed governor of the Memel territory today by President Antanas Smetona, of Lithuania.

The resignation of the Memel directorate headed by Eduard Sinaitis is expected within the next few days as a result of the huge election majority polled by German residents of Memel in the recent voting.

Sinaitis formed a government to administer Memel in February after Otto Boettcher, a German, had been ousted from the post because the Lithuanian administration considered his relations with Germany to be too close. Memel is administered by a special government under Lithuania in accordance with arrangements made by the League of Nations. The territory was German before the war.

METHODIST SESSION SELECTS 2 BISHOPS

Drs. Magee and Cushman Elected; Message From Hoover Is Read.

Atlantic City, N. J., May 19 (A.P.).—The general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church filled its two Episcopal vacancies today by electing Dr. J. Ralph Magee, of Seattle, Wash., and Dr. Ralph S. Cushman, of Rochester, N. Y., to the board of bishops.

The elections were made with but one ballot intervening. Bishop Magee was elected on the seventeenth ballot and Bishop Cushman received the necessary two-thirds majority on the nineteenth ballot, cast in the evening session.

Each of the bishops-elect has served his church for 30 years in the ministry, and each will be formally consecrated to the episcopacy at a service on Sunday.

The elections came in the fifth day of balloting after early indications that the same indecisive backing and filling of votes which had marked the contest to date would continue.

Hoover Message Read.

Following upon Bishop Cushman's election, a message was read from President Hoover, thanking the delegates for their prayers and spiritual support.

"The organized spiritual forces of the people," the President said, "have a vital part in shaping the vision of the Nation at all times, and never more so than in periods of especial difficulty and strain."

Bishop-Elect Magee is the son of a Methodist minister, and the father of another Methodist minister. He has two brothers, one a minister in Pittsburgh, and the other, Carl C. Magee, Oklahoma City newspaper editor, is the newspaperman credited with having exposed the Teapot Dome oil scandal during the Harding administration.

His son, J. Homer Magee, is pastor of the Methodist church in Selah, Wash.

The new bishop has spent 30 years in the ministry, serving in pastorates in Iowa, Massachusetts and Washington.

He was born in Maquoketa, Iowa, June 3, 1880. As a boy, before entering the ministry, he earned $1.25 a day by unloading 30 tons of coal.

Native of Vermont.

Born in Poultney, Vt., in 1879, Dr. Cushman began his ministry in New England and later was transferred to the central New York conference. He became pastor of the First Methodist Church at Geneva, N. Y., where he attracted wide attention by his "stewardship campaign," which saved his parish from financial ruin.

Dr. Cushman later became stewardship secretary for the Methodist Church in the centenary movement and also stewardship secretary for the interchurch world movement. He was appointed to his Rochester pastorate in 1920, and since has been an active figure in the Genesee annual conference on Methodism.

He received his education at Troy Conference Academy and Wesleyan University. He is the author of several books, his latest being a devotional work entitled "Spiritual Hilltops."

Swedish Film Actor Allowed Entry Into U. S.

(Associated Press.)

The State and Labor Departments have lowered their bars to Nils Asther, noted Swedish actor, and his troubles about joining his wife, Vivian Duncan Asther, and their German born baby, in Hollywood, are believed ended.

Representative Englebright, of California, a close friend of the actor, whose deportation by Federal authorities had been ordered, said he had been notified Asther had been granted a visa and could reenter the country under the preferred immigration quota basis and that he could make application for American citizenship.

BILL JAM MAY MEAN CONGRESS HOLDOVER

session during a national political convention. In fact, it is difficult to see how a convention could function without the presence of members of Congress. Nearly every important post at the conventions is held by a member.

Senator Reed suggested yesterday that the senators and representatives could send alternates to Chicago to take their places.

Reed himself, it is reported, is scheduled to be chairman of the Republican resolutions committee, which will be charged with the task of drafting the party's platform. This year it is a particularly delicate task because of the prohibition issue. Who would be delegated to take Reed's place?

Representative Snell is scheduled to be the permanent chairman of the Republican convention, and Senator L. J. Dickinson, of Iowa, is to be the keynoter.

Early Action Predicted.

It is because of this—the important part that members of Congress play in the conventions—that old-timers at the Capitol are predicting that all vital legislation will be disposed of before the Republican conclave starts on June 14.

Here, in brief outline, is the situation in which Congress finds itself:

Of the eleven appropriation bills, only one—that for the Interior Department—has been enacted into law.

The billion-dollar tax bill is up in the Senate, the subject of a furious and time-consuming tariff controversy.

The economy bill, torn to pieces by the House, is undergoing restoration before a special Senate committee.

The proposed bill to relieve unemployment and actual suffering has not yet been drafted by the special Democratic committee in the Senate appointed for that purpose.

Garner Relief Proposal.

In the meantime Speaker Garner has proposed a relief program that differs both from the Hoover plan and the so-called Young-Robinson plan.

The various appropriation bills that have been passed by the House and which are now being held up in the Senate will not be finally acted on by that body until something definite is known about what savings can be achieved in the economy bill.

On the surface the jam seems an almost hopeless one. It would seem to be one that can not possibly be broken in eighteen days. And yet those at the Capitol who are aware of what Congress can do when it gets going are confident that it will be broken in time for the conventions.

G. O. P. Senate Aspirant Democrat, Is Charge

Oklahoma City, May 19 (A.P.).—The filing of Wirt Franklin, wealthy Ardmore, Okla., oil man, as a Republican candidate for United States senator was challenged today by U. S. Stone, former representative and also a Republican candidate for the Senate, on the ground that Franklin is registered as a Democrat.

J. William Cordell, secretary of the State election board, said the board will pass upon Stone's petition. Stone asserted that on the day Franklin filed as a Republican, he was registered as a Democrat as a qualified voter of Precinct No. 11 in Ardmore.

Assistant Attorney General Addresses Meeting of Young Republicans.

Republicans have a double incentive in working for victory in the next campaign, Charles P. Sisson, Assistant Attorney General, last night told a meeting held under the auspices of the Young Republicans of this city.

First, he said, was the repetition of Republican success in the past three presidential elections, and second, that the next administration will be sure to claim credit for bringing the country out of its economic difficulties.

Sisson predicted that the natural evolution of the economic system will bring the Nation back to normal and that politics would have little or nothing to do with it.

TARIFF BATTLE IS DELAYING PROGRESS ON TAX PROGRAM

senators who are not personally rich, but are protectors of the very wealthy, to save the wealthy from too much tax burden, down to those who urge that the best tax would be a general manufacturers' sales tax, which would take an equal amount from everybody on the basis of his spending.

The multiples of these were exemplified in the debate on the oil tariff. Outside the Senate chamber in the corridors were to be found representatives of the various business interests affected. Others were in the galleries.

To these senators would report the situation at the conclusion of a poll on this or that agreement. Then the senators would go back to the floor and debate on the oil tariff would drag along with neither side willing to agree to a vote because each hoped that in the course of the undercover negotiations it could gain an advantage over the other.

Each side wanted to be sure of its vote before it permitted the question to come to a vote.

George Blames G. O. P.

Senator Walter F. George (Democrat), of Georgia, ttempted to pin sole responsibility for the tax bill tariff provisions on the Republicans, but Senator James E. Watson (Republican), of Indiana, said that a poll he had made showed that there were eighteen Democrats in favor of the oil tariff and eighteen Republicans who would vote against the oil tariff.

Senator Huey Long (Democrat), of Louisiana, who still is so lost in the mazes of the Senate that he tries to drive directly to his objective, said he was not willing the Republicans should have the credit for putting the oil tariff in the tax bill. The credit belonged to the Democrats, Senator Long said. Senator George said he hadn't yielded for a speech, but only for a question, but Senator Long had said what he wanted to say, and was satisfied for the moment.

Senator George said that responsibility for the tariff items in the bill must rest squarely on the shoulders of the administration leaders on the Republican side. Senator Watson suggested the tariffs in oil and coal had been put in by a Democratic House. Senator George said that the Senate had to do its own stuff. He charged that administration Republicans on the finance committee had made possible inclusion of the tariff items and administration Republicans were keeping those items in the bill.

Smoot Not Apologetic.

Senator Reed Smoot (Republican), of Utah, chairman of the finance committee, said that he made no apologies for his vote in favor of inclusion of the tariff items.

Senator Robert M. La Follette (Republican), of Wisconsin, said that Senator George was right; that if two conservative Republican members of the finance committee had not switched their votes, the tariff items would have been kept out of the bill. Senator La Follette had reference to Senators Henry W. Keyes, of New Hampshire, and Jesse H. Metcalf, of Rhode Island, who switched their votes in the committee session to make certain the tariff items would stay in.

Senator Pat Harrison (Democrat), of Mississippi, asked if there had not been other switches on other propositions.

Senator La Follette said there had been in the finance committee sessions the most disgraceful series of log-rollings he had ever seen.

The fate of the tax bill hung in the balance as the debate wore on. Neither tariff nor antitariff advocates were willing to give in. Neither trusted a test of strength. Meanwhile leaders of both sides were willing debate should continue until they could find out where they stood and reshape their lines accordingly.

Fights Due on Other Items.

If the oil tariff were voted into the bill there were promises there would be fights against the other tariff items—coal copper and lumber. If the oil tariff—which has the strongest support—were knocked out it would be such a body blow to the tariff advocates that it was considered likely all tariffs would be eliminated from the bill. Of course, no matter what the Senate did to the bill, it would have to go back to the House and be rewritten in conference of a joint committee of the House and Senate.

But back of the fights on these particular items was the threat of a general tariff fight. Senator Elmer Thomas (Democrat), of Oklahoma, has threatened to keep the Senate in session all summer voting on tariff amendments of the tax bill unless the tariff on oil was approved.

Senator Millard Tydings (Democrat), of Maryland, has declared that he has refused so far to accede to extraordinary demands of interests in his State for a tariff provision in the tax bill. Tariff has no place in the bill, Senator Tydings said. But if he is not successful in his effort to knock all tariffs out of the bill he has prepared 500 tariff amendments he is ready to submit, talk about and demand a vote on each.

The Senate was in an angry, tankerous mood as debate continued into the night, but the indications were that the tariffs would be kept in the bill and the measure would be passed not so many days hence. The big fight, the fireworks and the preparation of the record for the campaign all were involved in the fight over the tariffs on oil, the first of the tariffs to be reached in consideration of the measure.

Bank Report Juggling Bared in Carolina Quiz

Columbia, S. C., May 19 (A.P.).—The House committee investigating the office of State bank examiners was told today that Albert S. Fant, the examiner, had deleted part of a report on the Peoples State Bank of South Carolina that had "displeased" its officials, had changed figures to make losses appear less heavy, and had permitted certain of these officials to dictate part of a new report.

The bank was closed January 2 of this year, but the report which showed the bank to be in bad condition was made August 1, 1930. In this report the two examiners, W. R. Watkins and W. T. Bailey, had written that the bank "deserves severest criticism." J. A. Sutherland, stenographer for Fant, testified before the committee today he had made changes in the report of Watkins and Bailey.

THE LEGISLATIVE JAM.

Congressional leaders have decided not to adjourn nor recess until the measures essential to the national welfare have been passed. Efforts will be made to wind up the affairs of this session before the Republican national convention on June 13, but if they fail Congress will nevertheless remain in session until its work is complete. That decision is a triumph for common sense. It places the welfare of the country above politics, and removes the blighting uncertainty of a summer session.

The arrangement agreed to by Senator Watson has a double advantage. It will stimulate both houses to complete their work as soon as possible so that members of Congress will be free to attend the conventions and to begin mending their political fences. Yet assurance is given that the four vital measures—the tax bill, all the appropriation bills, the economy and relief measures—will be sent to the White House before any adjournment is taken. This means that the two parties will be encouraged to work in harmony and lay all partisanship aside to avoid delay.

Senate leaders did well to take this matter into their own hands, thus nullifying a gesture on the part of the House to compel the Senate to remain in session. In view of past performances the House steps into the "holier than thou" role with poor grace. No one can deny that it is the Senate calendar which is cluttered at present, nor that the House will be ready to adjourn much quicker than the upper chamber. Nevertheless, the House is chiefly responsible for the delay of these vitally important bills until the eleventh hour.

Fiscal legislation must originate in the House. The Senate could do nothing with the revenue and the appropriation bills until they were passed by the House. Yet the House took nearly four months to shape the new tax program. The revenue bill did not reach the Senate until April 4, and then it was necessary for the Senate finance committee to rewrite the bill to eliminate atrocities that were voted into the measure in the last few frantic days of its consideration by the House after the sales tax revolt. The Senate has had a month and a half to work on the tax bill, and will probably finish it in less than half the time that was consumed by the House.

The first of the large appropriation bills was adopted by the House on Jan. 27, but that body is only now finishing its work on the War Department supply bill. Why was this vitally important measure delayed so long when the House leaders are fully aware of the jam of financial bills in the Senate? When the House procrastinates during the first months of its session, it works an extreme hardship upon the Senate.

Almost nothing was done about economy until President Hoover goaded the House into action. Then that body repudiated virtually all of the economy committee's program and shunted the whole problem of balancing the budget to the Senate when the close of the session was near. The House has cleared its calendar of important legislation by refusing to accept responsibility for unpopular but necessary measures and passing the buck to the Senate.

There is no reason why relief legislation should have been delayed until the end of the session. The ways and means committee of the House wasted several weeks hearing testimony on the bonus inflation bill when it might have been giving its attention to common sense legislation to restore men to their jobs. Likewise the Democratic tariff fiasco and the Goldsborough price-fixing nostrum represent so much loss of valuable time. Consequently, a large number of essential bills have been dumped upon the Senate in the last few weeks, causing a legislative jam.

The Senate has been inexcusably slow in handling the appropriation bills, but even that delay was largely a result of the impotence of the House in dealing with economy. During the next few weeks the Senate must fret, strain and worry to put the finances of the Government on a sound basis. The Senate must make up for the poorly-arranged program and the cowardice of the House. About all the lower chamber can now contribute to the budget balancing program is to acquiesce in the measure adopted by the Senate.

RELIEF PANACEAS.

The "Garner plan" is now added to the long list of panaceas for the depression. Since it became apparent that Congress intended to enact some sort of relief program politicians have been falling over one another in the rush to get their "plans" before the public. All this scramble is futile, of course, for the leaders in Congress are working out a compromise nonpartisan measure with the aid of the administration.

Since Al Smith issued his formula for dealing with the depression, it goes without saying that all candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination must have a "plan." Speaker Garner rushes in with a hodge-podge program concocted by drawing features from the "Smith plan," the "Robinson plan" and President Hoover's suggestions. What is the "Roosevelt plan?" The New York governor continues to talk about aiding the "forgotten man." Surely he will soon favor the anxious public with specific details as to how a few billions of dollars could be used to restore jobs to the unemployed. No aspirant for the presidential nomination should remain long without a "plan" in these parlous times.

The pitiful thing about this clutter of "plans" is that they all provide for the spending of a few billions of dollars, but none of them provides a means of raising it. No politician dares to suggest taking this money out of taxpayers' pockets while the Senate is wrestling with a new $1,000,000,000 revenue bill to balance the budget. But the money must come from somewhere. The only recourse is to borrow it—to saddle the cost of the depression upon future taxpayers, who will probably have nothing to do with their money, save to pay the debts of their predecessors.

Whatever action Congress may take should be confined to stimulation of employment through the regular channels. The idea that prosperity can be restored by borrowing money to construct unprofitable improvements that the public can not afford is the baldest nonsense. If more money is needed for legitimate self-liquidating projects, it can be provided through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation without floating a direct Government bond issue or appropriating money from the Treasury. When sound business enterprises need money to go ahead with their plans, the Government may well make it available to them in times like the present. But the old bootstrap theory ought to have no place in the so-called relief program.

INVESTORS ARE CONFIDENT.

Fresh evidence that the American public has not lost faith in the industrial structure of this country is offered in a report by R. G. Dun & Company. That organization has just scrutinized the stockholders lists of more than 340 corporations, representing 76 per cent of the total common shares listed on the New York Stock Exchange. Two years ago those corporations had 4,133,267 common stockholders. Now they have 5,847,651, an increase of 42 per cent.

In spite of falling prices the public has been purchasing large quantities of common stock to hold until the depression is over. Many of the new purchasers are men and women of moderate means who buy odd lots of stock with no thought of speculating. The tendency has been to buy stocks of corporations that deal in the necessities of life, thus avoiding too great a risk while at the same time taking advantage of bargain prices. A group of retail merchandising corporations increased the number of stockholders by 76 per cent.

During the same period while stock ownership has been spreading, the number of bondholders has been reduced. Eighty-four companies reporting in the survey recorded a loss of nearly 4 per cent in the aggregate number of their bondholders. This suggests a public belief that common stocks are the best bargains at the prices which have prevailed during the last two years.

Many people who have money to invest are continuing to buy common stocks at their present low prices. They are confident that the depression can not continue much longer, and that when the upturn comes the appreciation in stock values will be substantial. Some stocks are paying large dividends, on the basis of their current value, even though the dividend rates may have been reduced.

The depression has carried prices of stocks, commodities and everything else far below what was expected two years ago. But all available evidence tends to show that those investors who maintain their faith in the soundness of American industrial institutions will gain in the end. Great fortunes of the past have been built up by the investment of money when public confidence was low. It is incredible to suppose that the trend of history has been changed.

THE TWO-THIRDS RULE.

Threats are heard from some of the Roosevelt supporters that if their candidate secures a majority in the Democratic convention and a minority organization blocks his nomination under the two-thirds rule they will move to change the century-old procedure and substitute selection by a majority vote. Fervid objection to the old rule as undemocratic and equally strong support of it have been voiced ever since its adoption 100 years ago this month at the first Democratic national convention in Baltimore.

The rule was inaugurated by the supporters of Andrew Jackson to stop Calhoun, and it was effective. The answer to the claim that it places the majority of a convention at the mercy of a minority is that there is danger that with a majority rule a candidate might be selected by a few States with large delegations that are regularly in the Republican column, since the number of delegates a State is entitled to in the convention is based on the number of its votes in the Electoral College and not on the total Democratic vote. Some Democratic leaders contend that the rule protects the majority of the party, rather than considering the minority of the convention.

In two important instances the two-thirds rule blocked the nomination of Democratic candidates attaining majority votes. In 1844 Polk, the first dark horse, was nominated, although Martin Van Buren received a majority vote on the first ballot. In 1912 Champ Clark had eleven more than a majority on the first ballot, but Woodrow Wilson finally won the nomination. The war with Mexico and the World War followed the election of these two men, and there has been much speculation as to whether the course of history might have been materially changed if majority nominations had been made by the Democrats.

In Republican national conventions a majority nominates. In order that the votes of States normally Democratic may not wield too preponderant an influence, an added quota of delegates is apportioned to States that went Republican in the preceding Presidential election. Whether Roosevelt delegates, if they count a majority at Chicago, will have the temerity to change the rule for the current candidate is a question. Frequently it has been suggested that the majority choice be adopted to apply at the succeeding convention; that to change it by the same majority which would then immediately proceed to name their candidate under it is an unethical proceeding. The ardent supporters of majority rule as the proper practice for Democrats, particularly those who also support Governor Roosevelt, maintain that the majority should rule at all times and in all matters, and that there is nothing logical in the claim that one convention should make rules for the next one.

"Tax business out of business and give the proceeds to the men who will be thrown out of work by the tax," is the ingenious plan of Senator Borah for squaring the vicious circle.

Owen D. Young says he wouldn't be President if he had the chance. That makes him the most remarkable politician in the country.

A Turkish wrestler, 115 years old, exercises daily with a herd of goats. He probably got the idea from Jack Garner.

The Senate has voted against bleeding industry to death and then taxing the cadaver. That helps some.

Some of the marchers in the beer parade were repeaters, and some of them merely saw double.

BUSINESS IMPROVING

From the Louisville Courier-Journal.

The next time some wailer comes along with a tale of bad business and moans that the country has gone to the demnition bowwows, he might be asked if he knows the percentage of the commercial failures during the past year. He may think that one-fourth, one-third, or one-half of the business firms of the Nation have been forced to the wall, but he is sadly mistaken. Of the 2,125,288 concerns in business in 1931, only 28,285, or 1.33 per cent, failed. But far the better side of the picture is the fact that a large majority of the business concerns chalked up a profit during the year.

A survey of 504 companies in many lines of business by the research bureau of the Advertising Federation of America, says Nation's Business, revealed that of 303 concerns, 60 per cent were making net profits in 1931. In fact, 71 of these companies, or one out of seven, earned a greater profit in 1931 than in 1930. The concerns which increased their profits over 1930 included five of the eight grocery chains, all of the six general chains, all the carpet manufacturers, five out of nine manufacturers of cosmetics and drugs, with the remaining four only slightly under 1930, and four out of five cigarette manufacturers on the survey list, in addition to the soap and cleanser manufacturers generally, cereal and cracker manufacturers, and a large group of miscellaneous corporations, ranging from makers of oil burners and refrigerators to meat packers, restaurant chains and hotels.

Most of these concerns have not only kept up with the procession, but forged ahead with profits by a process of self-examination, which included in some instances changing the line of manufacture and in others drastic alterations in method which cut down overhead costs. In practically every one of the 71 cases noted, the company which increased its 1931 profits was a national advertiser which, at the same time, had increased its lineage for the year.

Despite the falling by the wayside of some weak brethren, the fact remains that business is improving. There are other indications of a revival, not all of them on the surface. Some of the more noticeable are the American Legion's achievement in putting nearly a million men back to work, the success of the Citizens' Reconstruction Organization's campaign against hoarding, and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation's restoration of credit. In view of the gains which have been made, and the comparatively small percentage of failures, in the face of a world-wide financial upheaval, obviously mourning does not become America.

The Call of the Wild!

POST HASTE

The House idea of Federal saving was to cut the economy bill from $200,000,000 to $42,000,000. The Senate's simple job is to boost it back to $300,000,000.

With a Senate vote of 61 to 24 against beer the House will continue to debate it because "time is the most valuable thing that a man can spend."

Regurgitating the silver question and warning of a third party, it seems that Senator Borah just can't get started this session.

The Golds-borrow brick is shown up by the credit expansion assay of the Federal Reserve, and the fact that with a 25 per cent decrease in production there is 15 per cent more money in circulation. Credit and cash can't raise prices until the people borrow and buy.

Can't the league start earlier this time on two little fellers and stop Bolivia and Paraguay making faces at each other before they use their fists?

France is arranging to restrict imports of pens. It is evident she will not need even one at Geneva or Lausanne.

The Democratic big guns have again been mobilized in a last effort to raise funeral expenses for the dead horse of the last campaign before the hopes of the herd of dark horses are blasted at Chicago.

The quietude of Representative La-Guardia can only be explained by his feeling that he has done enough damage for the present by helping kill the sales tax.

Dud. Field Marshal Malone also marched down again from the Kentucky hill where they don't care for New York snoopers. Dudley now wants to sick the Senate on them.

The Methodists refuse to admit women to equal standing with men as preachers, but they retain their right to remain seated.

Bloc-aid against block-head blockade may yet be necessary in Congress.

Well, well, did you ever think Senator Lewis would be the first to spy Senator Borah's third party phantom?

PAUL HUDSON.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

DOCTOR'S WAITING ROOM.

'Twas little that I knew of pain
Until the hurt was mine;
I rose and went to bed again
And never had to whine,
And though I heard that men fell ill
And had to lie in bed,
I never thought of illness till
My appetite had fled.

Then came to me the dreadful day
Beset with aches and fears,
The nerves strange tricks began to play
Which had been good for years.
So to the doctors wise I went
To tell my tale of gloom,
And joined the throng, pale faced and bent,
That fills the waiting room.

Still twice a week to them I go,
And every time I see
Dyspeptics sitting in a row
As glum as they can be;
And when the white-robed nurse comes out
A stranger's name to call,
I know just what it's all about,
For I've been through it all.

I look them over, young and old,
Humped sadly in their chairs;
I know what tubes the nurses hold
And just what use is theirs;
But this is what I've come to know
Since I have joined the line,

You Can't Justify Sale of Poison by Saying Nobody Is Forced to Take It.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

YEARS ago, the world was horrified by the story of a German wholesale jeweler who got his living by wrecking ships.

Once a year, the story said, he shipped a heavy box of goods, billed as jewelry, to some obscure customer in a foreign land. The shipment was heavily insured. And the insurance money was almost clear profit when the ship went down on its third day at sea, for the box contained nothing except scrap iron and a bomb.

It isn't easy to believe such stories. It seems incredible that a man not wholly bereft of reason should sacrifice a ship and its crew and all of its rich cargo to win a profit of such little value.

But greed panting for a profit never stops to measure the loss that others must suffer to provide it.

The "international bankers" who sold worthless foreign bonds to a gullible public gave little thought to the loss and suffering their treachery would cause.

They thought only of their 10 per cent commission. They were willing to see America defrauded of millions if they could get one dollar of each ten lost.

That perfidy, you will say, was part of a universal madness that is finished.

But what of the stock exchange? It remains as it was. And how does it get a profit except by sacrificing much to get little?

A man who knows it well recently testified that it lives by treachery—by misleading and tricking the public.

How else could it get a profit? The "big fellows" who gamble on the exchange can make millions only by taking the money from somebody else. Whether they buy or sell, they can get a profit only by betting on the right side while the ignorant are betting on the wrong side. And the "pools" they form to force the market up or down can be made successful only by fooling the public. The insiders can win nothing on the right horse unless suckers are somehow persuaded to back the wrong one.

That is the whole story of the stock exchange.

But, you say, the foolish public is not forced to gamble.

That is true. Neither is it forced to patronize regular gambling houses, but the law forbids such places to operate.

Nobody was forced to support lotteries, but the law suppressed them to protect the public.

If the stock exchange is necessary, its worst features are not. It can provide an exchange for stock without being a trap for the simple.

Ask yourself how long the law would tolerate it if its defense depended on the power of logic and justice instead of money.

PRO AND CON

Lost Chance.

Hartford Courant.

In the last two months Mr. Garner has lost an almost unparalleled opportunity to make a lasting name for himself as a parliamentary leader in a time of crisis. He cannot recapture his lost prestige by such spleenful comments concerning the President as he now indulges in.

Working Dollar.

Topeka Capital.

A silver dollar was marked in an Ohio town to determine how much work it did. In 30 days it did work amounting to $58.32, passing through the hands of 139 different stores and individuals. The Iola Register asks: "If every dollar in Iola could do $58.32 worth of business each month, how long would the depression last?" How much work a dollar does is sometimes rated by bank clearings. Altogether there is about nine billions of money in this country. In 1931 the bank clearings of 186 cities were a little under 544 billions. Then there are thousands of small towns and villages where money works. In the 186 cities the bank clearings amounted to about $60 of work for every dollar in the land. That was for twelve months, however, and not one month.

Coolidge Won't.

New Bedford Standard.

Almost anything is likely to happen in times like these, but at present there is no indication Mr. Coolidge will be a candidate for the Presidency. No doubt he would do a good job of reducing government costs, but we do not see why Mr. Hoover cannot do as good a one. In fact, nobody likely to be elected next November—and that may be stretched to include Mr. Coolidge—knows any better than Mr. Hoover how to bring back prosperity.

A Man Can Refuse.

St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Joseph Gurney Cannon removed the omnipresent cigar to assure an anxious reporter that "nobody ever refused a nomination for the Presidency, and nobody ever will." As a statement of fact, the pronouncement was wrong, for Gen. Sherman's ultimatum, "If nominated, I will not accept; if elected, I will not serve" had long been history. As a prophet, too, Uncle Joe has now been placed in the error column by Owen D. Young, who, in a letter to an old friend, explains that "I cannot, for reasons which are so controlling as not to be open to argument, accept a nomination for the Presidency if made."

Exhibitionism in the Senate.

Minneapolis Journal.

Who knows but that the Louisiana vulgarian, Huey Long, is precisely the exemplar of unrestraint, the avatar of bad taste, essential to the United States Senate as a soft pedal on the exhibitionists of lower degree? Who can say what the country might otherwise endure, but for this manifestation of a wise Providence that assures to the Senate a continuing example, lately in Tom Heflin, and now, Heflin having departed, in Huey Long?

Sense Will Return.

Shoe and Leather Reporter.

Congressmen and senators will continue to make political campaign speeches, but should not be taken too seriously. Just now Washington is suffering from what may be called mob psychology, but individually our representatives in House and Senate are not such fools as they occasionally make themselves appear.

It is only a question of time before common sense will prevail.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Alfred Golden Suggests That Dr. Hrdlicka Story Characteristics of "Wild Jackasses" in Congress.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Dr. Ales Hrdlicka, who has been making a study of the animal-like actions of children, says that these actions go so far that children seem to speak and understand the "language of animals," imitate their gestures in such minute detail that it is difficult to believe the behavior is purely imitative, and consider themselves as lower animals rather than human beings. According to Dr. Hrdlicka, there are instances of youngsters who will not respond to their own names, which they know perfectly well, but will respond immediately when called in dog fashion.

The peculiar characteristics found in certain children can be illustrated by that of a child who, in the absence of other children, adopted a pig for a playmate. The two were found wallowing in a mud puddle together. Another case was that of a youngster who was very proficient in imitating horses. Dr. Hrdlicka cites many other interesting cases in which children mimic animals, but he does not explain how the "wild jackasses" in Congress obtained their strange animal characteristics. Certainly the congressmen have outgrown their childhood, so their capers can not be classed in the category of animal-like actions of children. As soon as the scientist finishes his study of the peculiar animal-like characteristics found in children, he should tackle the other far more interesting subject: what causes the strange animal-like characteristics found to exist in certain congressmen?

Two Meatless Days in Greece No Hardship, With Chicken and Lobster Plentiful.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: A recent issue of The Post contained an A. P. dispatch announcing that three meatless days a week had been decreed in Greece. The number has since been reduced to two, and your readers should not envisage these as days of war-time hardship. On Tuesdays and Wednesdays red meat is replaced by chicken, turkey and duck, all of which are plentiful, and by fresh lobster or the many kinds of delicious fish in which the waters of the Mediterranean, Adriatic and Aegean Seas abound.

Incidentally, with the present low rate of drachmae exchange all "eats" are marvelously cheap. Half a chicken, or a portion of lobster fresh from nearby waters, costs about 20 cents in the best restaurants of Athens, while barbounia, one of the finest food fishes of all the Seven Seas, is rated at 15 cents.

On the five meat-eating days of the week a portion of roast lamb costs 12 cents, including vegetables, while an individual steak or three lamb chops range from 12 to 18 cents. Soup averages 3 cents a plate and fresh salads about the same. Oranges, artichokes, fresh peas and all other fruits and vegetables are abundant and unbelievably low in price.

The prices quoted are from the bills of fare of the best restaurants in Athens. At the moment there is no place in the world where the gastronomic desires of mankind can be better or more cheaply satisfied.

B. P. SALMON.

Reader Says Regular Army Officers Having No Increase Since 1908 Should Not Be Cut Now.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In the matter of Federal pay cuts there is one important fact which, I think, has escaped the notice of congressmen and their constituents.

Army officers have had no raise in pay since 1908. During that period of 24 years there have been several increases to other Federal employes, as well as to civilians in general.

Where there were raises in prosperous years there should be reductions in lean years. But where all the years have been lean ones, what justification can there be for rewarding faithful public servants by starvation? Those who are acquainted with the pay schedule of junior officers will realize that further cuts mean just that.

Regular army officers—who serve their country in both war and peace—get no bonus and get no vote. They can not make themselves heard politically. But I am sure if the facts in the case were generally known that even the most radical proponents of economy would not desire the total demoralization that would follow this unwarranted pay reduction.

Symposium Shows Dr. Butler Mistaken About College Drinking, Says K. J. H.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, not long ago made a series of speeches in which he called for the repeal of prohibition because, as he alleged, college students are being debauched by the law.

A group of women temperance workers decided to check up on his argument. They wrote to 300 colleges and university presidents, asking for an honest answer to the question raised by Dr. Butler's addresses. They received replies from 260. Of this number, 147 testified that there is less drinking among college students than there was before prohibition. Some of the others thought conditions about the same. Some did not know. But 97 declared that there is little or no drinking among their students. The symposium furnished a flat contradiction to Dr. Butler's assertions.

One young student, when asked his personal opinion, said: "There are two good reasons why there is little truth in Dr. Butler's charges: First, students are too busy—they have no time for dissipation; second, they are too poor—they have no money for booze."

SLUMP IS CALLED AID TO MINORITY GROUPS

Independent Action Is Urged by Dr. Dewey at Session of Colored Society.

Hailing the economic depression as a situation favorable politically to minority groups in America, Dr. John Dewey, who addressed last night's session of the National Association for Advancement of Colored People, in the auditorium of the Shiloh Baptist Church, urged the membership of the association to decline the "bait" of the old political parties, and to adopt an independent stand politically.

"The depression," he said, "has stimulated thinking and has encouraged freedom of speech. Minority groups can now not only say things which have long needed to be said, but there is also more chance for them to get a hearing. Our real issues are economic, and both of the old parties are trying to get by with as little attention to economic issues as possible."

An economic program for the Negro was presented by Herbert Seligman, of New York, demanding redistribution of wealth by taxation of large incomes, future conduct of industry for the public weal and not for private profit, insurance for sickness and unemployment, education for youth and adults not only in schools and colleges but also in the professions, recognition of the Negro worker by organized labor, participation in reconstruction of the Nation's social system, a free and untrammelled right to vote, and social equality.

George S. Schuyler spoke on "Consumers' Cooperation." Other speakers during the sessions yesterday were Harry E. Davis, Cleveland; Mary E. Sweed, Zanesville, Ohio; John C. Wright, Rocky Mount, N. C.; George W. Thompson, Akron, Ohio; Irene Malvan, New York; Robert W. Bagnall, Detroit. A program of legal defense for Negroes will be discussed today by Nathan Margold. The Spingarn medal will be awarded tonight to Dr. Robert Russa Moton, principal of Tuskegee Institute, by Senator Bronson Cutting, of New Mexico, in the auditorium of the Department of Commerce Building.

'Donation Dance' to Aid District's Needy Families

A "donation dance" to aid the unemployed will be given tomorrow night by the Southeast Community Center in the auditorium of the Buchanan School, Thirteenth and D streets southeast. The admission fee will be a donation of nonperishable food, either canned or packed.

The food will later be distributed to the needy by the District of Columbia unemployment committee. Mrs. A. J. Cournyan, assistant community secretary of the Southeast Community Center, is in charge of the dance. The Marshall Hall Orchestra has offered its services for the dance.

Rafael Diaz, Tenor, Is Star Of Pan-American Concert

Marine Band Delights Large Audience With Rendition of Choice Selection of Dance Melodies and March Numbers.

Before an audience that taxed the spacious Hall of the Americas, Pan-American Building, the United States Marine Band, with Rafael Diaz, tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Company, as guest artist, presented a program of Pan-American music last night.

From the music of eleven countries came the selections for the evening's concert, with motifs ranging from lilting dance melodies to the more ponderous works of contemporaneous masters. The triumphal march of Alberto Galimany, "Union Pan-America," played by the Marine Band, Capt. Taylor Branson, conducting, opened the program. The variations in the several movements struck the keynote of an evening notable not only for the appearance of Senor Diaz, but for the introduction to the United States of other beautiful numbers, four from South America and two from Cuba.

Senor Diaz did not hold himself entirely to an American repertoire. Several numbers of a Hispanic flavor served to set them in high relief by contrast with those of English origin. Senor Diaz's first number consisted of M. Ponce's "Estrellita," O. Perez Freire's "Ay, Ay, Ay," and M. O'Hara's "There Is No Death." The second group comprised "Rayito de Sol" (Maria Grever), "Mensaje" (S. Fustera) and "Amapola" (J. M. Lacalle). In an effort to satisfy the demands, Senor Diaz graciously responded to his first group, "La Paloma" and "I Passed by Your Window," to which later he interpolated the special request, "Because."

Heading the list of the offerings presented for the first time in the United States was Luis A. Calvo's Columbian "Elegia," dedicated to the Marine Band. Even though a funeral march, the "Elegia," stately and impressive in its tonal effects, was a worthy tribute to an excellent military band. Next in line was the typically paced bolero, "Gypsy," from the pen of Elisabetta Pacheco de Pate, the first woman composer to be honored with a place on a Pan-American program. The other new numbers were "Capricho Cubano," by the Cuban, Gonzalo Roig, and "Gentile de Cuore," from the opera "Il Guarani," and "Mia Piccirella," from the opera "Salvador Rosa," both works of Brazil's Carlos Gomes and played as clarinet solos by Emil Rede, of the Marine Band.

Other solos included "O Pinhal" (C. Percival), and "Nortena" (E. Virgil y Robles), by Cornetist and Second Leader Arthur S. Witcomb, and "Were My Song With Wings Provided" (R. Hahn), and "Hindoo Love Song" (Hernan Bemberg), by Vibraphonist Wilbur D. Keefer.

By request, the band rendered the well known "El Condor Pasa" (D. Robles) and the expressive "Manana" (Infanta).

Triple Crash Injures Boy at Silver Spring

Frank P. Proctor, jr., 2 years old, son of the supervisor of school property of Montgomery County, Md., was injured yesterday in a triple crash on Georgia avenue, at Silver Spring. He was treated by Dr. C. W. Mitchell, of Silver Spring, for cuts on the head and face.

According to police, a car driven by Mrs. Bessie K. Denley, of Rockville, proceeding south, collided with a north-bound Washington Rapid Transit Co. bus operated by Gilson M. West, 4602 Fourteenth street northwest, and then collided with a car in back of the bus, operated by Mrs. Margaret E. Proctor, of Silver Spring, the boy's mother.

FRENCH DEBT VIEWS SEEN AS BROADENED

Statements of New Leaders Also Reflect Change in Arms Attitude.

Paris, May 19 (U.P.).—A sudden and significant broadening of the French attitude toward such world problems as war debts and disarmament was reflected tonight in the statements of three left-wing senators who will be powerful in the new Parliament elected this month.

In line with the less conservative trend indicated by the election, the statements were:

1—A condemnation by Henri Berenger, former Ambassador to Washington, of the present European system of "blocs" and alliances and an appeal for a more international outlook.

2—A statement by Joseph Caillaux, who probably will be the next minister of finance, that reparations and war debts must be canceled immediately or world recovery will be impossible.

3—A strong hint by Joseph Paul-Boncour, permanent delegate to the League of Nations and chief of the French disarmament delegation, that France is willing to consider reduction of arms without pressing her former demands for greater guarantees of national security.

Whether these statements indicate a change in French attitude that go far toward settlement of two of the world's outstanding problems remains to be seen, but the declarations are considered a definite indication of the present national trend.

Berenger and Caillaux always have been noted for liberalism in regard to world problems, but Paul-Boncour in the past has firmly upheld the security demands of the Andre Tardieu and other cabinets.

Meanwhile, Edouard Herriot, outstanding victor in the election which gave his Radical-Socialist party the largest membership in Parliament, conferred for an hour with President Albert Lebrun. It was believed Herriot was striving to overcome difficulties placed in his path by the Socialists, but it still appeared unlikely he would be the next premier.

The most authoritative sources said he probably would succeed Tardieu as foreign minister, while some other "centre" leader will be premier.

2 Suspects Seized In Attack on Baker

Cousin of Murdered U. S. Clerk Reported Still in Critical Condition.

Two Negroes were arrested here yesterday and turned over to Virginia authorities in connection with the brutal beating and attempted robbery of J. Robert Baker, 70-year-old merchant of Comorn, Va. Baker, a second cousin of Mary Baker, murdered Government clerk, was said to be still in a critical condition last night.

The men are Theodore Roosevelt Coleman, 23, and James Alonzo Lewis, 19, both of King George County, Va. They were traced here by Virginia authorities and were taken into custody yesterday by Sergt. J. O. B. Gray, of the Fifth Precinct. Last night they were in jail at King George Courthouse, Va.

Police here said the Negroes admitted the attack on Baker. They said they were broke and hungry. Coleman was said to have hit the aged man with a hatchet, fracturing his skull. Becoming frightened, the men then fled without completing their robbery attempt.

Priest Is Fined $50 In Rum Possession

Bottle of Alleged Liquor Is Said to Have Been Found in His Car.

The Rev. Patrick F. Murphy, of St. Mary's Catholic Church at Fairfax Station, Va., pleaded guilty to a charge of transportation and possession of ardent spirits yesterday in the Circuit Court of Fairfax County, Va. A fine of $50 and costs and 30 days in jail were imposed by Judge Walter T. McCarthy, but the jail sentence was suspended.

Commonwealth Attorney Wilson M. Farr, of Fairfax County, appeared before Judge McCarthy and asked to be excused from prosecuting Father Murphy because of personal interest. Commonwealth Attorney Lawrence Douglas, of Arlington County, was appointed. Two presentments, one charging driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor and the other charging transportation and possession of ardent spirits, were before the court. The driving while under the influence charge was nolle prossed.

Father Murphy was arrested about a week ago by Deputy Sheriff John B. Dowden, near Ilda, and given a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace J. T. Moling, of Falls Church. A half-gallon of alleged liquor was said to have been found in his automobile. Father Murphy did not appear in court yesterday, but was represented by Attorney Frank L. Ball, of Arlington County. The automobile he was driving is still in the custody of county police.

A WONDERFUL NURSERY SUPPER

WHEN you come to the end of a busy day, mother, why don't you give the children a bowl of Kellogg's Corn Flakes and milk for supper?

How they'll enjoy those delicious toasted flakes! And how easy to prepare. No trouble. No cooking. But best of all, it's such a wholesome supper. Dietitians say a light easy-to-digest evening meal, such as Kellogg's and milk, helps children sleep sounder and feel better.

So serve Kellogg's often instead of hot heavy foods. Delicious for breakfast or lunch, with fruits or honey added. Great for a late snack.

Kellogg's are among the most convenient and economical foods. Many servings from a single package costing but a few cents. Always oven-fresh because of the inside waxtite bag that's sealed top and bottom. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Quality guaranteed.

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

Quick Morning Beauty Routine Outlined by Expert.

AS I told you yesterday, the woman who begins her daily beauty routine the preceding night, finds it easier to continue the next morning. And much of the day's success so far as good grooming goes, is getting off to a good start. A simple and systematic beauty routine carried out daily for a few minutes soon becomes a lovely habit and the results are far more flattering than hours spent occasionally and haphazardly. As in everything else, consistency and persistency reap their reward in beauty.

Elsie Pierce.

"The minute you open your eyes in the morning your beauty routine can begin. Just blink your eyes several times. Then stretch your arms and legs and pull, pretending both extremities were having a tug of war. Right in bed you can do several setting up exercises. Then out of bed and over to your open window. Do some deep breathing exercises—in—out—feel the fresh air penetrating every corner of your lungs. Follow these by a few well-chosen limbering exercises. Every woman can select her own group of exercises to tone the entire system. If you are overweight, these exercises can include one or two reducers, vice versa if you are underweight; if you need local reducing, include one or two aimed at the spot."

Too much can not be said in favor of exercise. It stimulates the circulation, tones the system, makes muscles limber, the body young, and chases the blues like nothing else can. If exercise could be attractively packaged and sold as a beautifier, it would be more universally accepted as such.

Water is another health and beauty aid that ought to be sold in bottles at an exorbitant price.

Women find it too easy to go to their tap and fill a glass or two and "drink it down." Do try, though, to make it a habit immediately on arising and after brushing the teeth to drink one or two glasses of fresh, cold water. Then the cold shower if you can stand it, and this is the logical season of the year to start forming the cold shower habit.

Brush and set your hair. And now for your skin, thorough cleansing and brisk patting with skin tonic until your skin tingles is a splendid basis treatment. Follow with your protective cream if your skin is dry, or a foundation lotion if it is oily. Then, just a minute to your hands, pushing the cuticle back after washing (make this a habit) run an emery board around the nails to keep them shapely, then apply a bit of lotion to keep the hands soft and white.

After you have applied your makeup and donned your clothes, do scrutinize every detail. Remember that little details go a big way toward good grooming. Be sure your stocking seams are straight, your shoes in repair and shined, your dresses clean and unwrinkled. When your mirror smiles back perfection, the chances are you look and feel splendid and will no doubt go through the day beautifully.

My complete set of exercises—and also my beauty schedule are yours for the asking. Remember the addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

Elsie Pierce

Elsie Pierce, famous beauty lecturer, will answer any questions on beauty you wish to ask her. Address Miss Pierce, in care of The Washington Post, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

NEW YORK, May 19.—When Eve got restless and cast about for ways to decorate, flowers and skins and feathers came in for their share of her approval. And ribbons. Ribbons to wind around her hair, her waist, to tie at her wrists and ankles —ribbons that came from supple barks of beautiful trees; the long, pliant green leaves of tropical flowers —stripe of doeskin as white as snow.

And ribbons have never lost their hold on the feminine imagination as a means of decoration. Member I told you that ribbons would be popular this spring? Now you see them everywhere. Yet there is little danger of ribbons going out of favor, because of the variety that can be found in them as to width, color, design and material.

Sashes, of course, you all know. How the twisted velvet ribbon sash of two colors is worn with almost every sheer dinner frock? Whether this be lace of tulle or georgette! Well, and grosgrain ribbon belts for afternoon and sports frocks, remember.

One of the prettiest ribbon ideas for belts I saw the other day—on a frock which was an all over daisy pattern printed in light blue, white, and navy blue. The belt was a white grosgrain ribbon overlaid with a narrower navy blue one, attached to the white one at intervals with a cartridge pleat or two. Then this ribbon trimming repeated itself at the edges of the sleeves. Nice?

Ribbon shoulder pompoms matching the sash are not unusual, and very attractive when well done. And a wide taffeta ribbon twisted to make the collar of an evening cape! The ends tie in a huge bow at the back of a pretty neck, or at the throat, as you wish. Which reminds one of scarfs, made of three different colors of ribbons—and three widths. Attach the ribbons at intervals with hand stitching in some fancy stitch, or "catstitch" all the way—and you have a scarf of charm and interest. An idea for clever fingers herself!

Often we see hats and scarfs which, while they don't exactly match, yet are far more interesting than if they did—because they harmonize in color and lend gayety to the costume.

* * * * *

"I never found a pajama that would look like anything on me!" wailed sister Dianne—who's size is not one of her best points. "Well, why do you wear 'em, then?" "Because they are so-o-o-o-o-o comfortable for housework!"

So I took the 50,000 brain cells—and figured out a pajama design that would look well on her. And it does, and I did, and she did. And now we look as chic as we feel comfortable around the house. And did it take six yards of material, as the pajama patterns so gleefully tell us? It did not! 'Course it was the kind of material we selected—but then we tell you all about that in the leaflet about pajamas that really look chic, fit, hang well and are easy to launder as well as easy to make. So why not send that stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for our new leaflet of the basic pajama design and see for yourself? This design is for any pajama at any time, and for a person of any age or size—so better take a look at it, anyhow.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

To the limit of space questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual disease.

ALBUMINURIA IN YOUNG ADULTS.

IN the course of periodic examinations of young people in universities and colleges, on entering the Army and Navy, or even in starting a high-class job, the examining physician frequently finds a subject that has albumin in the urine. Sometimes the patient fails to get his job because of this flaw in his physical condition. Insurance companies often refuse to accept some young person who seems to be in excellent physical condition except that he has some albumin in the urine.

This nearly breaks the heart of the agent who has sold the policy, and neither the applicant nor the company is happy. The company loses a customer, who, in the natural course was expected to pay many dividends and who would not have collected for several decades. Very profitable business. The customer is unhappy because of the black mark against his name, to say nothing of other unpleasant possibilities. The condition is well known. It is called orthostatic albuminuria and adolescent albuminuria. Naturally, playing so much havoc in a business way and coming out of a clear sky to a person who felt well, had no symptoms, thought he had no limitations, the condition has caused a lot of controversy and discussion. It has been quite extensively investigated. We appear to be about ready for some conclusions.

It is not an uncommon disorder, being encountered in about one in every twenty boys and girls nearing maturity. It is usually not a matter of any particular moment. Of those in whom the symptom is found only about one in fifteen have Bright's disease. In this comparatively small group the symptom is important. An insurance company will run an unjustified risk if it accepts them for insurance at a standard rate. If the person with the symptoms does not change his method of living he is liable to come a cropper. He must go to bed earlier, get more sleep, eat very carefully, and avoid such beverages and foods as throw a strain on his kidneys. It may be safer for him to change climate and occupation to a location and to a work in which he is not likely to be chilled.

For each man in this group there are fourteen who are in no particular danger of Bright's disease, who can be insured with safety, or who can fill any ordinary job. There are certain ways of guessing which group a given young person with albuminuria belongs in. If he gives a history of having been very subject to colds, or of having had one or more attacks of rheumatism, or had scarlet fever; if he is closely related to several persons who have had Bright's disease, or if he is of a frail build, or has a rapid pulse, or has had two or more of these items in his life history, he probably belongs to the group in which the symptoms mean "trouble ahead." On the other hand, if there is a history of diphtheria, or repeated attacks of sore throat, or one that shows tonsils that are abnormal, it does not follow that his albuminuria is of any consequence.

USE OF LUMINAL.

A. H. R. writes: In a newspaper article concerning the murder of her two roommates by Mrs. Judd it was intimated that the murderess was a drug addict, and named luminal as the drug which she was using. I have been told that luminal is not a habit forming drug and that it can be obtained in drug stores without a doctor's prescription. Would the use of 2½ grains a day be injurious?

REPLY.

Luminal is one of a group of sleep producing drugs that are known as the barbaturic group. All the members of this group are capable of causing the drug habit.

The addiction is more easily broken than is morphine or whisky addiction.

The deleterious effects of the drug are greater than those due to morphine but less than those of alcohol.

There are no legal restrictions on the use of the drugs of this group. However Congress will have appropriate legislation under consideration.

INCREASE SHAMPOOS.

L. writes: For the last five years or more I have been troubled with an itch on my scalp. I believe it is dandruff. It itches at night before I go to bed. After I shampoo my hair, it doesn't itch for about three days. Then it starts again. I lose a lot of hair. When the itch is not present I do not lose hair.

REPLY.

Why not shampoo your hair at least twice a week and possibly oftener? Use a little grease after shampooing. That may be all the treatment you need.

HIVES AND SOAP.

Mrs. W. Y. S. writes: Thinking my experience with hives may be of profit to some of your readers, I am sending this. I suffered for months and then my husband broke out, too. After we stopped using a particular brand of soap we were all right, except once, when stockings were washed in same. Later I used this soap for washing all right, but followed directions, as I should have at first. I used too much and did not rinse the clothes in enough water, according to directions. Washing powders are powerful and require thorough rinsing.

Bus Driver Indicted In Crash Killing Four

Louis Henry Mealey, bus driver, was the operator of the Washington Railway & Electric Co. bus that crashed into a Capital Traction de luxe bus at Seventeenth street and Rhode Island avenue northwest April 1, was indicted for manslaughter yesterday by the District grand jury.

The grand jury charged Mealy with responsibility in connection with the death of Benjamin Pettus, law partner of Edward F. Colladay, who was one of the four men killed in the crash, which injured seventeen others.

The Homemaker

By NANCY CAREY

NOW for our week-end planning since in some incredulous fashion another week has slipped and leaved us one week nearer summer and to one of the loveliest months in the year—June. June with flowers and soft rains; its blue sky and long glowing days, as though, indeed, heaven had at this time tried earth to find if it be in tune. * * * Let us hope that the spring weekends are finding us much in the open, picnicking whenever we can, gardening if gardens are our good fortune to possess; but at least out of doors for these are the out-of-door days.

Here are our two menus necessary for the week-end, with, in addition, a word to Mrs. Strother. Don't form the habit of "soda after your meals." Such measure to augment the activities of the body can do more than establish a bad habit. My suggestion is to see your physician.

SUNDAY'S DINNER.

Fruit Cocktail
Pearl Onions Radishes
Braised Leg of Lamb with Cracker Crumb Stuffing
Mint Jelly
Pan-Roasted Potatoes
Asparagus with Drawn Butter Sauce
Rusks
Apricot Ice Sugar Wafers
Coffee

SATURDAY'S SUPPER.

Vegetable Cutlets
Steamed Squash
Prune Muffins
Tomato and Lettuce Salad
Lemon Tapioca
Tea or Coffee

Lemon Tapioca.

½ cupful quick cooking tapioca
3 cupfuls boiling water
¼ teaspoonful salt
Rind of one lemon
1 cupful sugar
½ cupful lemon juice
2 egg whites, beaten stiff

Combine the tapioca, water, salt and lemon rind and cook from twenty to thirty minutes. Remove lemon rind and add sugar and lemon juice. Fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites, fill thoroughly and serve in sherbet glasses.

Vegetable Cutlets.

1 cupful diced carrots
1 cupful diced potatoes
1 cupful diced turnips
1 can peas
2 tablespoonfuls butter
1½ cupfuls milk
1 8 cupful flour
1 teaspoonful onion juice.
1 egg

WHAT TO DO WITH LEFT-OVERS

Do you ever wonder how to use left-over meat, fish, vegetables, fruits, &c.?

If you do, and who doesn't, you will surely welcome the numerous suggestions and the variety of recipes for tasty dishes contained in our newest folder. All are essentially inexpensive, appetizing and simple, to meet the present-day need for economy.

Send your request and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to—

NANCY CAREY,
The Washington Post,
Washington, D. C.

Cook the diced vegetables until tender. Drain the peas. Make a white sauce of the butter, flour and milk and season with salt, pepper and onion juice. Combine the sauce and the mashed vegetables. Grease a shallow pan and spread mixture in it to cool. When firm turn out on a crumbed board. Shape into cutlets, dip in beaten egg and roll in crumbs. Fry in deep hot fat until a golden brown.

Prune Muffins.

2 tablespoonfuls shortening
2 tablespoonfuls sugar
2 egg yolks
3 cupfuls flour
4 teaspoonfuls baking powder
1 teaspoonful salt
1 cupful milk, scant
½ cupful prune juice with two tablespoonfuls orange juice
1 cupful chopped cooked prunes
Whites of 2 eggs, beaten stiff

Cream the shortening and sugar and beat in the egg yolks. Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt and add alternately with the milk and fruit juices. Stir in the lightly floured prunes and fold in the egg whites. Fill greased muffin tins two-thirds full and bake twenty to twenty-five minutes in a moderately quick oven. Part wholewheat or graham flour may be used, if desired.

What Today Means

"TAURUS."

IF May 20 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8 a. m. to 9:20 a. m., from 3:20 p. m. to 5 p. m. and from 10 p. m. to 11:20 p. m. The danger periods are from 11 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. and from 7:30 p. m. to 9 p. m. A despondent atmosphere will prevail on May 20, and it will be a time of spiritual uncertainty and unfounded mental worry. No unforeseen events are anticipated, and any set plans should be carried out without hindrance or setback. Unlucky for speculators.

A child born on this May 20 will be a bit on the slow side, but will be able to keep up to the average in most of its school work. It will show a natural bent for some line of work, and should be encouraged and given special training for whatever talent is indicated. It will have an appreciative nature, and will be willing to work hard for the fulfillment of its own ambitions.

Born on May 20, you have an extravagant, a reckless and an adventurous nature, and you believe in making merry during the days of plenty. It may be true that there is no doing without some ruing, but you seldom regret your bargains. When you have drunk your wine, you make yourself content with Adam's ale. It is difficult for your family or other associates to keep pace with your sudden vagaries, and although you may mean no harm to them, they are always worried about the harm you will bring upon yourself.

If you be a man, you will do many spectacular things, and make many brainy moves, but you will never ride on the top of the waves for long at any one time. You are always staging a come-back, and each time are full of enthusiasm, "brain storms," and concentrated effort. You are too much the born lover to entirely escape the microbe of illicit love affairs. Your personality is never in full bloom unless fed with admiration and covered with love. You like to be fussed over too much to exhibit much paternalism.

If you be a woman, you have a restless spirit and a dissatisfied nature. You are full of envy, and are inclined to be mercenary. The passing through some zone of extreme suffering would test your character, and not find it wanting. You would come out a more understanding and more spiritual being.

Successful people born on May 20:
Emil Berliner, inventor.
William John Locke, English novelist.
Estelle Taylor, film artist.
William G. Fargo, expressman.
Thomas D. Rice, actor.

Culbertson on Bridge

By ELY CULBERTSON

320.

THE UNEXPECTED HAPPENS.

"IN Bridge," ruefully writes Mr. Frank L. Tettemer, of Princeton, N. J., "one never knows what to expect." His philosophical observation was accompanied with a hand in which a redoubled Grand Slam was made against him on a hand in which he held 3 honor tricks, including an honor-trick in each of two suits bid by his opponents. While the hand justified the bidding of a Small Slam, due to its distributional strength, the bid of the Grand Slam was certainly heavy gambling on favorable breaks.

South—Dealer.

The Bidding.

(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South	West	North	East
3♡(1)	Pass	4◇(2)	Pass
5♠(3)	Pass	7♡(4)	Dbl.(5)
Pass	Pass	Redbl.(6)	Pass
Pass	Pass

1—The hand contains too many possibilities for a direct bid for game.
2—A very bad bid. North should raise the hearts in preference to merely overcalling with diamonds.
3—Much too strong.
4—Probably justified in view of the possession of both minor Aces and South's Jump bid in spades. In view of the spade bid, South should be able to get rid of any possible club losers in his hand by trumping.
5—It does seem that 3 honor-tricks should justify a Double of a Grand Slam bid, but the distributional storm raged very fiercely.
6—"Hanging is no worse for a sheep than a lamb," North reasoned.

Obviously, as Mr. Tettermer states, South makes a Grand Slam against any defense. North and South were thus rewarded rather than penalized for overbidding. Correct bidding of the hand should have resulted in a Small Slam contract in hearts, but the Grand Slam, possible only through the favors of distribution, was entirely unsound.

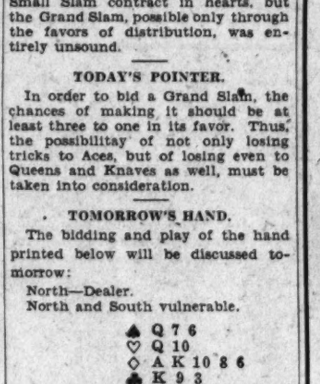
TODAY'S POINTER.

In order to bid a Grand Slam, the chances of making it should be at least three to one in its favor. Thus, the possibilitay of not only losing tricks to Aces, but of losing even to Queens and Knaves as well, must be taken into consideration.

TOMORROW'S HAND.

The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow:

North—Dealer.
North and South vulnerable.



Study the hand, decide how you would bid and play it and then compare the results you obtain with those shown in tomorrow's article.

(Copyright, 1932.)

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Mr. Culbertson will be glad to answer any specific question on bidding or play ent in by readers. Address him in care of The Washington Post, inclosing a 2-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Irish Tobacco Plants May Close.

Dublin, Irish Free State, May 19 (A.P.).—The big tobacco combines warned the Free State government today that unless the proposed increased duty of 1 shilling 2 pence (about 20 cents) per pound on tobacco, announced in the new budget, is eased materially, they will close their Dublin factories.

Advice on Gardening

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES.

MAY I grow heather in the open in this country?

MARION V. L.

There are a number of heathers which may be grown in the northern part of the United States, but many of the European sorts are not reliably hardy. The heathers prefer a soil compounded of leafmold or peat. They demand plenty of moisture in summer, but in winter the drainage must be perfect. These plants are hard for the amateur to propagate. Heathers as a class are well suited for use in the rock garden.

What is the best spray for sweet peas that are covered with plant lice?

HELEN G. K.

Nicotine solution. Cold water will control the red spiders which may attack these plants toward the end of the season. Of course, you must spray daily. You can detect red spider by the whitish appearance of the foliage and a webby covering.

How long does it take Black-Eyed Susan seed to germinate?

MRS. FRANKLIN D. C.

Twelve to fifteen days.

I have an astilbe, which I received for Easter. May I plant this plant in my garden? MABEL F. P.

Yes.

There are several places in my flower border where I see ant nests. Can you please tell me how to get rid of these unwelcome guests?

MRS. PERCY G.

If you will write again, inclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope, we shall be glad to send you the name of a proprietary preparation which if you follow directions on the container will soon rid your premises of ants.

My peonies are covered with buds, would you advise me to give them some liquid manure?

MRS. HARRY S.

Yes, food at this time should enable them to produce large, perfectly formed flowers.

May I ask you to repeat the formula for grass seed you gave in your column last fall? I am going to my summer home and before I return in the autumn I want to have some grass seed sown.

ELSIE DE H.

Sow the following seed at the rate of three pounds per 1,000 square feet. Sow two ways, preferably at right angles:

40 per cent Kentucky bluegrass.
40 per cent chewing fescue.
10 per cent redtop rye.
5 per cent Italian rye.
5 per cent south German mixed bent or white clover, whichever preferred.

I have a young maple tree which is growing lop sided, would it harm it to prune it at this time?

NANCY D. W.

No.

Please tell me when to mow a new lawn. It is not sod, but grass grown from seed sown a few weeks ago.

MRS. CARL N. L.

You may begin to mow a new lawn, whenever you see the blades are tall enough to reach between the knives of the mower.

FARM HOUSE BURNS NEAR DRANESVILLE

Explosion in Brooder Coop Causes Loss of Residence Valued at $5,000.

Fire, believed to have originated from an exploding coal oil heater in a small brooder house, destroyed the home of Glen M. Sharpe, on the estate of Maj. Hobart H. Hawkins, of 2400 Sixteenth street northwest, Washington, near Dranesville, Va., yesterday morning.

The brooder house was in the rear of a smokehouse a short distance from the back door of the home. Mrs. Sharpe was alone in the house, and, accordnig to her statement, had lit the brooder stove about 5 minutes before the fire was discovered. She said she was expecting a shipment of baby chicks in the morning mail, and planned to warm the house for their arrival.

She discovered the blaze when the jars of fruit stored in the smokehouse began to explode from the heat. The small building was quickly consumed and flying embers from it caught on the roof of the home.

Neighbors carried the furniture from the blazing building and notified the Herndon Volunteer Fire Department, some 6 miles away. The firemen were hampered in their efforts by the lack of water. A bucket brigade from the fire engine to a small stream nearby was formed to keep the booster tank filled, with which the flames were kept from spreading.

Fire Chief Walter Farr estimated the damage as $5,000.

Clifford Brooke Lauds Advertising

Vital to Life of Industry, He Says at Session of Capital Club.

"Without cleverly planned advertising and publicity, the stage and the motion picture could not exist," said Clifford Brooke, director of the National Theater Players, in a talk yesterday before the Advertising Club of Washington at the Raleigh Hotel.

A good play and a good picture, said Brooke, present many opportunities for well-considered advertising and cleverly planned publicity. He said he had seen this demonstrated many times during his connections in Hollywood and in England.

Ernest Johnston, chairman of the spring frolic committee of the club, reported that a lavish program of entertainment had been arranged for that event. Maxine Doyle, Earle Theater mistress of ceremonies, and Wesley Eddy, from the Palace, will be headliners on the program.

Model Basin Officials Hold Informal Dinner

The Bureau of Construction and Repair of the Navy Department was represented by Capt. W. P. Robert and Commander A. J. Chantry. The Bureau of Standards was represented by Dr. L. B. Tuckerman, of the Division of Mechanics and Sound, and Dr. H. N. Eaton, head of the new hydraulics laboratory, and Dr. Walter L. Cheney and Dr. Edgar W. Woolard represented George Washington University.

CANADA-RUSSIA DEAL FOR TRADE LAUNCHED

U. S. S. R. dropped 90 per cent. During that period American exports amounted to $3,659,046, as against $44,012,702 for the same period in 1931. Imports from the Soviets for the same three months declined 10 per cent, from $2,563,462 to $2,291,843.

The Canadian government has enjoyed, through the British recognition of Soviet Russia, all the advantages of the normal relations between the two countries. This has been carried on in the face of the recent incident in Ottawa, when the Canadian government expelled the Soviet consul general on the charge that he had been implicated in the spread of antireligious literature throughout the dominion. When the Canadian officials had thoroughly investigated the case, they found that the charges had been brought as a result of faulty and imperfect translation.

American Exporters Concerned.

The acquisition of other markets in lieu of the American markets seems to be a policy which is extending in other directions to the growing concern of American exporters. The trade agreement which has been carried on for some time between Soviet Russia and Italy has resulted in increased work for Italian shipyards, while the raw materials of Russia are findin, a ready market in Italian industrial organization.

The sudden development of Canadian-Soviet trade has had a great impetus in the important purchases of spring and winter wheat by Soviet agents in Winnipeg, who are buying the Canadian wheat and shipping it in Canadian bottoms to the Far East.

Increasing tension in the Far East has brought the matter of food materials to the fore and Canadian farmers are supplying the orders of Soviet purchasers. Some time ago, it was reported to the State Department that considerable portion of the rolling stock of the Chinese Eastern Railroad had been shunted to the Soviet stations on the road for the transportation of grain and other food supplies. The result had been at a certain moment so drastic that the newly formed government of Manchoukuo had declared an embargo on the sale of any more grain to the Soviets.

The orders for Canadian wheat were placed in the Winnipeg exchange shortly after that and have continued at an even greater ratio of development.

An anomalous situation has been created in Canada through the considerable number of American firms established with branch factories in Canada. It has not been definitely ascertained yet whether the agents of the Soviet government are discriminating against these American-owned industrial units.

HERNDON FIREMEN GO IN ACTION

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

If you can hark 'way back into the distant past to yesterday's column, you may recall that a few words were set down concerning Loretta Young's new house. Loretta's, it seems, is not the only Hollywood home in which Hubbard Keavy, chief of our West Coast feather-in-the-breeze department has been snooping around.

He found the bizarre menage presided over by Dolores Del Rio, whose husband is Cedric Gibbons, art director and set designer—"Grand Hotel" is one of his jobs, come to think of it—an example of super-modernistic plan and decor that had him blinking to such an extent the first half-hour that he didn't hear a word of the conversation that was addressed to him.

Such a house! In a canyon in Los Angeles' neighbor, Santa Monica, its windowless side is the first view one catches of it. It is built of white stone and resembles at first glance a severely plain repository for government archives, or something. The front door is huge and appears to be made of steel. That's odd, too, because it is!

Think of the most modernistic room or house you have ever seen in the movies, advises Mr. Keavy, and you will have some idea of the strange kind of place Dolores lives in.

Gibbons, he opines further, must have conceived a home for some scene in a motion picture and then decided it was a trifle too fantastic and so built it to live in himself!

Despite its severe simplicity, it is surprisingly livable and warm-looking—even with its concealed radio, mantle with two sides that do not match, vases that look like inverted pistons and more angles than Flora Finch!

Well, if you like that sort of thing!

Incidentally, if "Bird of Paradise," which she has just completed with Joel McCrea, isn't a good picture, it is extremely probable that Dolores Del Rio will give up the screen for good and all.

In the given contingency, she has determined to retire because her previous two pictures were not quite all that they should have been and she feels that three duds in a row ought to be enough for anyone.

Miss Del Rio seems to feel that it is practically no fun at all being in unsuccessful pictures and that since "I'm in love, happy, contented and have everything I want, why should I spend my time worrying?"

I'll bite.

Frank Ravenscroft, Rodney Collier and Rheinhold Wallach, of the Rialto Theater's executive staff, motored to Baltimore yesterday afternoon to call on Carl Laemmle, president of Universal Pictures, lessee of the Ninth street house, who is a patient at Johns Hopkins Hospital.

While the trip was prompted primarily by their concern over their prexy's condition, I dare say there was a word or two of the theater's future worked into the conversation now and again.

Now don't try to go to the Rialto today! It closed for the summer last night.

But do not get the notion that all is closing in Washington with never anything opening. Pull up a chair.

Walter Von Herbulis, director of the Club Michel, occupying the former Le Paradis property at No. 1 Thomas Circle, announces the opening of the "Marine Roof" tonight, weather permitting.

Completely redecorated and boasting a new dance floor, the Club Michel will be the summer Mecca for smart Washington, so Mr. Sigmund tells me. The roof has been transformed into a ship's deck, from the ornamental life preservers even to the waiters' nobby, nautical uniforms.

Mr. Von Herbulis has been fighting the depression for weeks by spending several thousands of dollars in getting his Marine Roof all shipshape. Scores of men have been working for weeks—well, two or three, anyhow—all to offer Washington its most novel summer dancing rendezvous.

The Capital's favorite dance orchestra, directed by Pete Macias, will be the outstanding feature on the Marine Roof. And do they look swell in their uniforms! You're asking me!

As usual, Marty Rubin, concerning whose many generous endowments as an entertainer I receive more mail—much of it from a single smitten source—than you might think, Moe Baer, Charlie Wright and the rest of the boys will be on deck nightly.

Have a time table: Dinner dancing every evening from 6:30 to 9:30; supper dancing, every night from 9:30 to 1 a. m. The Marine Roof will not be open on Sundays.

And this ship's deck business is so realistic, no fooling, that I suggest you bring your own Mothersills Remedy with you!

Marian Chace and Lester Shafer have arranged the program for their second annual school recital, to be given at Wardman Park, Friday, May 27, at 8:30 p. m., in three sections.

The first part will be devoted to "Music Visualizations," in which Miss Chace will execute the solo numbers; the second, in lighter vein, with both Miss Chace and Mr. Shafer appearing prominently, and the third will present authentic research in the dance lore of several countries.

The principals will be supported by a large and talented ensemble.

Personal note to Eddie Melcher and Billy Kenney: Thanks for the wire and the card relating to the National Theater Players' testimonial. It was thoughtful and you are both swell actors. There are only a few of us left—Melcher and Kenney and Sothern and Skinner and one or two more!

Watch that "Film Time Tables" in another column. Five de luxe performances at Loew's Fox today, beginning as early as 10:10 a. m.

A long letter from Lou Brown, formerly in charge of advertising and publicity at the Fox Theater in this city, written on a Warner Bros.' letterhead of the Stanley-Mark Strand Corporation, from the Lincoln Theater in Troy, N. Y., brings the information that since a week ago last Monday Lou has been on the pay roll of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer as a happy harbinger of "Grand Hotel" in up-State New York territory.

At the time of writing he had covered three towns, Kingston, Utica and Troy, in all of which the picture now at the Columbia was scheduled to open this week.

Charlie Kurtzman, erstwhile personal representative of Harry Arthur, who did considerable erstwhiling on his own account as general manager of all Fox Theaters in the East, had been in Troy just ahead of Lou, as a representative of Paramount. Mr. Brown further reports that friends of Jack Hurford and Tom Olsen, formerly of the Fox here, both of whom have New York up-Stated extensively in their day, are so thick that you have to be careful not to step on them.

Now, what else do you want to know, or would you rather read my mail?

Speaking of former Foxites—if that is what they are—several were in town on Wednesday, among them Muriel La France, coloratura soprano, so popular in the days of Jack Stebbins' incumbency as managing director; Alexander Oumansky, who brought the ballet known as the Foxettes to a high point of perfection, and Jack Shour, former house treasurer.

Miss La France is now engaged in radio work in Chicago, and was for a long period soloist with Paul Whiteman at the Edgewater Beach Hotel in that city. Mr. Oumansky—accompanied by Mrs. Oumansky—is just back from an extended sojourn in Berlin and is now associated with the Russian Grand Opera Co., appearing in this country. Mr. Shour has quit the theater business and taken up a commercial line, in which he is meeting with gratifying success.

All were here in connection with an appealed lawsuit, brought by a dancer who suffered a foot injury while professionally engaged on the stage.

Well, that's the way it goes. Same thing every day. Items come and items go—the grand what t'ell—but nothing ever happens.

ARBITRATION IS AIM IN COMMISSION ROW

Judge Mattingly to Be Asked to Settle Dispute in Bladensburg.

The announcement that both factions of the Board of Commissioners of Bladensburg were willing to submit the altercation over the town elections to Judge Joseph C. Mattingly for arbitration, and a statement that Elroy Gasch had not withdrawn as a member of the board were yesterday's developments in the fight which has raged since the town elections on May 2.

J. Wilson Ryon, attorney for the old board, said yesterday that Judge Mattingly, who presides over the Prince George County Circuit Court, would be a mediator satisfactory to his clients. The Greater Bladensburg Citizens Association, which backs the other faction, has already expressed its approval of the justice by making the original suggestion that he be chosen.

Elroy Gasch was one of three new commissioners elected on May 2, the others being W. R. Beattie and Milton Ellsworth Poole. Claiming that Gasch did not own $300 worth of property in the town, one of the qualifications for holding office, the old board of commissioners declared the election invalid. Reports were current that Mr. Gasch had agreed to withdraw from the board, but Mr. Beattie denied these.

The three new members held a meeting shortly after the election and demanded that the town property and books be turned over to them by the old board. This, composed of Frank Mace, Samuel Mostow and three others, then voided the election. Mr. Mace and Mr. Mostow were reelected, but were not present at the first meeting of the new board, when Mr. Beattie was chosen president and Mr. Poole was selected as clerk.

In preparation for the legal fight which threatened until the suggestion of a mediator was made, both sides retained attorneys. The old board chose Mr. Ryon, while the new members asked Seator Lansdale G. Sasscer to represent them. The executive board of the association has been directed to ask Judge Mattingly to serve as arbitrator.

FRIDAY MAY 20, 1932 SPORTS

48,000 SEE NATS TROUNCE YANKS TWICE, 8-6, 12-7

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

WASHINGTON as the scene of the Army-Navy football classic of 1932, which appeared a bright possibility a few weeks ago, now seems to be only an abandoned brain-child of the District of Columbia Bicentennial Commission.

What has become of the muchly-discussed service game that was to feature the Bicentennial sports program in the Capital during the year of the observance of the 200th anniversary of the birth of the First President and first commander in chief of both the Army and Navy?

Developments which seemed warm on the trail of the classic for Washington apparently have cooled, for no word, favorable or otherwise, has been announced by the Bicentennial heads who were charged with the success of obtaining the game for Washington after the House of Representatives in a unanimous resolution had proposed such a contest.

An Army-Navy game would put the Bicentennial sports program over the top, competitively, artistically and financially, and the possibility warrants the cooperation of every District agency. If the Bicentennial chiefs are unable to proceed through the proper channels, the aid of the Chamber of Commerce, or the Merchants and Manufacturers Association, or both, doubtless would be easily enlisted.

The District Commissioners, with an avenue of approach to the President, might well suggest to Mr. Hoover the many advisabilities of an Army-Navy game in Washington this fall. Certain it is that the possibilities of the game should be pressed to the utmost. It would be too grand an event for Washington to lose after the encouragement received from Congress.

The Bicentennial Commission of the District has been repeatedly asked for developments in its efforts to obtain the game, and promises of news, favorable news, have been made repeatedly, but have been unfulfilled.

If the efforts entailed in obtaining the game are beyond the ability and scope of the Bicentennial Commission, then it would be shameful to allow the matter to drop for the want of capable sponsors. The Bicentennial may still be working for the game, but if so, its efforts must be equipped with a Maxim silencer.

As this department has noted before, the entire Bicentennial sports program is dependent upon an outstanding feature like the Army-Navy game, and seemingly this event has been tossed into the laps of the Bicentennial Commission by Congress' action. The eminent gentlemen on the commission need look no further for their feature sports event.

An Army-Navy game here would unquestionably overshadow any other single event on the Bicentennial program and the country at large would know through such a medium that Washington is indeed taking the lead in the observance of the year. Flag raising and parades are very worthy items, indeed, in the 1932 program, but hardly sufficient to command the national attention that a service football classic would focus upon the Nation's Capital.

If there is any real reason why the game should not be played in Washington, let us have the answer. But this column can discern none. Both Army and Navy are itching to resume their former rivalry and are awaiting only the command from the Cabinet heads or the President.

Washington is the logical site of the game. The Bicentennial Year is the logical time to honor the first commander in chief of both branches of the service with a game dedicated to his memory; the game would be the salvation of the once pretentious Bicentennial sports program, and if other reasons are necessary this column will not have to look far afield to turn them up.

Or, perhaps, I'm wrong.

Foxx's Clout, 3 On, Beats Red Sox 4-2

Philadelphia, May 19 (A.P.).—Jimmy Foxx's eleventh home run c. the season came with the bases filled in the first inning today to give the Athletics a 4-to-2 victory over the Red Sox.

The homer followed upon a single, a double and a walk off Kline. He was yanked after Williams followed Foxx's drive with a single. Lisenbee blanked the Athletics the rest of the way, allowing only two hits.

Reach Semifinals in Chevy Chase Invitation Tourney.

Columbia Ace Beats Burrows, 4 and 2, in Feature Play.

If there are no upsets, but not even a Solomon is wise enough to predict what will be the actual outcome of a golf match, the final round in the Chevy Chase spring invitation tournament should be played this afternoon between Harry G. Pitt, District amateur champion, who survives as a semifinalist in the upper bracket of the first sixteen, and Roland Mackenzie, who is in the lower half.

Pitt is paired against J. Monro Hunter, jr., unattached, and Mackenzie will play against Frederick Hitz, of the Chevy Chase Club.

In reaching the semifinals Pitt had defeated Byrn Curtiss, the youthful golfer of Indian Spring, 3 and 2, in the morning, and D. Clarke Corkran, once medalist in the national amateur championship at Mecion, 3 and 1, in the afternoon. Hunter reached the semifinals by defeating R. H. Lunn, Chevy Chase, 2 and 1, in the morning round, and eliminating Joseph P. Lynch, the Georgetown University star, 2 and 1, in the afternoon.

Hitz Wins Long Battle.

Fred Hitz had as his victim, D. W. Atheron, George Washington, in the morning round, and in the afternoon met Howard Nordlinger, Woodmont, who had demolished John Slattery, another star player of Georgetown University, in the forenoon. In the afternoon Hitz had a real battle against Nordlinger and won only on the nineteenth hole.

A large gallery began to follow the Pitt-Corkran match in the afternoon, but soon faded away, for the exhibition of golf which the two displayed did not have a single thrill. In fact, Corkran, who was finally defeated, 3 and 1, confessed after the match that he had never played a worse game of golf in his life. Both players were decidedly off their game.

On the other hand the match between Mackenzie and Bradley H. Burrows, runner-up in the Chevy Chase tournament last year, was a contest which well repaid the scores of golfers who gathered as the story of their struggle was echoed around the course. Mackenzie, who was his former self as a golfer, and this is saying a great deal, was out in 36, one stroke over par, but even with this score he was only 1 up at the turn.

1,010 Golf Entries For National Open

Billy Burke, 1931 Champ, Barely Beats Deadline for Big Tourney.

New York, May 19 (A.P.).—Entries for the 1932 United States open golf championship total 1,010, only 131 fewer than last year, it was announced today.

Qualifying competition for all but 32 players will be held in 20 districts during the first week in June. Thus a total of 978 will seek 118 places in the field, limited to 150, which will play the 72-hole championship route at the Fresh Meadow Country Club, Flushing, Long Island, June 23, 24 and 25.

The exempt list consists of the 30 low scorers in the 1931 tournament, headed by the champion Bill Burke, besides two foreign stars, Jose Jurado, of Argentina, and Tomekichi Miyamoto, of Japan.

Four players who will compete in the British open June 6-10 are entered—Miyamoto, Tommy Armour, Gene Sarazen and Macdonald Smith. All are exempted from the qualifying rounds.

GENE VENZKE BEATEN AT 1,000 YDS.

Record-Holder Third Behind Rosner and Bullwinkle.

NEW YORK, May 19 (A.P.).—Gene Venzke, holder of the world's indoor mile record, was beaten in his first outdoor race of the season tonight. He finished third behind Otto Rosner and George Bullwinkle, of the New York Athletic Club, in the 1,000-yard run at the New York Curb Exchange track and field meet held in Lewisohn Stadium.

Rosner ran a well-judged race to defeat the crack field of five, including Frank Nordell and James Maloney, of New York University, and E. P. Cahalan, of the Boston Athletic Association.

Coming up from fourth place as the gun barked the start of the final lap, the diminutive little runner opened a long lead, with Venzke running strong in second place. The indoor-mile champion managed to close much of the space and the pair swung into the short stretch with Rosner leading only by inches.

Venzke was unable to answer Rosner's final burst of speed, however, and staggered across the line as Bullwinkle closed with a great burst of speed to finish a yard back of the winner.

Leo Sexton, former Georgetown star, competing from scratch, could do no better than second in the 16-pound shot put with a heave of 50 feet 5 inches. Abe Itskowits, of New York University, aided by a 6-foot handicap, tossed the ball 52 feet 9 inches to win the event.

George Spitz, holder of the world's indoor record of 6 feet 8½ inches, leaped 6 feet 4 inches to win the running high jump.

Cubs Win, 4-3, in 12th On Stephenson's Single

Cincinnati, May 19 (A.P.).—Stephenson's single in the twelfth, scoring Richbourg, today gave the league-leading Cubs a 4-to-3 decision in the first game of a series with the third place Cincinnati Reds. It was his second timely hit, both under similar circumstances.

Petrolle Favorite To Beat Battalino

Chicago, May 19 (A.P.).—Billy Petrolle, the "Fargo Express," and Bat Battalino, the "Hartford Thunderbolt," collide head on for a second time at the Chicago Stadium tomorrow night, with nothing but a gory, vicious battle in sight.

The battle, one that promises to attract a crowd of 15,000 with a gross gate around $45,000, was a "natural" with Petrolle the favorite because of his knockout victory over the "Bat" two months ago in New York.

Shikat Beats Cantonwine At Park

By BOB CONSIDINE.

DICK SHIKAT, who is so good he is not trusted far enough for a match with Jim Londos, champion of the most prosperous mat corporation, was made to look excessively bad last night by Howard Cantonwine, late of the University of Iowa, but Shikat made the world safe for the form book and won in 36 minutes of bump-raising battle.

It was the first outdoor show of the year, and in honor of the occasion Shikat and Cantonwine staged a brawl which must have looked to the forgetful man in the moon like some titanic struggle between two enraged primeval mammals, wallowing in the original mire of the earth.

So great was their evident fatigue, near the end of the match, that a gentle zephyr sweeping across Mr. Griffith's ball yard would have toppled both of them. Indeed, Shikat won on no particular hold. They were standing in a corner, with their arms around each other and their tongues hanging out, when Cantonwine, with all his college degree and fame as a dilettante and epicure, could no longer withstand the horrible drag of gravity, and fell backward with a long-drawn sigh of relief.

Shikat Lands On Top.

Shikat also fell, because he seemed too weary to let go of his big beer-chested colleague. Shikat landed on top.

The mat game for the first time forays into the fine old field of burlesque in the travesty between Leo Pinetzki and Fritz Kley. It was a draw, of course, since both have very excellent reputations to uphold. Kley has an abnormal spine which accentuates certain portions of his body.

He squirmed away from the lumbering mountain Pinetzki with much hula-hula hipshifting, and Jimmy Lake, who operates the local burleycue emporium, is unreliably reported to have attempted to sign up the rubber-jointed German to show his own heavyweights the gentle art of muscle manipulation.

Matros (Mattress) Kirilenko, the downy Russian, beat Milo Steinborn in 14 minutes by swinging the pugnacious strong man by the heels and then submitting him to about 20 rolling flying mares, three ghastly stomach butts and a sit-on-'em holt. Sam Stein used up eight minutes of the time in his match with Alex Aberg, whose head is as barren of hair as the Chevy Chase Club is of hot dogs.

In the first match of the evening Sandor Szabo won a popular decision over Herb Freeman in 20 minutes. Freeman was a substitute for George Calza, who was unable to appear, having lost two falls the night before to a double order of spaghetti Italienne.

Pirates Pound Shaute To Beat Dodgers, 3-2

Pittsburgh, May 19 (A.P.).—The Pirates hit Joe Shaute hard today and finally made a couple of their blows good for two runs in the eighth inning and defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers, 3 to 2. The victory gave Pittsburgh an even break for the four games here.

National League Repeals Silence Rule as Unpopular

NEW YORK, May 19 (A.P.).—The National Baseball League today announced it has rescinded its much discussed and criticized rule prohibiting ball players on the field from speaking to anyone in the stands.

The rule was adopted this year after considerable discussion and a fine of $5 set as the penalty for its infraction. Gabby Street, manager of the world champion St. Louis Cardinals, was the only manager or player to be reported and fined.

"The rule proved to be unpopular with public and press," President John Heydler said, "as well as with those engaged in the playing of the game. It is hereby rescinded."

The rule was said to have been passed largely as the result of circulation of a picture taken in Chicago, which showed a prominent ball player signing a baseball for Al Capone. The picture aroused considerable adverse comment.

Chicago, May 19 (A.P.).—So far there has been no movement to rescind the American League rule prohibiting players from talking with spectators at baseball games, President Will Harridge said today.

"Although the National League rescinded its rule as too unpopular, the rule in the American League still stands," Harridge said. "There hasn't been a suggestion among club owners to change it."

Washington Wins Pair of Slugfests, Taking First in Ten-Inning Thriller; Weaver Slated to Face Gomez Today

League Lead to Be in Balance When Clubs Resume.

Special to The Washington Post.

NEW YORK, May 19.—Senor Vernon Gomez, the Yankees' southpaw ace, is likely to draw the pitching assignment for New York tomorrow in the third game of the series, and Manager Walter Johnson plans to call on Monte Weaver. First place hinges on the result.

Johnny Kerr is doing clowning as a side line. Altrock and Schacht put on a new act between today's games and Johnny enacted the role of a sissy umpire and made quite a hit.

FIRST GAME NOTES.

ADOBE POST CIRCLES FIELD TO WIN CHURCHILL FEATURE

Choice Beats Cold Check 4 Lengths

Ha Ha Triumphs Over Microphone in Belmont Feature.

CHURCHILL DOWNS, Ky., May 19 (A.P.).—Knebelkamp and Morris' Adobe Post, a big disappointment in the Kentucky Derby, showed a return to his best form today when he easily defeated a small band of 3-year-olds in the Castlewood purse, a dash of 7 furlongs. At the wire the son of Cherokee and Ruth S. was merely galloping to lead Cold Check by four lengths. W. F. Knebelkamp's Hoops was third, two lengths back.

Oakland Farm's Flying Home, the extreme outsider in the betting, was first to show in front and cut out a sizzling pace to the last turn. There he was collared by Cold Check, which had been in closest early attendance, but the latter's lead also was short-lived.

Adobe Post, Blocked, Circles Field.

Adobe Post, taken back repeatedly and blocked when moving up on the rail, came around his field and closing with fine speed won going away with something left. Cold Check, while tiring, had little trouble outstaying Hoops, which outgamed Flying H me for the show. Minton, the only other starter, was outrun.

Ha Ha Laughs at Belmont Rivals.

Belmont Park Race Track, May 19 (A.P.).—Ha Ha, winner of three straight races and second in his only other performance at Jamaica, returned to his winning ways in the Hollis, a claiming stake down the Widener straightaway here today. Ha Ha won handily by a length and literally laughed at his contention all the way. The Latin Stable's colorbearer, with a breeze at his back, covered the 6 furlongs in 1:11 1-5, with the Sage Stable's Maryland winner Microphone always the one to force the pace. Fred Kraft's Judge Schilling was third, three lengths behind.

CAPTAINS DUKE NINE.

Durham, N. C., May 19 (A.P.).—Arthur T. Kersey, of Somerville, Mass., was today elected captain of the Duke University Baseball Team for the 1933 season. He plays second base.

TABBY, showing speed from the start, and always on the inside, drew into a good lead quickly and without severe urging after reaching the final quarter and maintaining good speed to the end, held BAGGAGE MISS safe. The latter, close up from the start, lost some ground at the turn, stood a light drive gamely, but could not get to TABBY. PROUD PRINCESS and lost some ground, rallied determinedly when urged and was going stoutly in the final strides. STIMOWAY improved position steadily and closed fast. THREE BEES, a strong factor from the start, was taken up when BRIGHT EMBLEM fell in stretch. SOEUR BLANCHE also was eased when BRIGHT EMBLEM went down. BRIGHT EMBLEM was moving up fast when she fell just inside the final eighth.

ELKHART, away slowly, but never far out of it, moved up on outside at the turn, quickly disposed of UPORME and, drawing into a long lead, weakened, but lasted. ABE FURST, under steady restraint the first half mile, closed gamely. PERFECT MODEL saved ground early, came to the outside at the stretch turn and stood strong urging gamely. FLYING CHEROKEE was strongest of all in late stages. MAID OF HONOR dropped out of it after a half mile. MENDELL made up ground in the stretch. SALLY IRENE quit. UPORME had good speed the first half mile, then stopped badly.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—BIG BUSINESS, $8.84, $5.32, $3.86; UNCLE HENRY, $17.86; TOWN LIMIT, $4.80.

BIG BUSINESS, away slowly, saved much ground when moving up at the turn, responded well to strong hand riding and, wearing down TOWN LIMIT, outstayed UNCLE HENRY. The latter, a factor from the start, saved much ground and, after closing quick approaching the final eighth, rallied well when shaken up near the end. TOWN LIMIT, taken into the lead, was well rated and bore out slightly when faltering. THE WIDOWER went sluggishly for a half mile, but was strongest of all in the final stages. KING COMMANDER, fractious at the post, had early speed. LADY WITT quit badly. DICK MORRIS, fractious at the post and taken to outside of stalls, refused when the break came.

FOURTH RACE—Five furlongs. Purse, $900; claiming. For 2-year-olds. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:29. Off at 3:37. Winner, Hal Price Headley's b. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—LIQUEUR, $6.04, $3.14, $3.32; GLORITONE, $2.86, $2.78; CHUCK B, $4.14.

LIQUEUR, showing most speed from the start, drew into a long lead at the turn, easily maintained command to the end and had something left. GLORITONE, much used at the post and away slowly, went to the front at the first furlong, held on well under hard driving and showed a fine effort. CHUCK B lost some ground and raced evenly. BOSTON WATERS was on inside much of the trip. AUF WIDERSEHN could not keep up. JUST UMBER placed on outside at the start, broke slowly. COAST PATROL unseated his rider and cantered a mile before the start.

ADOBE POST, taken back repeatedly during the first three-eighths, moved fast when called on and, racing into command, swerved sharply to inside in the final fifty yards, winning in hand. COLD CHECK, under energetic riding after reaching the lead briefly entering the three-eighths, held the lead briefly at the eighth, but was no match for the winner. HOOPS was on inside almost throughout and weakened, but outfinished FLYING HOME. The latter had good speed, was poorly rated and quit badly. MINTON had no mishaps.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $900; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:28. Off at 4:28½ by J. Stallings' b. h. ROYAL SPORT was well ridden and close up from the start, responded stoutly when called upon after coming to outside entering the stretch and, wearing down PETER DIXON, won thereafter. The latter, taken to the lead, made the early pace under good rating, could not withstand the winner, but held on well. EL PUMA, away slowly and far back first half mile, moved up fast on outside thereafter, wore down NOEL WOOD and SANDWRACK before reaching the final eighth and won thereafter. SANDWRACK, under steadying restraint first five-eighths, gained ground, but was not good enough. BRUSH DOWN, probably best and slow to get going, was sharply crowded back at the stretch turn, recovered slowly and closed with a rush. BLOW FLY weakened in the stretch. NOEL WOOD quit badly.

CATHOLIC U. TRACKMEN WIN

Maryland U. Beaten by 69 to 57

McGuigan Is Star of Cardinal Victory; Sets Record.

Boucher Leads as Old Line Cubs Trounce C. U. Yearlings.

DESPITE the absence on account of injury of its star dash man, Johnny Lyons, Catholic University's track team yesterday defeated Maryland University, 69 to 57, in the varsity division of a meet held in Brookland Stadium. While the varsity team registered its first triumph in history at the expense of the Old Line, the Cardinal Freshmen absorbed a one-sided beating from the Maryland yearlings, 88¾ to 27¼.

Plugging up the hole left by Lyons, Capt. Gayle McGuigan, the best runner Catholic has had in ten years, served in an emergency role and won both the 100 and 220 yard dashes. In addition, the Cardinal leader won the half-mile run and set a new stadium record of 1 minute 59 seconds. The old record of 2:01 was held jointly by himself and Johnny Hickey, who took third place in this event. McGuigan led the individual scorers with 15 points.

Charles Boucher, with 18 points, starred in the victory of the Maryland freshmen. He won the high jump, broad jump and high hurdles and took second in the pole vault.

Mrs. Meckley Defeated In Women's Golf Tourney

AS the outcome of the second round of match play on the Manor course yesterday in the annual contest for the women's golf championship of the District, there will be a new champion this year. Mrs. Betty P. Meckley, of the Indian Spring Club and the defending titleholder, was eliminated by Mrs. Dorothy White Nicolson, unattached, who has won the District championship no less than five times.

Mrs. Meckley, who has been playing under severe physical handicap, lost five holes in a row and was finally defeated, 5 and 4. This morning Mrs. Nicolson will meet her old-time rival, Mrs. J. C CLUB MEET DRAWS 30 SCHOOLS

Entry Record Broken for Track Carnival Here Tomorrow.

SHATTERING all records established during the fourteen-year history of the "C" Club track meet, 30 schools have sent their entries to the committee in charge, and 438 boys will participate in the giant cinder and sandpit carnival at Central Stadium Saturday afternoon. Last year 19 schools competed, entering 350 boys.

The 1931 meet was won by Eastern High in a sensational finish which saw that school boosted into first place in the final event of the day, the javelin. This year the meet seems fated to produce a new winner, for Eastern has been hit hard by graduations and at least half a dozen schools are materially strengthened over their last year performances.

The schools and number of entries follow:

Central, 36; Teach, 36; Eastern, 22; Western, 6; Mount St. Joseph, 19; Woodberry Forest, 34; John Marshall, Richmond, 13; Hyattsville, 7; Massanutten, 17; Charlotte (N. C.), 16; Gilman, 10; Episcopal, 36; Forest Park, 33; Georgetown Prep, 6; Swavely, 6; Charlotte Hall, 6; Staunton, 8; Baltimore Poly, 23; Sparrow's Point, 17; Takoma-Silver Spring, 14; National Training School, 1; Rockville, 8; Baltimore City College, 10; Harrisonburg (Va.) High, 2; Hargrave Military Academy, Chatham, Va., 1; Catonsville, 1; Elliot Junior High, 10; Paul Junior High, 16; Macfarland, 10; Powell, 15.

DIAMOND DUST FROM THE SANDLOTS

THE Waverly A. C. yesterday forfeited its franchise in the senior division of The Post's Capital City League because of its inability to play the first two games on its schedule. The majority of the players on the roster are members of the Eastern High School squad which is involved in a tie for the scholastic championship. Should Central win over Tech in their game today, which is most probable, a three-way tie for the title will exist between the Manual Trainers, Eastern and Western. The play-off series will not begin until next week, and it promises to extend over the better part of the week and possibly into a second seven days.

Rather than forfeit the first two games scheduled the Waverly Club voted to withdraw, entirely from the loop. Joe Bassin, Dicky Fitzgerald, the Mills brothers, Joe and Carl; Eddie Benjamin, Francis Cleary, "Sparky" Adams and Tom Nolan were among those who had signed with the team. They will seek berths with other league teams immediately following the close of the school campaign.

BRITT FIGHTS YOUNG VAN AT LAUREL

THE build-up for a Young Van-Henry Irving bout, considered a choice local fistic attraction, took a more significant turn yesterday when Promoter-Matchmaker Cornell signed Van and Sammy Britt, Philadelphia middleweight, to clash in six rounds on the opening card of Twin-City Arena next Monday night.

The Van-Britt match should afford the first real basis of comparison yet discovered between Van and Irving, as the latter has already defeated Britt. Irving gave the Philadelphian a decisive beating last Monday in Portner Arena, winning on a referee's decision after knocking Sammy through the ropes with a terrific right hand punch. Britt, however, weathered the blow and finished the fight on his feet.

Since Van defeated K. O. Burns, of Baltimore, who previously had beaten Britt, many of his followers have taken it for granted that he is Irving's equal, if not his superior. But there are other fans who doubt Van's ability to "take" the Northeast slugger, especially in view of Henry's showing against Britt.

In the forthcoming bout Van will seek to stretch his streak to eight victories. He has six knockouts and a decision triumph to his credit against no losses in professional competition.

Eastern Nine Downs Bethesda-Chevy Chase

In a game limited to seven innings by agreement, Eastern defeated Bethesda-Chevy Chase, 6-2, at Eastern yesterday. The victors took full advantage of the opportunity to polish up its bunting attack which is expected to figure prominently in the post-season championship play-off.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

ANNOUNCING THE ELMER TWITCHELL SPEECH BUREAU.

("Copies of the Congressional Record show the same identical speeches credited to Representatives LaGuardia and Buchanan. Evidently both had secured the speech from the same source. Recently, through similar error, identical excerpts were found in speeches by Gov. Roosevelt and former Gov. Smith."—News item.)

* * * *

MR. ELMER TWITCHELL today announced the formation of the Twitchell Non-Duplicating Speech Bureau—"Unused Speeches a Specialty"—to meet the obvious need of the campaign. "My bureau," announced Mr. Twitchell today, "will guarantee every speech with the original paint on it, absolutely unused, even for demonstrating purposes, or your money refunded!"

* * * *

The Twitchell prospectus reads:

WHY TAKE CHANCES ON MAKING SOMEBODY ELSE'S SPEECH?

Do you want the humiliation of making an address and discovering in the evening papers that it has been made by two other fellows? Certainly not!

BE SAFE WITH A TWITCHELL UNUSED ORATION!

POSITIVELY NO CARBON COPIES!

To make duplication impossible we eliminate the carbon copy, which is the root of all evil. We type but one copy and make the stenographer burn her notes! What could be safer?

* * * *

HOW TO GET A TWITCHELL SPEECH.

1. You order a speech. We send you the following questionnaire:

Name .....
Address .....
What type of speech do you desire?
Hot..... Cold..... Medium.....
(Mark with cross.)

Will you need classical references .....?

Check the great American with whom you wish to compare yourself. Lincoln ..... Washington ..... Hamilton ..... Jefferson ..... Jackson..... McKinley..... Cleveland ..... Grant ..... Wilson ..... Daniel Boone ..... Sheridan ....., Babe Ruth ..... Burgoo King .....

Will you want statistics, if so, on what .....?

Will you require gestures .....?

* * * *

Upon getting these facts the Twitchell Bureau functions at once, preparing a suitable speech and sending it to the Classical Reference Department, where any quotations from Shakespeare already used or about to be used are deleted. From here it is whisked to the Declaiming Chamber, where it is delivered by a basso before an audience selected for its diversified reactions.

* * * *

ONE of these jurors is a man who cries easily. Another is a fellow who cheers every time reference is made to the flag, Valley Forge or "the mothers and fathers of this glorious land." Still another leaps to his feet at any reference to capital and labor. In this way we get a typical mass reaction.

* * * *

Finally the speech meets its most severe test. It is taken to a large, drafty hall draped with flags and read to five habitues of political conventions, all of whom go to sleep on the slightest provocation. If two of these men are still awake when the speech is half over it is considered an exceptionally good speech. If one man remains with his eyes open at the conclusion of the address it is marked a Red Label speech and an additional charge of $3 is made.

* * * *

SO THIS IS GOTHAM!

I saw the Hippodrome give up
Its elephants and swimming tanks;
I saw the Winter Garden pass
From "runway nudes" to movie pranks;
I shed a tear the time they closed
Jim Churchill's and took Jack's away
But little did I dream I'd see
The Palace playing "four-a-day!"

"Mayor Walker Prostrated After Beer Parade."—headline. He walked all over town for beer and all he got was a case of hot dogs!

CAN YOU REMEMBER.

INDUSTRIES GRADED TO GUIDE INVESTORS

Power, Gas, Food Products and Phones Listed as "Fair to Good."

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

The position of the electric power and light, manufactured gas, food products and telephone industries is listed "fair" to "good" in an analysis of the industrial situation just completed by Moody's Investors Service and made public yesterday. The survey places the can manufacturing, chemical, electrical equipment, natural gas, petroleum, cigarette and snuff industries in a "fair" group.

Those whose position is described as "poor to fair" are: Agriculture, agricultural implements, apparel, automobiles, aviation, building, cement, coal, copper, cotton and cotton goods, fertilizer, leather and shoes, machinery and machine tools, meat packing, metals and motion pictures.

In this classification also are placed office and business equipment, paper, publishing and printing, radio, railroads, railway equipment, rayon, retail trade, shipping and shipbuilding, silk and silk mills, steel, sugar, tires and rubber, cigars, tractions, wool and woolen mills.

Investors Equity Acquired.

Shareholders in Washington and vicinity whose funds are invested to the extent of $10,000,000 in Tri-Continental Corporation will be interested to know that it has acquired assets of Investors Equity, Inc., valued at approximately $5,500,000 and has assumed $5,128,900 of 5 per cent debentures of the latter company.

The acquisition was effected following a special meeting of stockholders of Investors Equity, it was announced yesterday by Doremus & Co., at which the plan was approved by all the stock represented, constituting more than 77 per cent of the total outstanding.

Assets acquired by Tri-Continental are almost entirely in cash, bankers' acceptances and short-term Government securities, it was stated by the management. After giving effect to this transaction, the total of cash, acceptances, short-term notes and similar items held by Tri-Continental is approximately $12,000,000. The Investors Equity debentures constitute the corporation's only funded debt, it was stated.

Other Interest Held.

Tri-Continental Corporation, which is sponsored by J. & W. Seligman & Co., has a substantial interest in a service contract with Selected Industries, Inc. Including Selected Industries, this group of investment companies has assets, with securities at March 31 values, in excess of $64,000,000.

Tri-Continental is issuing 290,469 shares of its common stock to stockholders of Investors Equity, which is at the rate of a half share of Tri-Continental for each share of Investors Equity. In connection with the transaction, certain of the special interests held by Investors Equity are being turned over to Equity Shares, Inc., a new company, the stock of which will be distributed to stockholders of Investors Equity together with the common stock of Tri-Continental Corporation.

MARKET COMMENT

G. M.-P. Murphy & Co.—Industrial news continues bad, with some improvement in steel and automobile output offset by continued declines in power output and car loadings, but such indices might change quickly if industry generally came to the conclusion that no unsound or disturbing legislation is coming.

Westheimer & Co.—Market appears to be likely to hold within narrow range until some decisive development occurs in the news. Undertone shows slight betterment with drying up of liquidation, but with demand still limited.

Robert C. Jones & Co.—We again recommend the purchase of leading New York bank stocks and think they will show a substantial profit at an early date to those who buy at present low prices

Reserve Bank Aid For Cities Urged

New York Comptroller Asks Rules Extended to Buy Long-Term Bonds.

New York, May 19 (A.P.).—Charles M. Berry, comptroller of New York City, today urged extension of Federal Reserve rediscount facilities to include long-term bonds and financial paper of municipalities not now eligible for rediscount. Mr. Berry, addressing the convention of the National Association of Mutual Savings Banks, also said banks could aid the establishment of financially sound municipalities by refusing to do business with any city that neglects to put its financial house in order.

The comptroller suggested that a limit be placed on that part of the tax rate which is reserved for best service, a check he deemed necessary if tax rates are to be kept within reasonable bounds. Bonds issued for nonrevenue producing improvements, he said, should be limited to 40 per cent of the funded indebtedness of the municipality.

Mr. Berry attacked the policy of seeking new sources of revenue—a policy urged by Mayor Walker of New York—emphasizing the necessity of drastically reducing expenditures. The Federal Reserve, the comptroller said, would become a force for the improvement of municipal credit if it would accept such securities for rediscount under prescribed conditions. In effect, the Federal Reserve, by defining just how far it would accept the securities, would be helping the cities toward sound finances and would help to prevent bad borrowing.

A new 20-cent line of merchandise has been placed on sale at some of the larger F. W. Woolworth Co. stores in the New York metropolitan district. Plans call for the introduction of the line in other stores here as rapidly as conditions justify, the company announces.

BIG GAIN IN RESERVE BANK CREDIT SHOWN

Increase of $18,000,000 in Money in Circulation Also Reported.

(Associated Press.)

The daily average volume of Federal Reserve Bank credit outstanding during the week ended May 18 was reported yesterday by the Federal Reserve Banks as $1,944,000,000, an increase of $49,000,000 compared with the preceding week and of $1,027,000,000 compared with the corresponding week in 1931.

On May 18 total Reserve Bank credit amounted to $1,988,000,000, a rise of $89,000,000 for the week. This corresponds with increases of $18,000,000 in money in circulation and $48,000,000 in member bank reserve balances and a decrease of $40,000,000 in monetary gold stock.

It was offset in part by an increase of $28,000,000 in Treasury currency, adjusted, and a decrease of $7,000,000 in unexpended capital funds and nonmember deposits.

Holdings of discounted bills increased $7,000,000 at the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco and decreased $5,000,000 at Chicago, $4,000,000 at Cleveland, and $6,000,000 at all Federal Reserve Banks combined.

The system's holdings of bills bought in open market declined $2,000,000.

Holdings of United States bonds increased $13,000,000, of Treasury notes $11,000,000 and of Treasury certificates and bills $57,000,000.

Bills bought, 41—2.

U. S. Government securities, 1,466+81.

Other Reserve Bank credit, 16—3.

Total Reserve Banks credit, 1,988+69.

Treasury currency, adjusted, 1,799+28.

Money in circulation, 5,449+18.

Capital funds, &c., 421—7.

Brokers' Loans Decline $24,000,000 in Week

(Associated Press.)

Loans to brokers and dealers held by New York Federal Reserve member banks for the week ended May 18, were announced by the Federal Reserve Board yesterday as $414,000,000, a decrease of $24,000,000, compared to the preceding week.

The loans for the week ended May 20, 1931, were $1,631,000,000.

The detailed distribution of the loans as of May 18 was:

For own account, $367,000,000.

Out-of-town banks, $41,000,000.

Account of others, $6,000,000.

Firmer Stocks Stage Gains; Bonds Continue New Lows

Turnover on Exchange Is Small, With Most Industrials Slightly Higher; Listed Loans Yield to Liquidation; Curb Tone Improves.

By JOHN L. COOLEY.

New York, May 19 (A.P.).—Stocks were reasonably firm today in the face of a weak bond market, but the small turnover somewhat obscured actual accomplishments and made difficult a very accurate appraisal.

Tobacco shares softened and some utilities appeared to be still under the influence of yesterday's electric power production figures. Most industrials, however, closed with moderate net gains, while rails barely moved.

The market sagged in the first hour, but assumed a more cheerful tone toward noon and thereafter pulled slowly upgrade, with certain exceptions. Liggett & Myers "B," American Tobacco "B," Pacific Gas, Pacific Lighting, Southern California Edison, Colgate-Palmolive-Peet and several preferred stocks showed virtually no recuperation.

Several Gains Recorded.

Nevertheless, American Telephone, U. S. Steel, Nationall Biscuit, General Electric, American Can, Allied Chemical, Coca Cola and Standard Oil of New Jersey closed with gains that ranged up to a point or more. Oils were particularly firm.

Dividend news included omissions by Atlantic Coast Line and its controlled line, Louisville & Nashville, but both actions had been expected.

It was hard to find news of financial interest, though brokerage houses followed closely such Washington developments as the Senate market inquiry and the revenue bill debate.

Possibly the heavier margin requirements placed on short sales invoked some covering.

The gloomy story of unprofitable steel operations was gone over by executives of that industry at their spring meeting. Speakers were optimistic toward the long-term outlook, but the tenor of their remarks was that a balanced national budget, reduced governmental expenditures and credit restoration were necessary prerequisites.

Reserve Bank Buying.

Government security purchases by Federal Reserve Banks increased $81,000,000 in the week ended May 18. This is smaller than recent increases, which have averaged $100,000,000, but it was pointed out that the system will probably be content to operate on a smaller scale for a while, at the same time keeping excess reserves of member banks around their current level and working for an expansion of credit in the interior. Discounts this week are down only about $7,000,000.

New York City member banks increased their investments of other than Government securities by $9,000,000, loans were reduced $11,000,000, about evenly divided between security and "all other" accounts, but this was a relatively small deflation. Sales of Federal obligations amounted to $67,000,000, so there was a total drop of $69,000,000 in loans and investments. The $24,000,000 loss in brokers' loans occurred chiefly in New York banks' own accounts.

Loss of gold to Europe continued, Switzerland taking most of the $6,972,900, exported. Release from earmark totaled $298,600. Foreign exchange dealers reported a substantial premium on guilder futures, which suggested existence of a large speculative position against dollars at Amsterdam. Spot quotations for Dutch currency were steady.

Bonds Still Lower.

The bond market continued its explorations into new low territory today and all categories of listed loans participated, to a greater or less degree, in the liquidating expedition.

Weakness of United States Government issues and railway liens had an unsettling effect on both the utilities and industrials, although the latter groups showed much greater resistance.

Trading volume was the largest in the past two weks, sales totaling $12,758,000, par value. The average for 60 principal securities declined sixtenths of a point.

There was no especially depressing news to account for today's downturn. The Government section was supposed to have been affected by reports that the Federal Reserve System might relax its purchasing program. During the last week, however, the Reserve Banks added some $80,000,000 more in Government obligations to their holdings. This compares with $98,000,000 in the previous week.

1 to 3 Point Losses.

Losses of from 1 to 3 or more points were common among the carriers. Michigan Central 4½s, on the first sale this year, dropped 50 points. Texas Pacific 5s of 1977 and 1980 lost 17½ and 19 points, respectively; Baltimore & Ohio first 4s were off 9 and Chicago & Northwestern general 5s gave up 7⅛ points. These, however, were exceptions.

Atchison general 4s were the heaviest traded of the rails. They rallied somewhat, but closed with a net loss of ¾ of a point. Weakness was shown by liens of Chesapeake & Ohio, Allegheny Corporation, Missouri Pacific, Erie, St. Paul, Hudson & Manhattan, New York Central, Northern Pacific, Pennsylvania and Wabash.

Communications company loans, led by American Telephone, recovered some of their earlier declines. Power and light corporation liens sagged. Bonds of Paramount-Famous-Lasky, Paramount Publix, Paramount Broadway, Pathe Exchange and Keith Corporation registered new 1932 lows, with losses of from 1 to 7 points. Most of the oils steadied.

Foreign obligations were relatively steady. Both the French 7s and 7½s firmed, as did bonds of Austria, Brisbane City, Queensland and New South Wales. German government 5½s were heavy. British 5½s were strong, maintaining their previous high level around 103.

Curb Market Firms.

The Curb Market remained under pressure in spots today, although the more active issues firmed up, in sympathy with the big board, in the late trading.

The market closed irregularly lower, nevertheless, with a number of the thinly traded issues off sharply. Utilities were under considerable pressure for a time. Oils were again in best demand.

Electric Bond & Share was sold in large volume, getting down to a new low for the present shares, at 9, off ¾ of a point. It closed at 9¼. American Gas & Electric sold off a point, then recovered to finish a small fraction higher. Commonwealth Edison recovered most of a 1½-point loss. United Light "A" sold at 2½, off ⅛, and a new low.

In the oils, Standard of Indiana reacted a fraction, then pushed up to close at 18½ for a net gain of ⅜. Standards of Kentucky and Ohio were also firm. Gulf rose 2 points, to 32. Tobaccos were heavy in sympathy with that group on the big board. Philip Morris and Tobacco and Allied were off fractionally. In the mining group Consolidated Mining made one of its infrequent appearances, trading at 29, off 9, and a new low.

Among the thinly traded industrials, Acme Steel appeared at 10, off more than 5, and a new bottom, while Singer Manufacturing and Mapes Consolidated each traded 4 points lower. Aluminum Co. sagged a point to a new minimum at 23½, then recovered fractionally.

DIVIDEND IS OMITTED BY L. & N. RAILROAD

Payment Withheld to Meet Charges and Maturities; Earnings Decline.

New York, May 19 (A.P.).—Directors of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Co. at their meeting today decided to omit the dividend due at this time.

Omission of the dividend, said Lyman De Lano, chairman of the board, was due to the continued decline in the road's earnings.

Directors of the company decided that in order to conserve the company's cash resources and protect its fixed charges and maturities it would not be in the best interests of the company and its stockholders to declare a dividend at this time, the chairman's statement said.

Louisville & Nashville paid its latest dividend six months ago, $2 a share. The previous payment was $2.50 and prior to that the stock was on a $7 annual basis for many years.

Atlantic Coast Line.

The Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Company, today omitted a dividend on its common stock. Six months ago the road paid $2, having previously been on a $7 annual basis.

Mr. DeLano also is chairman of the board of Atlantic Coast Line.

Nickel Plate Earnings.

The New York, Chicago & St. Louis Railroad (Nickel Plate System) reports a deficit after charges for April of $401,544 compared with surplus of $334,985 for April, 1931. April gross revenues totaled $2,534,527 compared with $3,345,465 in 1931.

For the first four months this year the road had a deficit after charges of $1,416,675, compared with surplus of $845,281 in the 1931 period.

Crucible Steel Co.

Directors of Crucible Steel Co. have omitted the quarterly dividend of $1.75 on the preferred stock due at this time, it was announced today.

Northern Pipe Line.

The Northern Pipe Line Co. has declared a dividend of 25 cents on the $10 par stock, payable July 1, to stock of record June 17, it was announced today.

This is an initial dividend on the new stock, which was created recently through a change in the par value from $50.

Pan-American Petroleum.

The Pan-American Petroleum & Transport Co. reports for the year ended December 31, 1931, net profit of $2,539,866, after interest, depreciation, depletion, Federal taxes and other charges. This compares with net profit of $13,743,524 in 1930.

The Mexican Petroleum Co., controlled by Pan-America Petroleum & Transport, had a 1931 net loss of $6,131,724, compared with net profit of $2,374,561 in 1930.

Engineers Public Service.

The Engineers Public Service Co. today declared a dividend of 25 cents on the common stock, payable July 1 to stock of record June 17. Three months ago the company paid 35 cents.

The Cheseborough Manufacturing Co. today declared the usual extra dividend of 50 cents together with the regular quarterly of $1, both payable June 30 to stock of record June 9.

The General American Tank Car Corporation reports for the quarter ended March 31 net profit of $378,000 after charges and Federal taxes, equal to 50 cents a share on the outstanding stock. This compares with $1,204,000, or $1.47 a share in the first quarter of 1931.

Seeman Brothers, Inc., in a preliminary statement reports March quarter net profit of $86,433, equal to 76 cents a share on the outstanding stock, compared with $117,272, equal to 94 cents a share on the March quarter last year.

United Electric Coal companies reports for the quarter ended April 30 net income of $137,613 after depreciation, depletion, Federal taxes and other charges. This compares with net incomes of $68,149 in the corresponding quarter last year.

With the slipping from the dividend list of Atlantic Coast Line and Louisville & Nashville, the number of railroad common stocks remaining on a dividend basis is reduced almost to the vanishing point. The action of the Walters roads today in omitting payments follows closely upon similar action by the New York Central and Southern Pacific.

STEEL LEADERS SAY DECLINE IS HALTED

Little Change in Conditions Noted at Present; Price Levels Maintained.

New York, May 19 (A.P.).—Leading steel manufacturers, here for the semiannual meeting of the American Iron & Steel Institute, today reported little change in business conditions, but it was noted that operations had at least stopped declining and that prices were holding.

"The whole trouble today is at Washington," said G. N. Verity, chairman of American Rolling Mill Co. "If we can get things settled there and then settle the reparations problems we will be in a position to accomplish something."

H. G. Dalton, chairman of Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., said the increase in oil prices should eventually help the steel pipe business. "Conditions are very quiet," he asserted, "and operations continue to run in an area of from 20 to 25 per cent of capacity."

Tom M. Girdler, president of Republic Steel, said there was little volume of business, but pointed out that automobile orders were a little larger.

Little Change in South.

L. E. Geohegan, vice president of Gulf States Steel, asserted that steel conditions in the South showed little change.

"We are satisfied," he added, "to be breaking even in a time like this. I believe we are getting nearer to improvement and hope the summer will not show the usual decline."

Inland Steel's operations are at about 25 per cent of capacity, L. E. Block, chairman, reported. Prices for steel products, in his opinion, appear to be "fairly well stabilized."

Charles M. Schwab, chairman of Bethlehem Steel Corporation, told his fellow manufacturers that balanced budgets, smaller costs of Government and credit expansion were necessary to business recovery.

Mr. Schwab spoke as president of the American Iron and Steel Institute. His remarks drew prompt indorsement from William A. Irvin, recently selected president of the U. S. Steel Corporation.

Irvin Clings to Hopes.

"I am in hearty accord with all Mr. Schwab has said," Mr. Irvin asserted when introduced to the meeting by the Bethlehem chairman. He also said that although at this time "no man can say when the tide will turn, we are filled with hope and have every confidence in the future."

Referring to public expenditures, which Schwab had declared "must be adjusted to the ability of the public to pay," Irvin said, "We must eventually pay for every dollar of expenditures authorized by our public officials."

Mr. Schwab's analysis of the steel situation pointed out that the five leading companies fell about $25,000,000 short of earning bond interest and other charges in the first quarter of 1932, but he pointed out that some companies have substantial business on their books which await only the necessary financing. This led to the hope that once the credit expansion program of the Reserve System takes effect, this basic industry may be one of the first to reflect a more normal functioning of credit machinery.

Leading steel manufacturers are said to be determined to proceed with their plan for stabilizing prices in spite of the handicap of small consumer buying. In line with this movemet, the steel trade hears that a leading independent in the Chicago district is considering an advance in the prices of steel bars, slabs and billets for the third quarter.

WHEAT PRICE HIGHER ON RED ARMY NEWS

Winter Crop Deterioration Also Is Market Aid; Oats Decline.

Chicago, May 19 (A.P.).—Disquiet over reports that Russia had called out 800,000 army reserves for unusual military maneuvers did much to make wheat prices average higher today.

Asserted enlargement of domestic winter wheat crop deterioration affecting Indiana, Illinois and Missouri counted also as an incentive to buyers and so too did further unfavorable crop advices from Kansas and Nebraska. In some quarters, it was intimated that recent estimates of a 70,000,000 bushel wheat harvest in Kansas this season were too optimistic.

Wheat closed irregular, ⅛ lower to ⅜ higher than yesterday's finish; corn, ⅛ off to ⅛ up; oats, ⅛ to ⅜ down, and provisions unchanged to 10 cents advance.

Bullish effects of reports about Russian army activity were heightened by word that only 35 per cent of Russia's spring wheat seeding had been completed and that there was a complete absence of wheat export this week from Russia. Another bullish factor was news of a decided falling off in wheat shipments from Argentina.

Highest prices of the day were reached in the wheat pit just before the close, and after reports indicating urgent need of heavy general rains followed by cool weather for the domestic winter wheat belt. Hessian fly damage advices from Nebraska tended also to stimulate speculative demand. On the extreme advance of prices, however, houses with connections Northwest sold large against purchases at Minneapolis, and a last-minute reaction ensued. There were reports also that the new wheat crop in France promised to exceed requirements.

Corn and oats imitated the action of wheat. Country offerings of corn to arrive were small, and the shipping demand from the East was also slack.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

PROF. CLARENCE DUMM, who is principal of the Kingston High School, Kingston, N. Y., is one of a family of educators. Prof. Dumm states that his father and mother were school teachers, and that he has one sister and two brothers—all teaching school.

Strange as it seems, several years ago Mr. Dumm resigned a school position only to be succeeded by a Prof. Dull.

The jarring note in his associations, Prof. Dumm admits, is that while he was in school his best chum was a Mr. Wise.

DISTRICT BOYS WIN THREE LOVING CUPS IN R. O. T. C. TESTS

COMPANY D CAPTURES INFANTRY DRILL PRIZE

Col. Campbell Hodges Acts as Judge in the Competitive Events.

District of Columbia cadets of Georgetown University won three of the four loving cups awarded to the honor men of the R. O. T. C. Infantry unit at its thirteenth annual field day exercises held yesterday afternoon on the Georgetown campus. A competitive drill between the four infantry companies was won by Company D, commanded by Capt. Robert B. Furman, of Maryland, in a spirited contest witnessed by Maj. Gen. Paul B. Malone, U. S. A., commanding the Third Corps Area, who congratulated the unit on its soldierly appearance at the annual review.

The four loving cups were offered by a group of twenty representative Washingtonians to the honor cadets of each class, who attained the highest mark in general military efficiency, counting attendance, deportment and scholarship.

The awards were made to Cadet William R. Collins, of Washington, a freshman, with a rating of 96.45 per cent; Cadet Robert W. Hall, of Washington, a sophomore, with 97.62 per cent; Cadet John W. Ahern, of Arkansas, a junior, with 96.25 per cent, and Cadet Capt. Ralph F. Koebel, of Washington, with a rating of 97.925 per cent.

Presentation of Prizes.

Gen. Henry J. Reilly and Col. Edward Goring Bliss, general manager of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co., made the presentations on behalf of the donors.

The program started with a battalion review, when the cadets, headed by their band and commanded by Cadet Lieut. Col. Gerard J. O'Brien, of New York, marched before the reviewing stand in which stood Gen. Malone, President W. Coleman Nevils, S. J., of Georgetown, and a group of visiting officers. Maj. William H. Hobson, U. S. A., commandant at the Hilltop, was in charge of the exercises.

Following the final review in honor of the senior cadets, President Nevils and Maj. Hobson entertained at a reception in honor of the reviewing guests, and the cadets themselves gave a tea dance in Copley Hall.

Col. Campbell B. Hodges, military aid to President Hoover, acted as senior judge of the various competitive events. He was assisted by Capt. L. L. Cobb, of Fort Meade, Md.; Lieut. Warren W. Christian, of Fort Washington, Md., and Lieut. Carlisle V. Allen, of the War Department.

New Color Company.

Aside from the four cup winners, Cadet Capt. William H. Soisson, jr., of Pennsylvania, received one of the highest individual awards. This was an officer's wrist watch presented to the cadet who has done most to promote the interest of the R. O. T. C. during his senior year. The award is made annually by a former commander of the Georgetown unit, Capt. J. A. McDonough, of the New York National Guard. Gen. Malone made the presentation to Soisson.

The rector's award in the company commander competition also was won by Capt. Soisson, who commanded C Company. It was presented by President Nevils, the award being a silver plaque.

In the platoon commander competition, the dean's prize, another plaque, was awarded to Cadet Lieut. Austin T. Casey, of New York, by the Rev. Vincent J. Hart, S. J., while the individual drill competition was won by Cadet Leon J. Roversi, of New York.

Gen. Malone also made the presentation of a regulation Army rifle to Capt. Robert B. Furman, of Maryland, as retiring captain of the rifle team.

Rifle Match Medals.

Third Corps intercollegiate rifle match medals were presented by Maj. Lombard, Assistant Military Attache of the French Embassy to Cadet Sergts. David M. Tarry, of New Jersey, and John A. Largay, of New York, who made, respectively, high and second high scores in the contests.

In addition to the foregoing awards others were made in connection with various activities of the R. O. T. C.

The Rev. T. J. Dineen, S. J., director of athletics, presented minor "G" certificates to Edward J. Fahy, of Illinois, drum major of the university band, and to band members for two years service.

Members of the varsity rifle team presented with minor "G" letters were Robert B. Furman, Robert F. Flood, David M. Tarry, John A. Largay, Allan C. Schieck, Charles Trundle, Joel H. Schilling, William H. Soisson, jr., Henry B. Herrick, jr., and Ralph F. Koebel.

Pistol qualification medals, Regular Army qualification course, were awarded as follows: Cadet Sergt. David M. Tarry, of New Jersey, expert's badge; Sergt. Arthur J. Hinchliffe, of New Jersey, and Sergt. John W. Ahearn, of Arkansas, sharpshooters' badges. Marksman badges were awarded to Henry E. Jerrick, jr., of Massachusetts; Color Sergt. Frank B. York, jr., of New York; Sergt. Richard E. Coyle, of Illinois; Sergt. John A. Largay, of New York; Sergt. Elmer P. Freischlag, of New York, and Sergt. Walter P. Hickey, of New York.

Indictments Are Given In Glassford's Raids

The series of gambling raids led by Maj. P. D. Glassford, chief of police, passed their second acid test yesterday when the District grand jury voted indictments for Jack Moore and Peter T. Pape, who were arrested in a raid at 305 Ninth street northwest, April 30.

The raid warrant was issued by the police chief on the authority of a little-used section of the District code. Not only that, but he personally led some raids earlier in the same week. Pape and Moore are charged with setting up a gaming table, with permitting gaming and accepting bets on the horse races.

CORONER ACTS ON 2 GAS DEATHS IN HOME

Father Is Suicide and Son Is Killed Accidentally; 2 Boys Still in Bad Shape.

Certificates of death by suicide and accident respectively were issued yesterday by Acting Coroner A. Magruder Macdonald in the deaths of David Cochrane, 52, and his 12-year-old son, David. The former died from inhaling illuminating gas early Wednesday, while the boy died yesterday at Providence Hospital as the result of burns suffered when he lit a match while seeking his father, the gas exploding.

The coroner learned that Mr. Cochrane had been worried over holding a new job he had obtained. The family live at 122 Tennessee avenue northeast.

Meanwhile Claude, 18, and John, 8, brothers of David, were still in a critical condition at Providence, suffering from burns and other injuries they sustained in the blast at their home. Others in the family are Mrs. Nellie Cochrane, mother of the boys, and their sister, Theresa, 16. The latter two were not harmed in the disaster.

A double funeral service will be held for the father and son tomorrow morning at 9 a. m. Interment will follow in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

Jury Trial Demanded In Bicycle Rum Case

The bicycle-rum peddler, alleged by police to have been dispensing beverages with more than the average "kick," yesterday demanded a jury trial when he was arraigned in Police Court. His identity, according to court records, is George R. Stewart, colored, 18 years old.

Fourth Precinct Policemen D. H. Mayo and H. D. Williams arrested Stewart as he was merrily pedaling his machine down Seventh street at G street southwest. Six jars, of the half gallon variety, were found to be part of the cargo that was causing the bicyclist to perspire so much, and he was charged with possession. He is at liberty on a $500 bond pending his trial.

Chamber's Stand On Taxis Upheld

Support of Meter Ruling Reiterated in Special Group's Report.

The original stand of the transportation committee of the Washington Chamber of Commerce recommending "the proper regulation of taxicabs in the District and the installation of meters" was upheld yesterday by a special subcommittee to whom the matter had been referred by the members of the chamber.

When the original recommendation was made to the chamber at its last meeting it was suggested that further study be given the taxicab situation, "because certain new information had developed since the original report was made." The subcommittee appointed for this purpose held its final meeting at the Raleigh Hotel yesterday and, with one dissenting vote, recommended that "the original position of the committee be reiterated."

The committee expressed itself as "vigorously opposed to an amendment tacked on the District appropriations bill by the House providing that no part of the appropriation be used in putting the Public Utilities Commission order into effect." The committee observed that "if, through congressional legislation, the commission is to be stripped of its authority, piece by piece, a dangerous precedent would be established."

Court Awards $14,000 In Loss of Boy's Foot

The loss of his left foot yesterday gained a $14,000 verdict in the District Supreme Court for Ralph I. Woodward, 15 years old, of 750 Newton place northwest. The Crew Levick Co., of the Southern Building, was the loser in a suit by the boy's father to recover damages.

The suit charged that a truck belonging to the Crew Levick Co. knocked Ralph from his bicycle May 21, 1929. As a result of injuries then sustained his left foot was amputated and a suit for $50,000 was instituted. Attorney Daniel W. O'Donoghue, jr., represented Woodward, while Edmund L. Jones represented the company. The case was tried before Justice Peyton Gordon.

Upper River Police Post Is Held Need

Establishment of a special police patrol post—to be manned by a detail from the harbor precinct—on the upper Potomac during the busy canoe and motorboat season on that stretch of the river in District territory is being considered by Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, chief of police.

The move is being considered by the police chief because of the number of canoe and other aquatic fatalities and near-tragedies that occur on the river each year. He has been informed that placing a speedboat and a telephone booth, also equipped with the police radio connection, near the Key Bridge, would often prevent drownings.

The harbor precinct is situated in the Washington channel, and even though speed boats are employed to get to the scene of the upsets, many valuable minutes are lost in going all the way around Hains Point and then back up the river. Often 2 or 3 miles separate the police from the point of accident.

With establishment of a police detail nearer the scene of most canoe and other light craft activities, it is believed that police assistance could be rendered much more expeditiously.

Contractor Cleared In Two Gas Deaths

Grand Jury Report Holds Casey Not to Blame for Faulty Flue.

After a somewhat lengthy investigation, the District Grand Jury yesterday returned a report exonerating Eugene Casey, plumbing contractor, from culpability in the death of Paul Gray and his wife, who were found dead in their home at 1208 Holbrook street northeast, April 23.

The couple's death, it was said, was caused by a lead pipe from the gas heater running into a dead end in the chimney, instead of directly opening into it. That permitted gas fumes and the deadly carbon monoxide exhaust fumes of the heater to seep into the room where the couple was sleeping.

They were found dead in bed and a subsequent investigation showed that the heater flue was not properly connected.

Four Men Indicted In Alleged Death Plot

The District grand jury yesterday indicted four men and exonerated a woman in connection with an alleged plot to murder Charles E. Haury, supervisor of the International Union of Operating Engineers. Those indicted were Walter Reed, George MacScullen, Burt W. Carpenter, and Ed Johnson. Mrs. Kay Reed, wife of Walter Reed, was exonerated.

The charge against the quartet is that they conspired to do away with Haury. They were trapped, it was said, by a dictaphone that had been placed in a house at 919 Grant place northwest, where the alleged conspirators met and discussed their plans. Fifteen alleged overt acts were listed in the indictment.

Judge Mattingly Again Is Renamed

Third Appointment Since 1919 Sent to Senate for Confirmation.

For the third time since 1919 Judge Robert Edgar Mattingly yesterday was reappointed to the bench of the Municipal Court of the District of Columbia. The appointment by President Hoover was sent to the Senate for confirmation.

He was appointed to his present position in 1919 following a long career in private law practice. Long active in political affairs, Judge Mattingly served on many Democratic convention committees and supervised the fourteenth census for the District in 1919-1920.

Judge Mattingly lives at 1224 Massachusetts avenue northwest. He is a member of the Elks, the Fraternal Order of Eagles, the District Bar Association, the American Bar Association, the Federal Bar Association, the National Press Club and the Mid-City Citizens Association.

BUSINESS MEN RAP FEDERAL PAY CUTS

Federation Also Opposes Furloughs; Seen as Trade Detriment.

Both the furlough system and salary reductions for Government workers were opposed in resolutions adopted last night by the Federation of Business Men's Associations, meeting at the Logan Hotel.

The furlough system, it was held, probably would prove detrimental both to the workers and the Government, while cutting salaries "would make conditions worse than they are." Copies of the resolutions will be sent to Congress.

Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, chief of police, described the new crime-prevention division. The public welfare committee of the association was instructed to study the new division and report its opinions.

The business men were addressed also by Inspector Ernest W. Brown, in charge of the Traffic Bureau, and Thomas Settle, secretary of the National Capital Park and Planning Commission.

The legislative committee was instructed to study a proposal to incorporate the association and to report its recommendations at the next meeting. J. Nelson Anderson was named chairman of the executive committee and Milton R. Vollmer, secretary. Arthur Clarendon Smith, president of the association, presided.

Crime Prevention Body Approved at Meeting

Indorsement of the crime prevention division of the Police Department was given by the Central Business Men's Association at a luncheon meeting at the Logan Hotel yesterday after Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, chief of police, had described the new bureau.

The association also heard talks from Inspector Ernest W. Brown, in charge of the Traffic Bureau, and from James A. Cahall, who is in charge of plans for the convention of the "Wildcat" Division of the American Legion, which is to be held here May 30 and 31 and June 1. The association agreed to sponsor the parade to be held in connection with the convention. Thomas P. Littlepage, vice president of the Washington Chamber of Commerce, was announced as a new member.

PENNSYLVANIA GETS LOAN OF $27,500,000 APPROVED BY I. C. C.

Funds to Aid Completion of Electrification Work to New York.

PRIVATE FINANCING WILL AUGMENT SUM

Project Will Speed Train Time Between Capital and North.

A Reconstruction Finance Corporation loan of $27,500,000 to the Pennsylvania Railroad was approved yesterday by the Interstate Commerce Commission to enable the carrier to make road improvements between Washington and New York.

Included in the improvements will be completion of the electrification project, which will make possible a schedule of 3½ hours between the Capital and New York City.

When the electrification of the road is completed it will have cost the railroad $200,000,000. The loan is to be available October 1. Until then the company will care for its needs, estimated in excess of $40,000,000. This money is to be raised by appropriations from its own treasury and private financing.

$68,000,000 to Be Spent.

In all, the company expects to spend $68,000,000 this year on improvements, including electrification work. Actual electrification this year will cost approximately $47,000,000. In addition to this, $2,000,000 will be expended to improve station facilities in Newark, N. J.; $9,822,000 in Philadelphia and $1,500,000 in Baltimore. Miscellaneous improvements will cost $7,854,000.

The electrification of the road virtually is completed on the New York Division, which extends from the vicinity of Wilmington, Del., to New York. With the exception of a stretch of road between Trenton and Manhattan Transfer, this work has been completed.

Most of the preliminary work between Wilmington, Baltimore and Washington is finished. Concrete bases have been laid along the steam rails. The improvements in Baltimore will include twin tunnels so that freight will not interfere with passenger transportation.

Asked $55,000,000 Originally.

When it originally applied for a loan, March 10, the railroad company asked for $55,000,000, but after negotiations the amount was cut in half.

Gen. W. W. Atterbury, when announcing the plans for the electrification scheme, said the train time between here and New York would be three and one-half hours, which is 45 minutes faster than the running time of the Congressional Limited, the fastest train on the Washington-New York run.

"Work on the electrification between New York and Washington and on the Newark and Philadelphia improvements," said the commission, "has progressed to such a point and expenditures and commitments have been such that the desirability from an economic standpoint of at least substantial completion of these projects as originally planned is readily apparent."

The Pere Marquette Railway Co. applied to the Interstate Commerce Commission for permission to borrow $3,000,000 from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for a period of three years. The money is to be used to pay $3,000,000 of 4½ per cent bonds due August 1. The security would be first mortgage 4½ per cent gold bonds.

Two Men Indicted On Murder Charge

Two colored men, James Hemphill and James H. Lowery, were indicted on charges of first degree murder by the District grand jury yesterday. The men were separately indicted.

Hemphill was accused of shooting his wife, Maggie, to death, on March 19, at 1306 First street southeast. Lowery, the jury charged, shot to death Anna Lee Nelson, colored, in Schott's alley, last month.

Boys Lose Their English In 3-Year Stay in Germany

Parents' Welcome Fails to Register, But All's Well in "Deutsch."

Two happy boys ran down the gangplank of an ocean liner in Baltimore yesterday and hurried across the pier to the waiting arms of their parents. A few feet away they stopped short—bewildered at the words of greeting that reached their ears.

Puzzled expressions played across the boys' faces, which a moment before were wreathed in smiles. They received their parents' tender welcome and, when it was all over, stood back in silence.

It was the parents' turn to be surprised. The boys had been away only three years. It was not possible they had forgotten their own mother and father. Again, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ahrens spoke to their children and again the boys looked at each other quizzically.

Suddenly it dawned on parents. The boys had forgotten the English language. They had been in Germany so long they had dropped their own language for that of their parents' native country.

Karl, 11, and Gerd, 9, who live with their mother and father at 223 H street northwest, left Washington three years ago to visit grandparents in Hamburg, Germany. Their long sojourn abroad and constant attendance in German schools had made them forget all knowledge of the English language.

Explanations were quickly made and last night the happy family returned to Washington. Mr. Ahrens said that the boys would soon enter classes in the Webster School to relearn the language of their adopted country. They attended that school before leaving for Germany and plan a joyful reunion with former classmates.

Death of Child, 6, Is Called Accident

Hearing of Driver in Injury of 8-Year-Old Boy Continued by Court.

A coroner's jury yesterday held accidental the fatal injury of 6-year-old Elaine Demos, of 914 Twenty-second street northwest, as the result of being struck by an automobile at Twenty-second and H streets northwest during the rush hour Wednesday.

Jay Guy Hunt, 52, an employe of the Veterans' Administration, who lives at Berwyn, Md., was driving the car that struck the girl.

Meanwhile 8-year-old Tommy Aycock, of 5110 Eighth street northwest, struck by an automobile near his home a short time after the Demos girl was hurt, was still in a serious condition at Garfield Hospital. Fear was still being held that it might be necessary to amputate one of the lad's legs.

George L. Russell, of 44 Aspen street, Takoma Park, D. C., driver of the car that hit the Aycock boy, was arraigned in Police Court yesterday morning on a charge of reckless driving. His case was continued until June 30.

12 GRADUATE SCHOOL FOR DRY LEADERSHIP

Prohibition Students Get Diplomas for Course Started in February.

Graduating exercises for the first class of the Washington Council of Allied Youth, a school of dry leadership, were held last night at the home of the organization's sponsor, Mrs. Rushmore Patterson, 2501 Massachusetts avenue.

Twelve students received diplomas for completion of the course which started in February. Ralph R. Gilby, of George Washington University, delivered the valedictory address, and Claude Council, of American University, was class historian.

Thirty students are enrolled in the classes. More than 2,000 members of Allied Youth have been enrolled in the District.

Gas Tank Problem Is One of Topics Discussed; Hubbard Attends.

With Henry V. Hubbard sitting in his first meeting as a member, the National Capital Park and Planning Commission opened a three-day conference yesterday.

He was elected despite his declination of the office. John Marshall Boteler, who presided, was reelected first vice president, and Miss Mary V. Merrick and Robert G. Merritt were elected second and third vice presidents, respectively.

Other officers elected were Miss Bessie B. Warren, recording secretary; Miss Emma M. Loker, corresponding secretary; Clement W. Sheriff, treasurer; Jo V. Morgan, historian; Mrs. Sam West Russell and Ernest Downin, trustees, for a three-year term. The society voted to participate in the Flag Day exercises and plans to have 23 automobiles, each representing a Maryland county, in the parade.

COMPROMISE BY GAS CORPORATION FACES REJECTION BY P.U.C.

Body Is Expected to Insist on Full Obedience to Recent Order.

NONRESIDENTS ON BOARD ARE BEING ELIMINATED

Marcy Sperry Is Considered as New President of Local Utility.

The Public Utilities Commission expects representatives of the Chase, Harris, Forbes Corporation to submit a plan under which it would technically conform with the LaFollette antimerger law in the next few days, it was revealed yesterday, but the commission indicated it would not be satisfied unless its recent order is obeyed both in letter and in spirit.

Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick, chairman, yesterday admitted that Arthur Dean, counsel for the controlling interests, had told him that he intended to submit such a plan. He also revealed that Marcy Sperry, a gas operating technician employed by Stone & Webster, large utility engineers and operators, is being considered as a successor to George A. G. Wood as president of the gas company.

To Eliminate Nonresidents.

As Mr. Sperry is a native of Washington, though he has not lived here for a number of years, the gas company owners believe that he will help offset the opposition to foreign ownership. Mr. Dean is also reported to have told Gen. Patrick that no nonresident will be left on the board of directors of the local company.

Should this be accomplished, Fred S. Burroughs, of New York, executive vice president of the Chase, Harris, Forbes Corporation, would resign as director of the gas company and probably be succeeded by Mr. Sperry as the charter requires that the president be a member of the board.

It was also reported yesterday that Frank A. Woodhead is to be reinstated as vice president of the gas company in charge of operation. He resigned several months ago at the request of Mr. Wood.

Proceeding With Care.

If the annual stockholders' meeting is postponed from time to time as it has been for the past five months, the Chase, Harris Forbes Corporation may hold off action by the commission indefinitely. Two directors' meetings have been held so far since the utilities body issued its order, and indications are that others will be held with impunity.

Having lost the one and only suit filed under the LaFollette law, the commission is not taking any chances on an adverse decision in the present case because of the admitted loopholes in the antimerger law.

With the election of Corcoran Thom, the largest minority stockholder, to membership on the board of directors, the gas company owners have forestalled what might have been the chief obstacle to such a policy of postponing a meeting of the stockholders.

Neither the commission nor the gas company appears eager to get in the District Supreme Court, and the negotiations now under way bear a marked resemblance to a poker game.
